OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

☞ This paper has a larger Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly circulation than any other in Minnesota, and therefore presents inducements to advertisers which they will not find elsewhere.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican electors of the several Wards and Townships of the County of Ramsey, and all others willing to unite with them in the support of the Government, and a vigorous prosecution of the war for the preservation of the Union, and opposed to those who gave aid directly to the traitors when they could, and now attempt to give aid indirectly by abuse of the Administration and its progressive measures, are requested to choose delegates to a County Convention to be held at the Court House on Monday the 28th inst., at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing eight delegates to represent said County in the District Convention to be held in St. Paul on the 30th inst., to place in nomination a suitable person to be supported by the electors of the Second Congressional District, for a Representative to Congress.

The several Wards and Townships will be entitled to the following representation, viz:

First Ward	2	delegates.
Second do	4	"
Third do	4	"
Fourth do	4	"
Fifth do	2	"

And the Townships to two delegates each.

The Committee would request that primary meetings for the election of said delegates be held on Saturday the 26th inst., at the usual places of holding elections—in the various townships at 2 o'clock, P. M.—and in the several Wards at 8 o'clock, P. M.

THE MINNESOTA THIRD.

We regret that we are still unable to give our readers any particulars of the fight and surrender of our Third Regiment. The enemy is reported to be marching on Nashville, 6,000 strong.

THE CONFISCATION BILL.

The President evidently encounters some features in the confiscation bill that are not in accordance with the constitution, according to his views. He is said to be writing an elaborate message suggesting such modifications as will obviate his objections. The adjournment of Congress which was to have taken place yesterday, was doubtless postponed a few days to give time to act on the President's late message, as well as what he may recommend in regard to the confiscation bill.

GEN. CURTIS' ARMY.

The army under Gen. Curtis, which entered Arkansas from Missouri, expecting to co-operate with the river fleet up the White river, but which could not be reached on account of the low stage of water, has succeeded in making its way to the Mississippi river at Helena, a point about half way between Memphis and the mouth of White river—or about 100 miles below Memphis. The heroes of Pea Ridge were not cut to pieces, as the rebels reported them, but on the contrary did cut to pieces the rebel forces that come in their way. They will probably go down and assist in the taking of Vicksburg.

A DAILY MAIL TO NORTHFIELD AND SOUTHERN MINNESOTA.

By the following letter we have the gratifying intelligence that the Post Office Department has ordered daily mail service from Saint Paul south to Northfield and central Minnesota. Representatives Aldrich and Windom are entitled to special thanks for their successful effort in this behalf:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, July 11, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

DEAR SIR: We have the pleasure to inform you that the Post Office Department has this day decided to grant mail service six-times-a-week, on the route from St. Paul to Northfield, connecting at the latter place with the daily mail on the route from Hastings to Faribault and Owatonna. At Owatonna connections will be made with the various routes running in a southerly direction, and with the daily line from Winona to Mankato, and intermediate points, thus giving very good mail facilities between St. Paul and a large part of Southern Minnesota.

The contract, from your city to Northfield, has been let to Messrs. Burbank & Co., which is a sufficient guaranty that the service will be satisfactorily performed.

Very truly yours, WM. WINDOM.
CYRUS ALDRICH

RAILROAD TO LAKE SUPERIOR.

On the 8th of July the Senate of the United States concurred with the House amendment of July 3, by which the branch line of the St. Paul and Pacific railroad, northwest of a point near Crow Wing, is authorized to be vacated, and the Land Grant therefor authorized to be applied to a new branch line from some point to be fixed by the Minnesota Legislature between St. Anthony and Crow Wing and extending to Lake Superior. The joint resolution will no doubt receive the President's signature and become a law.

We rejoice at the prospect which this change holds out for a railroad to Lake Superior. We think, however, it would have been more just to all localities as well as for the best interest of the road, to have left the capital free to fix the point of intersection with the Pacific road.

News of the Day.

Generals Fremont and Schenck have, in late reports to the War Department, made handsome mention of Captain Don Piatt, Assistant Adjutant General—calling attention to his long and faithful services, and urging his promotion for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battle of Cross Keys.

—The rebel General "Stonewall" Jackson is said to have received his sobriquet after the battle of Bull Run. During that affair General Lee asked him "if his brigade had not better retire under the heavy fire they were sustaining?" "No, sir," said Jackson, "I will stand here like a stone wall!"

—The New York Express has the authority of the Count de Paris and Duc de Chartres, for saying that their departure from the army of the Potomac has no political significance whatever; that they had intended to leave a week before the battles before Richmond commenced, in the China, but had postponed their departure in order to participate in the recent engagements.

—A chap in Virginia was taken prisoner by the rebels, who demanded that he should take an oath to support the Confederate goverement. The fellow said he had taken a great many big oaths in his day, but he could not even support his own family, and to swear to support the Confederate government was taller swearing than he dare do.

—There are are no more sick soldiers at present on the Tennessee river.

—The special order of July first, discharging the staff of Major General Fremont, is suspended until further orders.

—In one of the recent engagements before Richmond, Col. Pierce, of the 25th Massachusetts regiment, formerly Gen. Pierce, of Big Bethel fame, lost an arm.

—The Common Council of Buffalo has appropriated $80,000 to raise a regiment for the new force, giving seventy-five dollars bounty to each recruit.

—Clinton Walworth, an old resident and prominent lawyer of Milwaukee, died on Friday in consequence of taking an over-dose of laudanum. He was a nephew of ex-chancellor Walworth of New York.

—The tolls on the New York canals from the commencement of the season to July 1st, 1862, foot up $1,430,258. For the same time in 1861 they were $990,000.

The Public Sentiment of the Country on Using Negroes in the War.

The following letter of Thurlow Weed, of the Albany Evening Journal, who was noted for his strong tendency to compromise before the war, and for decided conservative tendencies since the war began, has more than common significance. There is, indeed, but one sentiment among loyal men upon the question of availing ourselves of the slaves of rebels in any way possible to crush the rebellion. Traitors and traitor sympathizers of course oppose such policy:

ON THE RIGHT ROAD AT LAST.

To the Editor of the Commercial Advertiser.

I want to "strike while the iron is hot," and, as your anvil is nearer than my own, will you allow me the use of it? The public mind is now taking the right direction with regard to "contrabands." our army needs the "aid and comfort" which can be obtained from "contrabands," and in accepting it we deprive the enemy of an element of strength.

I was with Gen. Butler at Annapolis when he inaugurated a policy in reference to escaped slaves. I felt then, as I do now, that he "hit the nail on the head." I went direct to Washington and urged the Government to instruct all the officers of the army to receive, and not repel fugitives, proclaiming simultaneously that the slaves of loyal owners would be paid for, and those of traitors confiscated; and that all should be employed as unarmed auxiliaries to the army. At least two-thirds of the officers of the army, from education and habit, left to themselves, turned the fugitives back, thus making their condition worse than it was, and disheartening others who were eager to escape. Had Gen. Butler's policy been adopted a year ago, at least half a million of slaves who have been at work in the Rebel armies, would have been relieving our own worn out troops from exhausting drudgery—thus weakening the enemy and strengthening ourselves in a corresponding degree.

And this line of policy would have raised no embarrassing issues. It was simple, and so just both to loyal men and traitors, that all would have acquiesced. While it protected loyal citizens, it gave us the advantage we are entitled to, in war, over our enemy.

But for reasons which were deemed sufficient, the question of "contrabands" has been left to drift along until public sentiment demands a policy. In that demand I perceive the dawning of a brighter day. Proclaim, at once, compensation to loyal men, in the order which directs commanding officers to receive and employ "contrabands," and the war will assume new and more encouraging aspects. Without the services of slaves, in relieving their troops from manual labor, the Rebellion would collapse in a month.

Respectfully yours, T. W.

The Tribune, commenting on Weed's letter, says truly:

Had the Government declared, at the outset of the rebellion, its purpose to regard no loyal person as rightfully enslaved by a traitor, no one who pretended to be loyal would have thought of questioning the legality or the policy of that position. Had it sustained General Fremont's proclamation to that effect, no hearty Unionist would have intimated serious dissent. And, now that it is manifest that the use of the slaves of rebels to put down the rebellion must and and will be thoroughly avowed and prosecuted, all loyal opposition is being suddenly hushed.

—Well informed parties in Washington say that Louis Napoleon will look upon the ratification of the Corwin treaty, now before the Senate, as a subsidy to Mexico to enable her to carry on the war against him, and he would treat the lender accordingly. From the news brought by the Scotia, it would now seem that reinforcements are about to be sent to the French army in Mexico immediately.

—The New York Independent reasons that it is the right as well as the duty of the people to criticise military affairs—that they are just as capable of discussing the conduct of a war as they are of discussing political or other subjects.

Supreme Court---Syllabus of Decisions

Robert Whitcacre, respondent, vs. George Culver, appellant.

C gave his promissory note to F. F, after the note matured, and after it had been paid in full, transferred it with other notes, to W. as collateral security, for money loaned, and then informed C of what he had done, but desired him not to let W know that the note had been paid, and he would take it up in a short time. W afterwards notified C that the note was in his possession, and that payment must be made to him alone. C then stated to W that a particular sum, or thereabouts, had been paid on the note, but did not inform him that it had been paid in full.

W kept the note in his possession for some two years or more. He then settled with F for the loan, taking a new note for the balance still due, and retaining the same collaterals. He subsequently informed C that he still had his note—held, that, in an action by W to recover on the note given by C, C was not stopped from proving that it had been paid in full at the time it was transferred to the plaintiff.

R. H. Bingham, appellant, vs. Board of Supervisors of Winona county, respondent.

An order setting aside a stipulation settling the issues to be tried, and allowing an amendment to an answer is appealable.

Such a stipulation has by virtue of the statute the force of a contract, and cannot be disturbed except upon such grounds as would be sufficient to set aside any other contract between the parties. Such settlement of the issues by stipulation should have as much effect as their determination by the verdict of a jury, and the same, or as strong reasons, are required to set aside such stipulation as would be required to set aside a verdict.

The mere fact that a party by such stipulation has waived defenses, which he might otherwise urge, is not sufficient ground for setting aside such stipulation. It must appear that the stipulation was obtained by fraud or collusion, accident or surprise, or some ground of this nature, to justify the setting aside of the same.

The District Court has jurisdiction to try all actions against a county.

James Scott, respondent, vs. Lynch R. King, appellant.

Upon the trial of an issue of fraud in the making of a voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors, it is error to admit evidence of the mere declarations or admission of an agent of the assignor, made prior to the assignment, and not within the scope of his agency, to prove the intent with which his principal subsequently made an assignment. Nor are such declarations or admissions, evidence of the intent, though made after the assignment and while holding possession of the property assigned as the agent of the assignee.

Evidence of the acts, declarations or admissions of a witness, inconsistent with his statements on the stand, cannot be received to discredit his testimony without his attention has first been called to the particular act, declaration or admission which it is intended to prove.

John A. Lockwood, respondent, vs. Simeon P. Folson, et. al., appellant.

The lien of a mortgage lasts as long as the debt which it is given to secure, and nothing but an actual payment of such debt, or an express release, will operate as a discharge of the mortgage.

If the mortgage contain a power of sale, and the mortgagee sell the land in pursuance of the power, and the sale is afterwards set aside, at the instance of the mortgagor, by a court of competent jurisdiction, the lien of the mortgage is not thereby discharged.

A. MCELRATH, Dep'y Clerk.

What this Congress has Done.

"Sir," said Mr. Sumner, in closing his recent eloquent plea for confiscation in the Senate, "the present Congress has already done much beyond any other Congress in our history, to entitle it to the gratitude of the nation. Measures which for long years seemed attainable only to the most sanguine hopes, have triumphed. Emancipation in the national capital; freedom in all the national Territories; the offer of ransom to help emancipation in the States; the recognition of Hayti and Liberia; the treaty with Great Britain for the suppression of the slave trade; the prohibition of the return of fugitive slaves by military officers; homesteads for actual settlers on the public lands; the Pacific railroad; endowments of agricultural colleges out of public lands; and last and best of all—the crowning measure of the session—the bill for the suppression of the rebellion, by punishing treason, freeing the slaves and confiscating the property of rebels. Such are some of the achievements for which the present Congress will be historic. Besides, we have raised an army, and made important additions to our navy, and have provided means for all our gigantic expenditures by a tax, which is in itself an epoch."

DIED.

Near Lakeville, Dakota county, July 8th, 1862, EUGENE, infant son of WILLIAM and SARAH E. COBURN, aged 11 months and 10 days.

We miss him, though his days below
Were less than one short year—
We mourn that our loved babe should go
To the grave so dark and drear.

The look which he was wont to wear,
Stern death could not efface,
Though suffering deep was pictured there.
A smile we still could trace.

His flesh must slumber in the ground,
And crumble back to clay,
Till the last trumpet's joyful sound,
Announce the Judgment day.

But his pure spirit dwells above,
Far from this world of care,
Where all enjoy the Saviour's love,
And death can't enter there!

Our tender lamb was borne away
By the good Shepherd's will;
So our fond hearts should ever say,
'Tis Jesus—Peace, be still. E. G. C.

FOOD FOR DESTITUTE REBELS.—Surgeon Baker, of Gen. Halleck's staff, who recently arrived in St. Louis, describes the manner in which the provisions contributed in St. Louis for the rebel families left destitute in Mississippi were received:

"The effect of the munificent charity of our people, Dr. Baker represents as most salutary upon the people there. They had been told that the northern soldiers would come to plunder and ravage: they suffered the savage and merciless plundering of rebel troops for months without redress, were peeled, insulted and subjected to outrage, and now they find the hated northern, people their benefactors, bringing prompt relief. The change of sentiment is striking. They are most grateful for the benevolence shown towards them, and disgusted with the deceptions practiced on them."

THE DEPARTURE OF THE FRENCH PRINCES AND ENGLISH OFFICERS.—It is perfectly understood that the reasons for the departure of the French Princes and English officers are entirely personal, and do not relate to the military situation of our army. The representatives of French royalty have been summoned to attend a meeting of their family, to be held in London about the middle of the present month, on business of vital importance to themselves as claimants to the French throne. They had announced their intentions, some weeks ago, to leave at this time, and have made their arrangements accordingly. The furloughs, or leave of absence of the English officers, have expired, and consequently their return.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

GENERAL ORDERS—NO. 26.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE OHIO,
IN CAMP, NEAR FLORENCE, ALA.,
June 24, 1862.

There are 14,000 officers and soldiers absent from their duty with the various Divisions of this army. Some of them have gone off without any authority; others with the permission of officers not authorized to grant it. In general, sickness is given as the cause of absence, but in very many cases the cause has notoriously ceased to exist, and men remain away, drawing the same pay as their comrades who are faithfully performing their duty. To correct this abuse it is ordered—

1. All officers and soldiers who are absent without direct authority from these Headquarters, for the period for which has not transpired, will, on or before the 10th of July, proximo, join their companies or regiments wherever they may be. If ignorant of their locality, they will report to the commanding officer at Louisville or Nashville, by whom they will be directed to their regiments, or put on such light duty as they may be able to perform, if they are not entirely fit for active service; and those will be promptly reported to their regimental commanders by the officer so assigning them.

The cases of those who fail to join as above required, will be disposed of as follows:

2. If any absent officer or soldier, in consequence of sickness or wounds, is absolutely unable to report for duty as above required, he will forward by mail to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville, Tennessee" a Certificate of Inability, according to the following form:

CERTIFICATE OF DISABILITY.

I declare on oath that I have carefully examined.....of Captain.....
Company, Colonel.....Regiment of .....Volunteers, now
at this place and under treatment by me, and find him incapable of performing the duties of a soldier for the following reasons: [Here state all the facts known concerning the disease or wound, or cause of disability; the time, place, manner, and all the circumstances under which the the injury occurred or disease originated; the duty or situation of the officer or soldier at the time the injury was received or disease contracted; and whatever facts may aid a judgment as to the cause, immediate or remote, of the disability, and the circumstances attending it.)

Place: (Signed).
Date: Surgeon [or Physician.]

Sworn and subscribed to before.....

This certificate must be subscribed and sworn to by a Surgeon or private Physician in good standing, and known as such by the magistrate or other officer by whom the oath is administered; and on it a discharge will be ordered from these Headquarters, or the case otherwise disposed of according to the circumstances.

3. The death of any officer or soldier which has occurred since the 1st of January last, while he was absent from his regiment or company, and which has been reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital in which the death occurred, or by the friends of the deceased if not in Hospital, will be immediately reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital, or by the will-dash of friends, to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville," setting forth the date of decease and other material circumstances.

4. All absent officers and soldiers who do not join their companies and regiments, or are not satisfactorily accounted for as above by the 10th of July next, will be reported on their muster-roll as deserters, dating from the time they may have been absent without authority.

By Act of Congress every deserter forfeits all claim on the Government for pay and allowances, is liable being liable to arrest and trial by Court Martial. Any person who apprehends and returns a deserter to the commanding officer of a military post is entitled to five dollars.

General Duffield Mortally Wounded.

General Crittenden a Prisoner.

The Enemy 6,000 Strong Marching on Nashville.

NASHVILLE, July 15.

Three members of Hewitt's Kentucky battery, who escaped from Murfreesboro, report the battery and the 3d Minnesota surrendered. Gen. Duffield was mortally wounded, and Gen. Crittenden of Indiana a prisoner. An escaped prisonet asserts that the 1st, 2d, and 5th Georgia, and 1st Kentucky regiments, Texan Rangers and 1,700 mounted infantry under command of Forest and Warner, 6,000 in all, are advancing on Nashville.

The 4th Pennsylvania cavalry and 74th Ohio have arrived from Lebanon. Four regiments are coming from Huntsville.

A convalescent camp of 150 of the 11th Michigan are still in this city with their camp equipage.

NASHVILLE, July 15.

It was the 9th instead of 11th Michigan which surrendered at Murfreesboro. The 11th Michigan arrived at camp near the Louisville fair grounds last evening, after an unsuccessful three days' chase of Morgan.

From Gen. Curtis' Army.

It Arrives Safely at Helena.

Having Encountered and Beaten the Enemy.

The Army in Good Spirits.

CORINTH, July 15.

Headquarters are officially informed of the arrival of G n. Curtis' army at Charleston, on the 10th, after a brisk skirmish, wherein the rebels were worsted. Six thousand made a stand on the 7th, on Crokie River, near Round Hill. Col. Harvey, of the 33d Illinois, commanding advance of Steele's division, who was afterwards reinforced by two companies, attacked and completely routed the rebels, scattering them in all directions, nearly all going towards Little Rock. They also evacuated Denval's Bluff.

Later.—Gen. Curtis' advance has reached Helena. The army is in good condition and spirits. Provisions were scarce, but supplies are coming from Memphis.

Great Union Meeting in New York.

NEW YORK, July 15.

Notwithstanding the weather there was an immense gathering of loyal citizens this afternoon at Union Square and equal to that held in April last just after the fall of Sumter. Five stands for speakers were provided, and the several presiding officers were Mayor Opdyke, Morrell, president of the chamber of commerce, Hon. Hamilton Fish, Prof. Francis Sedar and Gen. Fremont. Among many speakers were Rev. Dr. Rufus W. Clark, Samuel Osgood, Richard Stark, Francis Vinton and the presidents of the several meetings. All the speakers were vehemently in favor of upholding the Government in all its war measures until the last armed rebel had surrendered. The enthusiasm among the mass was very strong and every allusion to the President or any of the Generals in the field was vehemently cheered, as also were all depreciatory allusions to foreign interference in our affairs.

The Particulars of General Curtis' March

MEMPHIS, July 14.

Gen. Curtis' entire command arrived at Helena on the 11th. His army left Batesville June 24th, and reached Jacksonsport on the 26th. On the 2d of July they started across the country. On the 4th, when the 13th Illinois were coming down White river, they were fired on by guerrillas, seven miles below Grand Glasse; the fire was returned and the rebels fled. A contraband taken on board the next day, says he saw nineteen dead rebels near the scene of action.

On the 7th Gen. Curtis' advance, consisting of the 7th batallion of the 1st Indiana cavalry, the 11th Wisconsin, and 33d Illinois, were attacked by two regiments of Texan cavalry and a large force of infantry.

The Federals had four mounted howitzers which they brought to bear on the rebels with terrific effect, causing their cavalry to break in disorder—riding over the infantry and throwing them into confusion, and terminating in an utter rout. The rebels were pursued by our forces, who captured a large number of prisoners, who were afterwards paroled.

After the battle our troops buried 110 rebels in the field.

Our loss was 8 killed, among them Captain Sloane of the 11th Wisconsin, and 32 wounded. Major Glenden of the 1st Indiana cavalry was seriously injured. The rebels had no artillery, which accounts for their heavy loss as compared with ours.

Notwithstanding the long forced marches, short rations, &c., Gen. Curtis' army is in good condition. When it arrived at Helena it had but three days' supplies.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Confiscation bill not yet signed

It is thought the President will Suggest Modifications.

The Bill sure to Become a Law.

Reply of the Border State Representatives.

WASHINGTON, July 15.

The confiscation bill has not yet been returned to Congress with the President's approval. It is generally thought his request for a prolongation of the Senate has reference to that measure. There is some hesitancy in signing the act. A report has been circulated to-day that the President is preparing a veto message, while another rumor among politicians is that he will suggest modifications of the bill. In either event there is no doubt, judging from the majority by which it was passed, namely, of two-thirds in the Senate, and nearly so in the House, that Congress will not adjourn without securing a measure of that character.

The border State Representatives today finally agreed upon their reply to the President's emancipation proclamation. It is represented as temperate and respectful. They cannot, for reasons stated, endorse his policy, and differ from his belief that the declination of those States to act upon and adopt it may or will prolong the war.

They join in the recommendation that those States give it a respectful consideration, but in no way commit themselves to its support. Probably twenty members of Congress have been in consultation on the subject: some of those from the border States were not present at the meetings, while others have left the city; several will prepare a reply of their own.

Further in Regard to the Confiscation Bill.

The President is Writing a Long Message.

The Border State Representatives Divided in Council.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

The Times' dispatch states that the real reason for the request of the President to postpone adjournment of Congress one day is the President is troubled about the confiscation bill. He says he did not receive the bill till late and did not have time to give it that careful examination he desired. He has been engaged all day in writing a message on the subject. Of course it will be looked for with great interest.

It is rumored that he will veto the bill. Of course he would not write so elaborately to give it his approval. He will probably return the bill without his signature, and point out the changes he thinks essential to make the act politic and bring it within the pale of the constitution.

The reply of the border States' Representatives to the President is withheld, waiting his action on the confiscation bill.

In a certain contingency the correspondence may not be published at all. There is a division of sentiment of the border States on the main subject. Fisher, of Delaware; Blair, of Virginia; Carry, of Kentucky, and Maynard, of Tennessee, will advocate immediate action by their States. All the other representatives decline to commit themselves unless the Government shall first make the appropriation necessary to consummate the scheme.

Way, of Maryland, refuses to recognize the subject at all.

Rumors are current and credited tonight that important changes in high quarters are to be made.

No action will be made on the Niagara ship canal project—the papers having been referred to a select committee consisting of Messrs. Van Horn, Blake, Menzies, Trowbridge, Rice, Davis, and Cravens, which will not report till after the recess.

Morgan's Guerrilla Raid in Kentucky.

He Destroys Railroads and Bridges

The Louisville Bulletin says that Morgan's band, last night, destroyed Long Bridge on the Kentucky Central Railroad between Cynthiana and Paris.

A gentleman residing near Cynthiana says that Morgan's movements on Frankfort and Lexington were feints, the real object being to strike the railroad at Paris and destroy Townsend's Viaduct which it would take six weeks to reconstruct, and then destroy property in Bourbon county and retire to Harrodsburgh or Mount Sterling.

Advices from Lexington, last night, to Mayor Hatch renders part of the above improbable. Reports this evening say that the railroad track between Lexington and Frankfort has been torn up by guerrillas.

BRITISH PRIZE STEAMER.

Captured in Mobile Bay.

NEW YORK, July 16.

The British steamer Ann arrived at noon to-day in charge of acting master Partridge. The Ann was discovered under the guns of Fort Morgan, Mobile Bay, unloading arms, gunpowder, &c., when the frigate Susquehannah and gunboat Kanawa sailed into the Bay, the former engaging the Fort, and the latter succeeded in cutting the British neutral vessel out. The crew of the Ann deserted and escaped, after attempting to sink her.

FOREIGN NEWS.

American Affairs in England.

NEW YORK, July 16,

The Persia from Liverpool via Queenstown 6th, arrived at her dock at noon to-day.

The New York correspondent of the London Times, after pointing out the difficulties of the present position of the Union forces, contends that the capture of Richmond will make no difference, merely to transfer war further south. The truth is, an armistice, and then a settlement of this deadly quarrel by peaceful separation, is the only solution of the difficulty.

The Army and Navy Gazette says although it has always maintained the power of the North to take the principal military points in the South, there has been no time since Bull Run when their position and ability to do so looked more precarious. It thinks the battle of Richmond will determine the fate of the campaign in Virginia, but will not stop the war. In the meantime there is no chance for the smallest intervention or officious good offices.

The Times had given place to a letter to a Mr. Potter, President of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, in which the writer urges the government to grapple with the cotton question in India, and on the following day another correspondent contended that government interference would be prejudicial.

It is stated that the military staff in Canada would soon be what it was before the Trent affair.

The propriety of opening communication to Grenada and British Columbia was debated: the government admitted that such a communication was very desirable.

Mr. Layard said negotiations were progressing with Paraguay, and hoped friendly relations would soon be established.

The government intended to ascertain the cotton growing capabilities of the Rio de la Plata.

Layard also stated that the French blockade of Mexico would not interfere with legitimate commerce, and would not be rigidly enforced against neutrals.

There were contradictory statements as to the French policy in Mexico and vague rumors of a possible diplomatic arrangement.

Admiral Graviere embarked on the 3d of May in the iron-plated frigate Normandy. Gen. Forney will not go till September.

LONDON, July 6.—The Daily News says the Americans in London met on the 4th of July to celebrate the day, but no account of the proceedings is given. The same journal editorially denounces in sarcastic terms the mischievous malignity of the Times for its pharisaical and ill feeling to America in her hour of trouble The Morning Star has also a denunciation of the Times for its outrages on America's sensibilities, on the most sacred of days to the American people. It hopes that Americans will receive the insolence of the un-English writers with disdain, and says the writer is not more the enemy of their country than the disgrace of his own.

The Morning Herald urges that the prosecution of the war and the celebration of the 4th of July constitute as glaring a case as was ever alleged against a civilized nation, and that if professions meant anything in America, the mere reading of the Declaration of Independence should suffice to condemn the invasion of the Confederate States as utterly inexcusable in principle, and erroneous in policy.

The Epoch, of Madrid, says the Spanish Government has received most satisfactory communications from its representatives at Washington as to the favorable effect produced upon the United States by the disinterested policy which Spain has adopted with regard to Mexico. The present relations between the Cabinets of Madrid and Washington are most cordial.

Boldness of Guerillas near Memphis.

MEMPHIS, July 14.

Guerillas near Memphis are becoming very bold—burning cotton almost within sight of the city. Disguising themselves as cotton buyers, to find where it is secreted, and then come in force and burn it.

Seven scouts of the 11th Illinois cavalry, near Hernando, on Friday, were attacked and two of them wounded and captured; the balance escaped.

California Steamer Arrived with Treasure.

Mexican Capital Removed.

NEW YORK, July 15.

The steamer Ariel has arrived from Aspinwall with $141,000 in treasure.

The capital of Mexico is temporarily removed to Santago de Veraguas. Families are flying from the city to avoid anticipated danger.

News and Miscellany.

—Letters have been published, written by George W. Jones, whilom United States Senator from Iowa, and subsequently United States Minister to Bogota, addressed to Jeff. Davis, already at the time President of the rebel Confederacy, and to J. E. Morse, of Louisiana, applauding the secession of the South, expressing the hope that the rebellion would succeed, and containing a good deal more of the same sort. The letters were written while he was Minister to Bogota, and are dated respectively May 17th, and August 1st, 1861. They are as loose in style as they are atrocious in sentiment, and certainly mark Mr. Jones as worse than a Southern rebel.

—Probably many, inside as well as outside of the army, will be not a little astonished to learn that General McClellan has sent all the way to Burnside for 500 negro laborers, and that a vessel despatched for them some days since is now absent. The advantage which the rebels have all the while had over us, and never before so much as in these hot days, in having negroes to labor while their soldiers were preserved and drilled, cannot longer be resisted. Why a vessel should be despatched to North Carolina for negroes when thousands could be had for the asking right at home, we cannot say. Some may add the suggestion, if the negro is useful with the spade, now that you have broken down the barriers that kept him from being serviceable to the Union cause, why not try him with a musket?

—An article in the New York World seems to take the ground that the President cannot have the three hundred thousand men he calls for unless he removes Secretary Stanton from office. In other words the World sets conditions to the loyalty of the people. The World, judging from the concentrated bitterness and vindictiveness of its editorials in reference to Stanton, has a big personal grievance, which it takes the present ill-timed occasion to feed fat.

—There is no doubt that Congress before the close of the session will provide for the scarcity of specie by authorizing the issue of two and a half dollar notes, and otherwise meeting the necessity of the times, which legislation may delay the adjournment beyond Wednesday.

—Brig. Gen. Van Vliet, quarmaster of the army of the Potomac, has been relieved at his own request, on account of ill health, and on leaving was highly complimented by General McClellan. It is understood that an order is about being issued reducing the term of enlistment of the 500,000 volunteers from three to one year. The calculation is that the rebellion will be crushed in less than one year. The tariff bill will be signed to-morrow.

—E. S. Stevens, the owner of the famous Stevens battery, proposes that the government pay him the amount advanced by himself and his brother, and finish the vessel on such plan as it shall think best, or that the government release to Mr. Stevens all claims upon the vessel, and he will, under a penalty of $100,000, finish the battery ready for use in eight months, at his own expense. If it prove a success, the government have the privilege of taking it at the amount estimated for its completion—$783,294.

—An East Tennesseean, writing to the Nashville Union of the attempt to "conciliate" secessionists, says: "We might as well attempt to pet snakes or hyenas. They do not intend to be conciliated. Nothing but appeals to their fear will tame them."

—The following new steam men-of-war have been completed within the last two months, and are reported ready for sea:

The side-wheel steamer Mahratta, at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, ordered to James river; gunboat Tioga, now on her trial trip from Boston; gunboat Adirondack, ready for sea at Brooklyn, New York; gunboat Cincinnati, finished at Bordentown, New Jersey, and now being armed at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; side-wheel steamer Genesee; steamer Sonora, at Portsmouth, New Hampshire; gunboat Juniata, ready for sea at Philadelphia; gunboat Paul Jones, sailed with sealed orders from Washington Navy Yard. One of these vessels is undergoing trifling repairs. The keel of another new gunboat, the Shenandoah, was laid at Philadelphia a few days since.

Our Army.

In addition to the five hundred thousand troops now in the field, an additional call of three hundred thousand more has been made, making eight hundred thousand. To oppose this army, the rebel States had 770,000 voters in 1860, at the Presidential election, which is 30,000 voters all told less than the number of the Union army.

In invading a country, the invaders require more men than the invaded, as their army is weakened by garrisons left to guard strong points, and to protect stores as the advance progresses from the base of operations.

Assuming that there are three millions of slaves in these States, that one in seven is capable of bearing arms, and that it will become necessary for the Government to employ these slaves in the army, this would give an auxiliary four hundred thousand men to the Union army; making twelve hundred thousand men. If these four hundred thousand blacks are called into the field, though they may not be good soldiers at first, yet inured to the climate, and knowing every pass, swamp and fastness in the country, their services would be invaluable.

Open Confession.

Ex-Governor Medary, of Ohio, made a speech in defense of Buchanan and Floyd Democrats the other day at Columbus, in which he endeavored to defend this party from the charge of treason, and was telling of some things they did not do. Lifting his voice to a hoarse howl, he said: "They don't steal." After this declaration he paused and shook himself like an old bear, and the thought seemed to be struggling in him with terrible power, and that perhaps a few instances could be named in which Democrats had stolen. Presently the tension of his muscles relaxed, his head dropped, and in a sad low voice he added, dropping suddenly the partisan in the philosopher, "Any more than as incident to imperfect human nature." Having thus relieved himself, he plunged his grizzly muzzle into a pitcher and drank like a horse. Now we never thought before that moment that Medary was as honest as he ought to be. But there must be a thick stratum of honesty in a man, who, by mere force of conscience, on the spur of the moment, puts such a philosophical amendment to a partisan amendment.

We can only say that the "imperfect human nature" of the great Democratic leaders, Buchanan, Floyd, Matteson, Fernando Wood and others, seems to have a good deal of that kind of "incident."

The Confiscation Bill as Passed.

THE BORDER STATE MEN AND THE PRESIDENT.

BRUTAL BLACKGUARDISM OF RICHARDSON.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 13, 1862.—Mr. Howard made an effort in the Senate yesterday to have the bill changing the judicial districts as recently separated, modified so as to keep Michigan in the same district with Ohio. The secret of the effort was a fear that Mr. Browning would be made judge in the new Illinois district. It is understood that he is an ardent aspirant for such a position. The bill passed, however, without change.

Confiscation is at last through both houses in a tolerably stringent shape, with the section inserted amounting to a provision that the President selecting and arming negroes may preclude the necessity for passing a new bill. There is no bill in the Senate for this purpose. The confiscation bill allows proceedings especially called ad. rem., that is, it allows the seizure of property, whether the owner can be found and tried or not.

Messrs. Fessenden and Clarke had professed constitutional scruples on this point, but they yielded.

The border State members had an interview with the President on Saturday. The President entreated them on going home to prepare for emancipation, as circumstances might soon arrive that would make it necessary. The members objected to this, but otherwise professed to have a very pleasant interview.

It is understood that the tax collectors will mostly be appointed this week. The President appoints, but the recommendations pass through the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury.

J. F. Medine of Cincinnati and Major Speed Butler, son of State Treasurer Butler of Illinois, have appointments on Gen. Pope's staff.

Gen. Lee has sent a flag of truce to Gen. McClellan proposing an exchange of prisoners.

The House in Committee of the Whole was indulging in set speeches on Saturday evening, and Richardson tried to revive the bullying style of debate, which it was hoped had gone out with his friends of the Southern Confederacy. Mr. Allen referred to some statements Richardson had made about the support of contrabands by the Government. Mr. Blake, of Ohio, explained that the statement was incorrect, and said, "I do not mean that the gentleman from Illinois misrepresent, but there are no facts to sustain his statement."

Mr. Richardson—(meaningly pulling up his coat sleeves)—"Do I understand the gentleman to deny that the Government is paying $200,000 a day for the employment and support of negroes?"

Mr. Blake—"I deny that the statement in your speech is true, to the effect that two thousand rations a day are issued to contrabands in this district alone, in violation of laws."

Mr. RICHARDSON—That speech was made on the 19th of May and no member has dared to rise in his place and deny a single statement until now.

Mr. Blake—Because no man could get the floor for that purpose.

Mr. Richardson—The gentleman states a falsehood when he states that no gentleman could get the floor; no gentleman has risen in his place and denied the statement when there was time to raise investigating committees to examine into it, and I charge the gentleman from Ohio, and every other gentleman who denies it, with stating a falsehood.

Mr. Blake—I charge the gentleman from Illinois with uttering what is utterly untrue and unfounded. I am ready to back it up.

Mr. Richardson—(Advancing menacingly.) Are you? We'll see.

Mr. Blake—I'm not to be intimidated by any of your threats, sir.

Mr. Richardson, pulling up his coat sleeves, made another start towards Blake when the Sergeant at Arms interposed. While Blake cried, "Let him come on, let him come."

Mr. Richardson, at the top of his voice, "The gentleman is a God d—d liar."

He then turned to his seat. In a few minutes Blake walked over to speak to Richardson apparently with a view of having a mutual explanation, when Richardson instantly cried out, "God d—n you, get out of this, clear out."

Mr. Blake returned to his seat, and so the affair ended.

Mr. Richardson's friends are very much mortified over his brutal blackguardism.

It is intimated on the authority of distinguished Senators, that the President will speedily issue a proclamation offering amnesty to rebels in arms in the Border States, and announcing that the offer will be extended from time to time to rebels in other States, as progress in subduing the rebellion may warrant.

As to the adoption of a policy of employing negroes in any military service in which they may be successfully used, and giving them their freedom therefor, I can say nothing about its reliability, except that prominent men who ought to know believe it.

The Senate yesterday repealed the bill for the military railroads through Kentucky into East Tennessee, connecting with Cincinnati. It was repealed in the House some time ago.

The State of Illinois was recently given another Representative. Both Houses passed a bill authorizing the election of this representative on the general State ticket.

It is supposed Congress will certainly adjourn on Wednesday.

The Republican Caucus at Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The adjourned meeting of the Republican caucus was held at the Capitol to-night. A brief discussion ensued on the motion to exclude spectators.

Mr. Colfax submitted a resolution inviting all loyal men in this hour of our country's peril to put down those in arms against the Government and punish treason severely. This resolution was received with applause, but was afterwards withdrawn. A resolution was carried respectfully requesting the spectators to retire, which they did.

Mr. Colfax offered the following resolution as a substitute for the address prepared by Mr. Bingham:

Resolved, That we hold it a duty that all loyal men should stand by the Union in this hour of trial and unite hearts and hands in earnest for its maintenance against those armed against it; to sustain with determined resolution our patriotic President and his administration in their energetic efforts for the prosecution of the war, and the preservation of the Union against enemies at home and abroad; to punish traitors and treason with fitting severity, and crush the present causeless rebellion, so that no flag of disunion shall ever again be raised over any portion of the republic. To this end we invite the co-operation of all men who love their country in their endeavor to rekindle throughout all the States such a patriotic fire as shall utterly consume all who strike at the Union, and who sympathize with their treason and palliate their guilt.

The resolution was adopted as a substitute for an address. The caucus adjourned sine die.

THE STANTON-M'CLELLAN IMBROGLIO.

MR. STANTON NOT THE RESPONSIBLE PARTY.

THE PRESIDENT THE SOURCE OF THE ORDERS TO M'DOWELL.

From the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 11, 1862.

It may be regarded as settled that McClellan will remain in command of the army, and Mr. Stanton retain his place in the Cabinet. The President is indisposed to make any changes for the present. One fact is well known here that all the late war on Mr. Stanton totally missed its mark. The man responsible for every act for which the McClellan party accused Mr. Stanton, was President Lincoln.

The chain of evidence exonerating Mr. Stanton is complete. Among other facts in the case is this, that days before the beginning of late battles McDowell was under orders to march to Richmond to reinforce McClellan's right wing, and that the President countermanded the order. These developments change the relations of parties somewhat. Mr. Stanton is but strengthened by the accusation, which the President knows to be unjust.

Both Stanton and McClellan are to be retained. Such is the belief at least of the best informed.

McClellan's Siege Guns---Our Killed and Wounded.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes from Fortress Monroe, July 6th:

First as to the siege guns. I never saw, and never saw any one who did see, any other siege guns in the army of the Potomac than eight or ten long 80-pound Parrotts. These were mounted in battery on the extreme right of the army, and all day Friday, June 27th, did splendid work in shelling the rebels across the Chickahominy. These guns were all saved. I saw the whole of them late on Sunday afternoon, five miles across the White Oak swamp bridge, on ground which the enemy did not hold for forty-eight hours afterwards. They were rapidly proceeding towards James river. Your readers may rely upon the safety of these guns.

Then, as to wounded relatives of people in the North. Every battle field and hospital which was formed for the reception of its wounded during the retreat, is in possession of the enemy. If a soldier was killed, his body now lies on rebel ground. If he was wounded in such a way that he could not walk, there being no ambulances to remove any wounded men, he of course fell into the hands of the enemy. If he were wounded so that he could walk without help, or by the aid of a crutch, or by leaning on a friend's shoulder, even though his weakness compelled him to rest at every half mile, his safety may be relied upon. The army, in aggregate, marched very slowly—but ten miles in twenty-four hours.

A Substitue for Silver Change.

The New York Commercial Advertiser, the New York Tribune and many other journals recommend the substitution of postage stamps for silver change. They are a legal tender all over the country. They can can be procured in any quantity at the post offices, and even after use if not mutilated or legally defaced, can be passed through the post office in payment for postage. They are printed upon strong paper and are of the most convenient denominations for making change. With a few dollars worth of stamps one may feel secure against any impositions by venders of larger or small wares.

The Border State Representatives Reply to the President.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A special to the New York Times of Washington 12th, says the Border State Representatives are holding a caucus to-night to consider and frame a reply to the President. There are three points apparently agreed on: First, that Border States have come up to the full demands the government has made upon them, and have raised fully 80,000 men, and will raise their quota under the new call.

As regards the President's emancipation offer, they say it is not practicable nor specific. It proposes a change which can only be enforced through State conventions.

Kentucky's present constitution requires four years to call a convention and have it meet. After getting a State's consent there would be no act of Congress to consummate and the question would still be an open one whether government could appropriate the millions needed to carry out the scheme. Specific legislation should precede State preparations. To obviate delays of organizing State action the Border representatives think the offer should be made at once and directly to individual citizens of slave States, and then the question will be at once solved. Congress would at once share its willingness to appropriate the money, and the people of the States show their readiness to aid the Union even at a sacrifice of a radical change in their social organization.

In conclusion we assure the President that our constituents revere the constitution and Union as dearly as ever, that they admire his heroic efforts so far to preserve both, and on that platform they will not be surpassed by any portion of the Union in furnishing men and money for that work.

FROM KENTUCKY.

A FIGHT WITH AND DEFEAT OF FOUR HUNDRED AND FIFTY GUERRILLAS.

LOUISVILLE, July 12.—At Newhope, Nelson county, at eleven o'clock last night, a party of the 35th Ohio, under Lieut. Col. Moore, encountered 450 rebel cavalry, under Jack Allen, half a mile south of the railroad. After twenty minutes brisk fire of musketry the enemy were routed and fled. No federal casualties. Blood along the road was found by our skirmishers sent out, but no enemy. Later accounts received say that these guerrillas, or their comrades, burned the town of Lebanon and robbed the Commercial Bank, located there.

Telegraphic communication is perfect to Nashville, but not over the Lebanon branch line, which will probably prevent further particulars to-night.

The Federal reinforcements are moving in the direction of Lebanon, but could not have arrived until after the destruction of Lebanon, but they are in hot pursuit of these guerrillas.

LOUISVILLE, July 12.—The Nashville train due at six last evening, did not arrive till near midnight. Passengers report that Morgan's cavalry had been within seven miles of Cave City, and left that point, 1,500 strong, for Lexington, announcing their intention to visit Louisville.

The Bostonians Awake—Big Meeting in Faneuil Hall.

BOSTON, July 12.—Faneuil Hall was crowded at short notice to-day, to take measures to facilitate volunteering under the call for more troops. Hon. Edward Everett urged the duty and importance of sending immediate reinforcements to the army of the Potomac. He cited the testimony of the French Princes as being filled with admiration at the courage and daring of the army and the skill of the young chief, and that as the representatives of one of the most potent sovereigns in Europe, that no nation in the world could have done so much in two months as have the United States. Reverses have been common to the bravest armies in the history of the world, and great consternation has been caused by small bands or mobs. A great portion of the people of the South had been kept in terror by the leaders, and for their sakes as well as our own, despite the threats of intervention, and relying on our own right hand, the army of the Potomac must be reinforced.

Resolutions were adopted for a committee of 150, to receive and appropriate contributions in aid of enlistments. The meeting was very enthusiastic.

The Nation Should Arm.

It is morally certain that the Civil War cannot much longer endure. The enormous size which the armaments of both sides have attained render an early exhaustion inevitable. The Rebels in ordering a general conscription, have left themselves nothing to fall back upon. Their resources, whether in munitions or provisions, are utterly inadequate to the maintenance of so gigantic a contest beyond a very few months. A despotic and merciless conscription provides men, but not weapons nor cartridges. Every battle exhausts the latter while destroying immense quantities of the former. We do not believe they could raise to-day the requisite ammunition for another series of battles like that recently fought before Richmond.

If, then, the loyal States shall promptly fill up their quotas of the new levy of three hundred thousand men, the contest will very soon be over.

Let, then, the most energetic measures be everywhere employed to fill promptly the new requisition, which will undoubtedly be the last. Were these three hundred thousand in the field to-day, there would probably be no further serious fighting.—New York Tribune.

Confiscation of Slaves by Gen. Butler.

CAIRO, July 12.—Commodore Farragut, by order of Gen. Butler, confiscated 3,000 slaves, who are employed on the Vicksburg canal.

A MIXED CASE.—A woman in Newburyport has been discovered with rather mixed up family arrangements. She has been drawing $12 per month for herself and children as the wife of a volunteer, and she also receives $15 per month from the wages of a sailor paramour. Her first husband died: then she married a man with one wife living, who is now in the army, and on whose account she drew money from the relief fund; but one of her four children was by a man in the navy, whom she became acquainted with during a long absence of her second husband. She was just about to marry her sailor lover when the soldier spouse turned up, placing her in this queer predicament.

—The cause of General Mitchell's trip to Washington was a disagreement between himself and General Buell. General Mitchell telegraphed his resignation from Huntsville, and in reply received a dispatch from Secretary Stanton requesting him to report at Washington. It is not expected he will return to the West. General W. S. Smith, by appointment of General Buell, has taken command of General Mitchell's (the Third) division.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 138,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $200,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of life insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The preceded three hundred thousand dollars. The preceded three hundred thousand dollars. The aggregate premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $829,995.35. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,285.85 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,900,000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly any and all of the fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John Metcee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last amounted up to $1,521,988.08, against an actual liability of only $55,080.43; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class, being that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,434.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; and paid losses $335,775, interest and rents and paid losses $335,775, in- $829,995 premium, and paid losses $335,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $160,644 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired, and this will be done in presence of the owner. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear.

☞ All work done at this Mill is warranted. sep

News and Miscellany.

—Letters have been published, written by George W. Jones, whilom United States Senator from Iowa, and subsequently United States Minister to Bogota, addressed to Jeff. Davis, already at the time President of the rebel Confederacy, and to J. E. Morse, of Louisiana, applauding the secession of the South, expressing the hope that the rebellion would succeed, and containing a good deal more of the same sort. The letters were written while he was Minister to Bogota, and are dated respectively May 17th, and August 1st, 1861. They are as loose in style as they are atrocious in sentiment, and certainly mark Mr. Jones as worse than a Southern rebel.

—Probably many, inside as well as outside of the army, will be not a little astonished to learn that General McClellan has sent all the way to Burnside for 500 negro laborers, and that a vessel despatched for them some days since is now absent. The advantage which the rebels have all the while had over us, and never before so much as in these hot days, in having negroes to labor while their soldiers were preserved and drilled, cannot longer be resisted. Why a vessel should be despatched to North Carolina for negroes when thousands could be had for the asking right at home, we cannot say. Some may add the suggestion, it the negro is useful with the spade, now that you have broken down the barriers that kept him from being serviceable to the Union cause, why not try him with a musket?

—An article in the New York World seems to take the ground that the President cannot have the three hundred thousand men he calls for unless he removes Secretary Stanton from office. In other words the World puts conditions to the loyalty of the people. The World, judging from the concentrated bitterness and vindictiveness of its editorials in reference to Stanton, has a big personal grievance, which it takes the present ill-timed occasion to feed fat.

—There is no doubt that Congress before the close of the session will provide for the scarcity of specie by authorizing the issue of two and a half dollar notes, and otherwise meeting the necessity of the times, which legislation may delay the adjournment beyond Wednesday.

—Brig. Gen. Van Vliet, quartmaster of the army of the Potomac, has been relieved at his own request, on account of ill health, and on leaving was highly complimented by General McClellan. It is understood that an order is about being issued reducing the term of enlistment of the 300,000 volunteers from three to one year. The calculation is that the rebellion will be crushed in less than one year. The tariff bill will be signed to-morrow.

—E. S. Stevens, the owner of the famous Stevens battery, proposes that the government pay him the amount advanced by himself and his brother, and finish the vessel on such plan as it shall think best, or that the government release to Mr. Stevens all claims upon the vessel, and he will, under a penalty of $100,000, finish the battery ready for use in eight months, at his own expense. If it prove a success, the government have the privilege of taking it at the amount estimated for its completion—$783,284.

—An East Tennessean, writing to the Nashville Union of the attempt to "conciliate" secessionists, says: "We might as well attempt to pet snakes or lyeans. They do not intend to be conciliated. Nothing but appeals to their fear will tame them."

—The following new steam men-of-war have been completed within the last two months, and are reported ready for sea:

The sidewheel steamer Mahaatta, at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, ordered to James river; gunboat Hoga, iron on her trial trip from Boston; gunboat Adirondack, ready for sea at Brooklyn, New York; gunboat Cimerone, finished at Bordentown, New Jersey, and now being armed at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; sidewheel steamer Genesee; steamer Sonora, at Portsmouth, New Hampshire; gunboat Juniata, ready for sea at Philadelphia; gunboat Paul Jones, sailed with sealed orders from Washington Navy Yard. One of these vessels is undergoing trifling repairs. The keel of another new gunboat, the Shenandoah, was laid at Philadelphia a few days since.

Our Army.

In addition to the five hundred thousand troops now in the field, an additional call of three hundred thousand more has been made, making eight hundred thousand. To oppose this army, the rebel States had 770,000 voters in 1860, at the Presidential election, which is 30,000 voters all told less than the number of the Union army.

In invading a country, the invaders require more men than the invaded, as their army is weakened by garrisons left to guard strong points, and to protect stores as the advance progresses from the base of operations.

Assuming that there are three millions of slaves in these States, that one in seven is capable of bearing arms, and that it will become necessary for the Government to employ these slaves in the army, this would give an auxiliary four hundred thousand men to the Union army: making twelve hundred thousand men. If these four hundred thousand blacks are called into the field, though they may not be good soldiers at first, yet inured to the climate, and knowing every pass, swamp and fastness in the country, their services would be invaluable.

Open Confession.

Ex-Governor Medary, of Ohio, made a speech in defense of Buchanan and Floyd Democrats the other day at Columbus, in which he endeavored to defend this party from the charge of treason, and was telling of some things they did not do. Lifting his voice to a hoarse howl, he said: "They don't steal." After this declaration he paused and shook himself like an old bear, and the thought seemed to be struggling in him with terrible power, and that perhaps a few instances could be named in which Democrats had stolen. Presently the tension of his muscles relaxed, his head dropped, and in a sad low voice he added, dropping suddenly the partisan in the philosopher. "Any more than is incident to imperfect human nature." Having thus relieved himself, he plunged his grizzly muzzle into a pitcher and drank like a horse. Now we never thought before that moment that Medary was as honest as he ought to be. But there must be a thick stratum of honesty in a man, who, by mere force of conscience, on the spur of the moment, puts such a philosophical amendment to a partisan assertion.

We can only say that the "imperfect human nature" of the great Democratic leaders, Buchanan, Floyd, Matteson, Fernando Wood and others, seems to have a good deal of that kind of "incident."

The Confiscation Bill as Passed.

THE BORDER STATE MEN AND THE PRESIDENT.

BRUTAL BLACKGUARDISM OF RICHARDSON.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 13, 1862.—Mr. Howard made an effort in the Senate yesterday to have the bill changing the judicial districts as recently separated, modified so as to keep Michigan in the same district with Ohio. The secret of the effort was a fear that Mr. Browning would be made judge in the new Illinois district. It is understood that he is an ardent aspirant for such a position. The bill passed, however, without change.

Confiscation is at last through both houses in a tolerably stringent shape, with the section inserted amounting to a provision that the President selecting and arming negroes may preclude the necessity for passing a new bill. There is no bill in the Senate for this purpose. The confiscation bill allows proceedings especially called ad. rem., that is, it allows the seizure of property, whether the owner can be found and tried or not.

Messrs. Fessenden and Clarke had professed constitutional scruples on this point, but they yielded.

The border State members had an interview with the President on Saturday. The President entreated them on going home to prepare for emancipation, as circumstances might soon arrive that would make it necessary. The members objected to this, but otherwise professed to have a very pleasant interview.

It is understood that the tax collectors will mostly be appointed this week. The President appoints, but the recommendations pass through the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury.

J. F. Medine of Cincinnati and Major Speed Butler, son of State Treasurer Dodge of Illinois, have appointments on Gen. Pope's staff.

Gen. Lee has sent a flag of truce to Gen. McClellan proposing an exchange of prisoners.

The House in Committee of the Whole was indulging in set speeches on Saturday evening, and Richardson tried to revive the ball-o-ny style of debate, which it was hoped had gone out with his friends of the Southern Confederacy. Mr. Allen referred to some statements Richardson had made about the support of contrabands by the Government. Mr. Blake, of Ohio, explained that the statement was incorrect, and said, "I do not mean that the gentleman from Illinois meant to misrepresent, but there are no facts to sustain his statement."

Mr. Richardson—(meaningly pulling up his coat sleeves)—"Do I understand the gentleman to deny that the Government is paying $200,000 a day for the employment and support of negroes?"

Mr. Blake—"I deny that the statement in your speech is true, to the effect that two thousand rations a day are issued to contrabands in this district alone, in violation of laws."

Mr. Richardson—That speech was made on the 19th of May and no member has dared to rise in his place and deny a single statement until now.

Mr. Blake—Because no man could get the floor for that purpose.

Mr. Richardson—The gentleman states a falsehood when he states that no gentleman could get the floor; no gentleman has risen in his place and denied the statement when there was time to raise investigating committees to examine into it, and I charge the gentleman from Ohio, and every other gentleman who denies it, with stating a falsehood.

Mr. Blake—I charge the gentleman from Illinois with uttering what is utterly untrue and unfounded. I am ready to back it up.

Mr. Richardson—(Advancing menacingly.) Are you? We'll see.

Mr. Blake—I'm not to be intimidated by any of your threats, sir.

Mr. Richardson, pulling up his coat sleeves, made another start towards Blake when the Sergeant at Arms interposed. While Blake cried, "Let him come on, let him come."

Mr. Richardson, at the top of his voice, "The gentleman is a God d—d liar."

He then turned to his seat. In a few minutes Blake walked over to speak to Richardson apparently with a view of having a mutual explanation, when Richardson instantly cried out, "God d—n you, get out of this, clear out."

Mr. Blake returned to his seat, and so the affair ended.

Mr. Richardson's friends are very much mortified over his brutal blackguardism.

It is intimated on the authority of distinguished Senators, that the President will speedily issue a proclamation offering amnesty to rebels in arms in the Border States, and announcing that the offer will be extended from time to time to rebels in other States, as progress in subduing the rebellion may warrant.

As to the adoption of a policy of employing negroes in any military service in which they may be successfully used, and giving them their freedom therefor, I can say nothing as to its reliability, except that prominent men who ought to know believe it.

The Senate yesterday repealed the bill for the military railroads through Kentucky into East Tennessee, connecting with Cincinnati. It was repealed in the House some time ago.

The State of Illinois was recently given another Representative. Both Houses passed a bill authorizing the election of this representative on the general State ticket.

It is supposed Congress will certainly adjourn on Wednesday.

The Republican Caucus at Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The adjourned meeting of the Republican caucus was held at the Capitol to-night. A brief discussion ensued on the motion to exclude spectators.

Mr. Colfax submitted a resolution inviting all loyal men in this hour of our country's peril to put down those in arms against the Government and punish treason severely. This resolution was received with applause, but was afterwards withdrawn. A resolution was carried respectfully requesting the spectators to retire, which they did.

Mr. Colfax offered the following resolution as a substitute for the address prepared by Mr. Bingham:

Resolved, That we hold it a duty that all loyal men should stand by the rulers in this hour of trial and unite hearts and hands in earnest efforts and ample means for the prosecution of its maintenance against those arming against it, to sustain with determined resolution our patriotic President and his constitutional advisers in their energetic efforts for the prosecution of the war, and the preservation of the Union against enemies at home and those of its parties traitors and treason with lasting severity and crush the present causeless rebellion, so that no flag of disunion shall ever again be hoisted over any portion of the country, and we pledge our hearts for the co-operation of all men who love their country in their endeavor to rebuke throughout all the States such a patriotic threat as shall utterly consume all who strike at the Union, and who sympathize with their treason and palliate their guilt.

The resolution was adopted as a substitute for an address. The caucus adjourned sine die.

THE STANTON-McCLELLAN IMBROGLIO.

MR. STANTON NOT THE RESPONSIBLE PARTY.

THE PRESIDENT THE SOURCE OF THE ORDERS TO M'DOWELL.

From the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 11, 1862.

It may be regarded as settled that McClellan will remain in command of the army, and Mr. Stanton retain his place in the Cabinet. The President is indisposed to make any changes for the present. One fact is well known here that all the late war on Mr. Stanton totally missed its mark. The man responsible for every act for which the McClellan party accused Mr. Stanton, was President Lincoln.

The chain of evidence exonerating Mr. Stanton is complete. Among other facts in the case is this, that days before the beginning of late battles McDowell was under orders to march to Richmond to reinforce McClellan's right wing, and that the President countermanded the order. These developments change the relations of parties somewhat. Mr. Stanton is but strengthened by the accusation, which the President knows to be unjust.

Both Stanton and McClellan are to be retained. Such is the belief at least of the best informed.

McClellan's Siege Gun—Our Killed and Wounded.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes from Fortress Monroe, July 6th:

First as to the siege guns. I never saw, and never saw any one who did see, any other siege guns in the army of the Potomac than eight or ten long 8[illegible]-pound Parrotts. These were mounted in battery on the extreme right of the army, and all day Friday, June 27th, did splendid work in shelling the rebels across the Chickahominy. These guns were all saved. I saw the whole of them late on Sunday afternoon, five miles across the White Oak swamp bridge, on ground which the enemy did not hold for forty-eight hours afterwards. They were rapidly proceeding towards James river. Your readers may rely upon the safety of these guns.

Then, as to wounded relatives of people in the North. Every battle field and hospital which was formed for the reception of its wounded during the retreat, is in possession of the enemy. If a soldier was killed, his body now lies on rebel ground. If he was wounded in such a way that he could not walk, there being no ambulances to remove any wounded men, he of course fell into the hands of the enemy. If he were wounded so that he could walk without help, or by the aid of a crutch, or by leaning on a friend's shoulder, even though his weakness compelled him to rest at every half mile, his safety may be relied upon. The army, in aggregate, marched very slowly—but ten miles in twenty-four hours.

A Substitue for Silver Change.

The New York Commercial Advertiser, the New York Tribune and many other journals recommend the substitution of postage stamps for silver change. They are a legal tender all over the country. They can can be procured in any quantity at the post offices, and even after use if not mutilated or legally defaced, can be passed through the post office in payment for postage. They are printed upon strong paper and are of the most convenient denominations for making change. With a few dollars worth of stamps one may feel secure against any impositions by venders of larger or small wares.

The Border State Representatives Reply to the President.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A special to the New York Times of Washington 12th, says the Border State Representatives are holding a caucus to-night to consider and frame a reply to the President. There are three points apparently agreed on: First, that Border States have come up to the full demands the government has made upon them, and have raised fully 80,000 men, and will raise their quota under the new call.

As regards the President's emancipation offer, they say it is not practicable nor specific. It proposes a change which can only be enforced through State conventions.

Kentucky's present constitution requires four years to call a convention and have it meet. After getting a State's consent there would be no act of Congress to consummate and the question would still be an open one whether governm nt could appropriate the millions needed to carry out the scheme. Specific legislation should precede State preparations. To obviate delays of organizing State action the Border representatives think the offer should be made at once and directly to individual citizens of slave States, and then the question will be at once solved. Congress would at once share its willingness to appropriate the money, and the people of the States show their readiness to aid the Union even at a sacrifice of a radical change in their social organization.

In conclusion we assure the President that our constituents revere the constitution and Union as dearly as ever, that they admire his heroic efforts so far to preserve both, and on that platform they will not be surpassed by any portion of the Union in furnishing men and money for that work.

FROM KENTUCKY.

A FIGHT WITH AND DEFEAT OF FOUR HUNDRED AND FIFTY GUERRILLAS.

LOUISVILLE, July 12.—At Newhope, Nelson county, at eleven o'clock last night, a party of the 25th Ohio, under Lieut. Col. Moore, encountered 450 rebel cavalry, under Jack Allen, half a mile south of the railroad. After twenty minutes brisk fire of musketry the enemy were routed and fled. No federal casualties. Blood along the road was found by our skirmishers sent out, but no enemy. Later accounts received say that these guerrillas, or their comrades, burned the town of Lebanon and robbed the Commercial Bank, located there.

Telegraphic communication is perfect to Nashville, but not over the Lebanon branch line, which will probably prevent further particulars to-night.

The Federal reinforcements are moving in the direction of Lebanon, but could not have arrived until after the destruction of Lebanon, but they are in hot pursuit of these guerrillas.

LOUISVILLE, July 12.—The Nashville train due at six last evening, did not arrive till near midnight. Passengers report that Morgan's cavalry had been within seven miles of Cave City, and left that point, 1,500 strong, for Lexington, announcing their intention to visit Louisville.

The Bostonians Awake—Big Meeting in Faneuil Hall.

BOSTON, July 12.—Faneuil Hall was crowded at short notice to-day, to take measures to facilitate volunteering under the call for more troops. Hon. Edward Everett urged the duty and importance of sending immediate reinforcements to the army of the Potomac. He cited the testimony of the French Princes as being filled with admiration at the courage and daring of the army and the skill of the young chief, and that as the representatives of one of the most potent sovereigns in Europe, that no nation in the world could have done so much in two months as have the United States. Reverses have been common to the bravest armies in the history of the world, and great consternation has been caused by small bands or mobs. A great portion of the people of the South had been kept in terror by the leaders, and for their sakes as well as our own, despite the threats of intervention, and relying on our own right hand, the army of the Potomac must be reinforced.

Resolutions were adopted for a committee of 150, to receive and appropriate contributions in aid of enlistments. The meeting was very enthusiastic.

The Nation Should Arm.

It is morally certain that the Civil War cannot much longer endure. The enormous size which the armaments of both sides have attained render an early exhaustion inevitable. The Rebels in ordering a general conscription, have left themselves nothing to fall back upon. Their resources, whether in munitions or provisions, are utterly inadequate to the maintenance of so gigantic a contest beyond a very few months. A despotic and merciless conscription provides men, but not weapons nor cartridges. Every battle exhausts the latter while destroying immense quantities of the former. We do not believe they could raise to-day the requisite ammunition for another series of battles like that recently fought before Richmond.

If, then, the loyal States shall promptly fill up their quotas of the new levy of three hundred thousand men, the contest will very soon be over.

Let, then, the most energetic measures be everywhere employed to fill promptly the new requisition, which will undoubtedly be the last. Were these three hundred thousand in the field to-day, there would probably be no further serious fighting.—New York Tribune.

Confiscation of Slaves by Gen. Butler.

CAIRO, July 12.—Commodore Farragut, by order of Gen. Butler, confiscated 3,000 slaves, who are employed on the Vicksburg canal.

A MIXED CASE.—A woman in Newburyport has been discovered with rather mixed up family arrangements. She has been drawing $12 per month for herself and children as the wife of a volunteer, and she also receives $15 per month from the wages of a sailor paramour. Her first husband died: then she married a man with one wife living, who is now in the army, and on whose account she drew money from the relief fund; but one of her four children was by a man in the navy, whom she became acquainted with during a long absence of her second husband. She was just about to marry her sailor lover when the soldier spouse turned up, placing her in this queer predicament.

—The cause of General Mitchell's trip to Washington was a disagreement between himself and General Buell. General Mitchell telegraphed his resignation from Huntsville, and in reply received a dispatch from Secretary Stanton requesting him to report at Washington. It is not expected he will return to the West. General W. S. Smith, by appointment of General Buell, has taken command of General Mitchell's (the Third) division.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the profits in two years amounts to $230,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York.

WM. BARNES,
Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The proceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium income of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $829,067.23. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $815,000 only, with capital, however, of $8,150,000, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $23,980,000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent organization. The expenditure of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly any amount of fire insurance companies, one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all the companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would exceed the enormous amount of over seven-eighth millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost home and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John Mc

THE CITY.

D. D. MERRILL has just received Godey's Lady's Book for August.

REV. MR. NEILL'S house on Summit Avenue is for rent. See advertisement.

MILITARY ITEMS.—A company of about twenty-five men under the charge of Capt. Woodward, came up by the McLellan from Houston county, yesterday morning, to join the Sixth Regiment. They marched to the Fort immediately.

Capt. Exel already has twenty-nine men sworn into his company, who are at the Fort.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Board of County Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon to devise measures for the retiring from the market the large amount of county scrip now outstanding, and thus bring up the credit of the county. Without concluding on any course, they adjourned to meet again next Monday afternoon.

FIRE.—The alarm of fire about nine o'clock last evening, was caused by the taking fire of a shanty near the corner of Third and Sibley streets occupied by a widow named Green. The fire was quenched so speedily by the Minnesota-ha boys, that many persons who started to see it, had to make their way over the latter part of the route in darkness. Only the roof was burned.

PERSONAL.—Quartermaster Hunt of the Fourth Regiment was in town again yesterday, having improved in health very much in the few days he has been in Minnesota.

Cramer Burt, of Mankato, who was appointed a Purser in the Navy about a year since, and who belonged to the glorious old Cumberland that went down so gallantly with her flag flying, in the unequal contest with the iron-clad Merrimac, has been in the State for the last two weeks. He returns this morning to the post of duty, though he has not yet been assigned to any other vessel.

A LARGE EXCURSION PARTY.—A large party of ladies and gentlemen, principally from St. Louis, Jacksonville and Quincy, came up on the Northerner, and are mostly stopping at the International. They will stay in the vicinity a week or ten days, making their headquarters in this city. The following card has been handed us for publication:

ST. PAUL, July 16, 1862.

At a meeting of the passengers on the steamer "Northerner," on her late trip from St. Louis, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That having been most gratified by the kindness, courtesy and attention shown by Capt. Alford and his officers, we desire to give public expression to our satisfaction, at the skill displayed on the occasion and skill with which the boat has been managed under the trying circumstances incident to the crowded condition of the boat and a low stage of water.

N. C. COMAN, Chairman.
BENJAMIN R. RHODES, Secretary.

YANKEE INVENTION.—The latest Yankee invention that we have seen is a cross-cut lithion at Jones' Agricultural Depot. It is called a clothes' fingerer, and is shaped as well adapted for that purpose as anything that can be conceived. The clothes are drawn over the curving of a crank between two rubber rollers and squeezed nearly dry, without the least injury to the garment. It will soon become a "fixin" to every rowdey, for no housewife will ever ring out clothes in the old way, when they have seen this machine. Mr. D. B. Sprague is to be agent for this city, who will have the machine among the numbers about town for examination, and get it to pay afterwards if they will, and if it is not taken away again.

ENTERTAINMENT.—Prof. Belding, a lady will give a musical entertainment at Edward's Hall, in St. Anthony, on Thursday evening, July 17th, consisting of a choice variety of readings, recitations, songs, duetts, &c. Prof. Belding comes to us highly recommended as a teacher of Elocution, and his class in St. Paul are making rapid advancement under his instruction. He proposes to teach a class in St. Anthony and Minneapolis two weeks free, with a benefit of an exhibition at the close: will give readings in Minneapolis next Saturday evening. Don't fail to hear him. Admission reduced to half price. See bills.

HELLER'S SORCERY.—It is seldom we get a real first class entertainment in our city, and unless report prove false we are promised one in the entertainment of Mr. Heller, which comes off at Ingersoll's Hall to-morrow evening. No man enjoys a more wide-spread reputation for professional excellence as an Illusionist and Pianist than Mr. Heller. In the great mystery of "Second Sight," it is claimed that he is the originator and sole exponent before the public, some of our exchanges pronouncing it the most inexplicable and bewildering mystery that ever puzzled a universal community. To-morrow evening we will have the opportunity of judging for ourselves, and if report be true we will see the first of "Prestidigitators," and hear the successful rival of the great Thalberg.

PENMANSHIP.—Mr. Holcombe's Writing Class at Concert Hall has increased so much during the past week, that he has been obliged to employ an assistant. He will commence a second course the first of next week.

THE CONTRACT for supplying rations at Fort Snelling was let yesterday by Quartermaster Saunders to A. J. Wilson, of Minneapolis, Mr. W. being the lowest responsible bidder. His bid was eleven cents a half a ton, which is certainly sufficiently low to satisfy Uncle Sam as well as any other man." The contract extends till the first of January, 1863. There were several bids put in, extending upwards from the figure above named to twenty-five cents.

PERSONNEL OF THE THIRD REGIMENT.—The recent misfortunes of the Third Regiment at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, renders an account of its composition of much interest. Its Colonel is Henry C. Lester of Winona; Lieutenant Colonel, C. W. Griggs of St. Paul; Major, Hans Matson of Red Wing; Chaplain, B. F. Crary, and Sutler, Daniel Rohrer, both of St. Paul. There are fewer men from St. Paul in this regiment than in any of the other four.

Company A, Capt. Webster, Lieuts. Howett and Elliott is composed of 78 men, almost entirely from Hennepin and Wright counties.

We find the following names from Minneapolis: Thomas Atkinson, A. B. Carson, Abner Reagh, W. P. Lincoln, George S. Macbeth, George W. Moore, John V. Montgomery, George Mott, Josiah Oothout, Charles W. A. Nudd, Ezra F. Peabody, William J. Patten, Jay Pratt, James C. Price, James R. Putnam, S. J. Raymond, Edwin C. Ross, Peter Roskop, Salisbury Rowell, William M. Stiles, Charles M. Sydlinker, Orville Golden, and Curtis B. Ames.

Company B, formerly Captain Griggs', but now Captain Hoyt's company—76 men—is made up largely from Washington county. We find, however, the following names from St. Paul: Sergeant Ephraim Pierce, Corp. John Berresford, privates George Brewer, Steward Bliss, Joseph Colter, Milo Church, John Daner, Edward Freygang, T. B. Galusha, and Frank Simmon.

Company C, Captain Mills, 86 men, is made up entirely from the counties of Fillmore, Olmsted and Mower.

Company D, Captain Anker, 81 men, all Scandivavians, mostly from the counties of Goodhue, Freeborn and Chisago.

Company E, Captain Garnee, of Red Wing, 91 men, principally from Goodhue and Dodge counties. We find the names of little Harry Collins, and William Green, among the privates, from St. Paul.

Company F, Captain Preston, 86 men, principally from the counties of Dakota and Washington.

Company G, Captain Foster, of Wabashaw, Lieutenants Eddy and Devereux, the latter from St. Paul, 88 men, principally from Wabashaw county. There are some, we think, in this company from St. Paul, but we are unable to identify the names.

Company H, Captain Rice, 85 men, principally from the counties of Blue Earth, Rice and Wright.

Company I, Captain C. C. Andrews, 80 men, from the counties on the upper Missis sippi.

Company K, Captain Clay, 81 men, principally from Olmsted county. Hiram D. Bates, from St. Paul, is the Orderly Sergeant of this company.

POLICE ITEMS.—The only case which resulted in a conviction was that of, we are sorry to say, the king newsboy, who was found wandering about the streets at night, intoxicated and singing obscene songs. The judge did not let him off with a lecture this time. He was fined $2 and costs. You can't afford this very often, young man, it takes the profits off of a good many periodicals.

RIVER NEWS.—The river has fallen so much that boats of a heavy draught find it difficult to get over the bar at Kaposia. The Northerner turned back from there after trying for several hours to get over. She turned over her freight and passengers, the first to the Kolian and the latter to the Clara Hine.

The Iowa and Northern Belle are the arrivals from below since our last, and are the down packets this morning.

The Clara Hine and Ariel made their regular trips to and from Carver yesterday.

The Antelope has been repaired, and will resume her place in the line to-day, and the Ariel will resume her trips to Mankato.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY,

One door East of Davenport's Bookstore, on Third Street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus it can be used for the LOCK STITCH, KNOT AND DOUBLE KNOT, all of which make the same alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carried either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, welts, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They use NO SLIDES, and can be used where space is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They sell no dresses. Their stitch has no wonder of it, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

Prices No. 1, $47.00, No. 2, $55.00, No. 3, $57.00, No. 4, $72.00, No. 5, $77.00, No. 6, $85.00, No. 7 Cabinet opener, $90.00, No. 7 Cabinet stand, $95.00, Mahogany $95.00, Rosewood $100.00. Hemmers and all necessary tools included in the above prices.

SAINT PAUL, July 5th, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 10th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the commissary, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of flour or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per ration. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in such other proper food. Deficient potatoes, or deficient mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer may believe it conducive or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their varieties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

SAINT PAUL, July 5th, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 10th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the commissary, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of flour or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per ration. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in such other proper food. Deficient potatoes, or deficient mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer may believe it conducive or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their varieties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE AND MORTGAGE SALE

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and delivered by Lyman Dayton and Maria B. Dayton, his wife, of St. Paul, Ramsey county, Minnesota, to William Combs Thompson, of Worcester, Worcester county, Massachusetts, dated the seventeenth day of December, A. D. 1859, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds of the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, on the twentieth day of December, A. D. 1859, in Book [illegible] of Mortgages, on pages 224 and 225, and conveying the following described premises, situated in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, which mortgage was given to secure the payment of a certain note for four hundred and eleven dollars ($411) and interest, of even date therewith, and there is now claimed to be due and is due thereon, four hundred and seventy-six and 76-100 dollars ($476.76), and no suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, nor any part thereof, and no part of said debt has been paid.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said Ramsey county, on the 6th day of June, A. D. 1862, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the Court House in St. Paul, in said county, to satisfy said mortgage debt and legal disbursements.

D. D. MERRILL has just received Godey's Lady's Book for August.

REV. MR. NEILL'S house on Summit Avenue is for rent. See advertisement.

MILITARY ITEMS.—A company of about twenty-five men under the charge of Capt. Woodward, came up by the McLellan from Houston county, yesterday morning, to join the Sixth Regiment. They marched to the Fort immediately.

Capt. Exel already has twenty-nine men sworn into his company, who are at the Fort.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Board of County Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon to devise measures for the retiring from the market the large amount of county scrip now outstanding, and thus bring up the credit of the county. Without concluding on any course, they adjourned to meet again next Monday afternoon.

FIRE.—The alarm of fire about nine o'clock last evening, was caused by the taking fire of a shanty near the corner of Third and Sibley streets occupied by a widow named Green. The fire was quenched so speedily by the Minnesota boys, that many persons who started to see it, had to make their way over the latter part of the route in darkness. Only the roof was burned.

PERSONAL.—Quartermaster Hunt of the Fourth Regiment was in town again yesterday, having improved in health very much in the few days he has been in Minnesota.

Cramer Burt, of Mankato, who was appointed a Purser in the Navy about a year since, and who belonged to the glorious old Cumberland that went down so gallantly with her flag flying, in the unequal contest with the iron-clad Merrimac, has been in the State for the last two weeks. He returns this morning to the post of duty, though he has not yet been assigned to any other vessel.

A LARGE EXCURSION PARTY.—A large party of ladies and gentlemen, principally from St. Louis, Jacksonville and Quincy, came up on the Northerner, and are mostly stopping at the International. They will stay in the vicinity a week or ten days, making their headquarters in this city. The following card has been handed us for publication:

ST. PAUL, July 16, 1862.

At a meeting of the passengers on the steamer "Northerner," on her late trip from St. Louis, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That having been much gratified by the kindness, courtesy and attentions shown by Capt. Alford and all officers, we desire to give public expression to our satisfaction, and to say that the manner in which the duties and skill with which our boat has been managed under the trying circumstances incident to the crowded condition of the boat and a low stage of water.

S. A. CHAMAN, Chairman.
TO LEB R. RHODES, Secretary.

YANKEE INVENTION.—The latest Yankee invention that we have seen is on exhibition at Jones' Agricultural Warehouse. It is called a clothes' Dragger, and is about as well adapted for that purpose as anything that can be conceived. The clothes are drawn by the turning of a crank between two rubber rollers, and squeezed nearly dry, while at the least in my estimation. It will soon become a fixture in every laundry, for no housewife will ever ring out clothes in the old way after they have seen this machine. Mr. J. B. Sprague is the agent for this city, who will leave the machine among the manufactured goods for examination, and get it pay afterwards if they edit, and if not take them away again.

ENTERTAINMENT.—Prof. Belding will early will give a musical entertainment in Edward's Hall, in St. Anthony, on Thursday evening, July 17th, consisting of a choice variety of readings, recitations, songs, duetts, &c. Prof. Belding comes to us highly recommended as a teacher of Elocution, and his class in St. Paul are making rapid advancement under His instruction. He proposes to teach a class in St. Anthony and Minneapolis two weeks free, with a benefit of an exhibition at the close; will give readings in Minneapolis next Saturday evening. Don't fail to hear him. Admission reduced to half price. See bills.

HELLER'S SOIREE.—It is seldom we get a real first-class entertainment in our city, and unless report prove false we are promised one in the entertainment of Mr. Heller, which comes off at Ingersoll's Hall to-morrow evening. No man enjoys a more wide-spread reputation for professional excellence as an Illusionist and Pianist than Mr. Heller. In the great mystery of "Second Sight," it is claimed that he is the originator and sole exponent before the public, some of our exchanges pronouncing it the most inexplicable and bewildering mystery that ever puzzled a universal community. To-morrow evening we will have the opportunity of judging for ourselves, and if report be true we will see the first of "Professors," and hear the sweetest tones of the great Thalberg.

PENMANSHIP.—Mr. Holcombe's Writing Class at Concert Hall has increased so much during the past week, that he has been obliged to employ an assistant. He will commence a second course the first of next week.

THE CONTRACT for supplying rations at Fort Snelling was let yesterday by Quartermaster Saunders to A. J. Wilson, of Minneapolis, Mr. W. being the lowest responsible bidder. His bid was eleven and a half cents, which is certainly something low enough to satisfy Uncle Sam as low as "any other man." The contract extends till the first of January, 1863. There were several bids put in, extending upwards from the figure above named to twenty-five cents.

PERSONNEL OF THE THIRD REGIMENT.—The recent misfortunes of the Third Regiment at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, renders an account of its composition of much interest. Its Colonel is Henry C. Lester of Winona; Lieutenant Colonel, C. W. Griggs of St. Paul; Major, Hans Matson of Red Wing; Chaplain, B. F. Crary, and Sutler, Daniel Rohrer, both of St. Paul. There are fewer men from St. Paul in this regiment than in any of the other four.

Company A, Capt. Weister, Lieuts. Howett and Elliott is composed of 78 men, almost entirely from Hennepin and Wright counties.

We find the following names from Minneapolis: Francis Atkinson, A. B. Carson, Abner Rough, W. P. Lincoln, George S. Macfarlan, George W. Moore, John V. Montgomery, George Mott, Josiah Oodmont, Charles W. A. Nudd, Ezra F. Peabody, William J. Patten, Jay Pratt, James C. Price, James R. Putnam, S. J. Raymond, Edwin C. Ross, Peter Roskop, Salisbury Rowell, William A. Stiles, Charles M. Sydlinker, Orville Golden, and Curtis B. Ames.

Company B, formerly Captain Griggs', but now Captain Hoyt's company—76 men—is made up largely from Washington county. We find, however, the following names from St. Paul: Sergeant Ephraim Pierce, Corp. John Berresford, privates George Brewer, Steward Bliss, Joseph Colter, Milo Church, John Daner, Edward Freygang, T. B. Galusha, and Frank Simmon.

Company C, Captain Mills, 86 men, is made up entirely from the counties of Fillmore, Olmsted and Mower.

Company D, Captain Aaker, 81 men, all Scandinavians, mostly from the counties of Goodhue, Freeborn and Chisago.

Company E, Captain Garner, of Red Wing, 91 men, principally from Goodhue and Dodge counties. We find the names of little Harry Collins, and William Green, among the privates, from St. Paul.

Company F, Captain Preston, 86 men, principally from the counties of Dakota and Washington.

Company G, Captain Foster, of Wabashaw, Lieutenants Eddy and Devereux, the latter from St. Paul, 88 men, principally from Wabashaw county. There are some, we think, in this company from St. Paul, but we are unable to identify the names.

Company H, Captain Rice, 85 men, principally from the counties of Blue Earth, Rice and Wright.

Company I, Captain C. C. Andrews, 83 men, from the counties on the upper Mississippi.

Company K, Captain Clay, 81 men, principally from Olmsted county. Hiram D. Gate, from St. Paul is the Orderly Sergeant of this company.

POLICE ITEMS.—The only case which resulted in a conviction was that of, we are sorry to say, the king newsboy, who was found vagrolizing about the streets at night, intoxicated and singing obscene songs. The judge did not let him off with a fine this time. He was fined $2 and costs. You can't afford this very often, young man, it takes the profits off of a good many periodicals.

RIVER NEWS.—The river has fallen so much that boats of a heavy draught are a little difficult to get over the bar at Kaposia. The Northerner turned back from there after trying for several hours to get over. She turned over her freight and passengers, the first to the Edlan and the latter to the Clara Hine.

The Fraser and Northern Belle are the arrivals from below since our last, and are the down packets this morning.

The Clara Hine and Ariel made their regular trips to and from Carver yesterday.

The Antelope has been repaired, and will resume her place in the line to-day, and the Ariel will resume her trips to Mankato.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY,

One door East of Davenport's Bookstore, on Third Street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINE makes FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. That the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK, KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to leave the work either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, which, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb-screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They sell on sight. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

SAINT PAUL, July 9th, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 26th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the commissariat, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per man. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given on above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or desiccated mixed vegetables, at the rate per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty pounds of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as far as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, RAMSEY COUNTY.—In Probate Court, Special Term, June 7th, 1862.

In the matter of the guardianship of George W. Carter, Minor.

Upon reading and filing the petition of William G. Carter, guardian of said minor, praying for reasons therein set forth that he may be licensed to sell the real estate belonging to the said minor.

It is ordered that Monday, the 7th day of July, 1862, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the Judge of Probate, in the city of St. Paul, be assigned for the hearing of the said petition; and that the next of kin of said minor, and all other persons interested in his estate, appear at a session of the Probate Court, then and there to be holden, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered that the said petitioner give notice to all persons interested in said matter of the pendency of the said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the St. Paul PRESS, a newspaper in St. Paul, in said Ramsey county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican electors of the several Wards and Townships of the County of Ramsey, and all others willing to unite with them in the support of the Government, and a vigorous prosecution of the war for the preservation of the Union, and opposed to those who gave aid directly to the traitors when they could, and now attempt to give aid indirectly by abuse of the Administration and its progressive measures, are requested to choose delegates to a County Convention to be held at the Court House on Monday the 28th inst., at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing eight delegates to represent said County in the District Convention to be held in St. Paul on the 30th inst., to place in nomination a suitable person to be supported by the electors of the Second Congressional District, for a Representative to Congress.

The several Wards and Townships will be entitled to the following representation, viz:

First Ward	3 delegates.
Second do	1 "
Third do	1 "
Fourth do	1 "
Fifth do	2 "

And the Townships to two delegates each.

The Committee would request that primary meetings for the election of said Delegates be held on saturday the 26th inst., at the usual places of holding election—in the various townships at 2 o'clock, P. M.—and in the several Wards at 8 o'clock, P. M.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

Still no particulars of the loss of our Third Regiment. All quiet on the Potomac. Our army at Winchester in Gen. Pope's department seems to be preparing for a retreat, notwithstanding the late bombastic address of its chief.

CONFISCATION BILL AMENDED AND APPROVED.

Congress has passed a supplementary act, which removed the President's objections to the original confiscation bill, and the two acts have received his approval.

It will be seen that the President's objections did not apply to the emancipation clause in the original act.

His objections were that the bill contravened the constitutional provision that attainder of treason should not work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the attainted.

Practically the bill is just as vigorous a measure as it was originally. Those who were rebels yesterday, will be rebels to-morrow, and the act will not the less apply to them.

Amnesty may safely be offered to all past offenders who will at once return to their allegiance.

So far as the forfeiture of property is concerned it will aid us in crushing the rebellion just as much if it be all personal property and the real estate only during the life of the rebel.

We rejoice that the bill has become a law, and that the President had no scruples at its emancipation features.

WAR TO THE KNIFE AND THE KNIFE TO THE HILT.

That is the doctrine the country is coming to, and that it must adopt or abandon the war.

Semi-secessionists in the North have had too much to do in directing the policy of the war. Government has been too much influenced by consideration for traitors. The constant threats, and fire in the rear of the Ben. Woods and Vallandighams, backed by a miserable remnant of the Buchanan Democracy, has constantly restrained and influenced those charged with the administration of affairs lest these semi-traitors should more openly oppose the Government. It is time that no regard whatever was paid to this class of men. Leave them to their treasonable instincts, and when it culminates in open acts of treason give them a short shrift and a strong cord.

The sentiment of the country is fully up to this.

That thoroughly loyal Democrat, John W. Forney, writing to his paper, the Philadelphia Press, on the 11th, says;

Military and political leaders are now satisfied that the loyal people expect that the war against the rebellion shall be prosecuted with more regard to the lives of our soldiers and less for the property of the traitors than heretofore. Whatever may be the differences on other questions, on this there is an evident unanimity. Every citizen, who pretends to be for the Union, demands that the policy of protecting the possessions of the rebels should be at once and utterly abandoned. The idea of paying for what is necessary to support the army to the enemies of the country has been productive of incalculable mischief. In many instances our troops, while suffering for subsistence, have been restrained from taking advantage of the property of the rebels, lest they might give offence to the so-called Union sentiment, and still further excite the traitors. This moderation has been productive of nothing but evil. The bitterness and cruelty of the rebels have increased in proportion as the evidence of mercy on the part of our generals have multiplied. Indeed, they so far misunderstand this mercy as to denounce it as cowardice. It is not proposed to make war upon the traitors as if they were so many barbarians, but to make it in that determined and resolute spirit which will convince them that we are resolved to maintain the Government at all hazards.

THE NECESSITY OF RAISING THE SIXTH REGIMENT.

We desire to speak a few plain words to our readers. It is apparent that the condition of public affairs at present is anything but encouraging. The forward movement of our armies has been arrested chiefly for want of sufficient troops. The War Department seems to be shifting its reinforcements backwards and forwards to meet the successive attacks of the enemy; and as it withdraws its forces from the West to the East, the insurgent forces appear in the West, and we are thus threatened at the same moment in Tennessee, in Kentucky, in Missouri, and in Virginia.

There is but two remedy for this state of things.

we must increase, if needs be, to a million men, the armies of the nation.

There is no avoiding this necessity. If we turn from it, we can see before us nothing but ruin to our arms, disgrace to our name, and death to our national existence. If we do not meet this emergency we exist for all the future, a broken, dispirited, degraded people, watching the awful rods of foreign potentates to ascertain our fate, and trimming and cringing to avoid wars we have not the manhood to prosecute. This way lies a future no American will encounter—death in its most dreadful shape were preferrable.

We must have more men.

There are but two ways to obtain them, viz: by volunteering, and by drafting.

So far we have carried on the war without compelling the service of a single citizen. The South have resorted to drafting, and as a consequence have today as many or more men in the field than we. An appeal has been made by President Lincoln for 300,000 additional volunteers. If they are not forthcoming no man can doubt that some compulsory system will have to be resorted to. The President cannot, through dread of hurting the feelings of the timid, allow the Government to go to pieces, and the nation to become a mockery to the world.

We appeal, therefore, to Minnesotians, not to necessitate the application of a system of drafting to their own State, whatever may be done in other States. Let our entire people, in every way and by every means, encourage the volunteering now going on.

The following table will show the proportions which would have to be furnished by each county, according to the last census, to fill up the Sixth Regiment to the maximum:

COUNTIES.		COUNTIES.
Anoka	12	Meeker	5
Becker	2	Monongalia	2
Benton	4	Morrison	4
Blue Earth	39	Mower	19
Brown	14	Nicollet	22
Carver	31	Olmsted	58
Cass	1	Otter Tail	4
Chisago	11	Pembina	9
Crow Wing	2	Peck	1
Dakota	55	Ramsey	75
Dodge	23	Pembina	1
Douglas	1	Rice	46
Faribault	8	St. Louis	2
Fillmore	82	Scott	24
Freeborn	2	Sherburne	4
Goodhue	51	Sibley	32
Hennepin	75	Stearns	27
Houston	10	Steele	11
Isanti	2	Todd	2
Jackson	1	Wabashaw	14
Lake	2	Waseca	15
LeSueur	52	Washington	55
Menomin	1	Winona	26
Martin	1	Wright	22
McLeod	8
			1015

As about one hundred, or perhaps even more, have already enlisted for the Sixth Regiment, the quota of each county in the above table would be correspondingly reduced; while should each raise but three-fourths of their quota it would fill the regiment to the minimum.

Our readers have therefore presented to them in the foregoing table, the number which, by voluntary enlistment, would have to come from each county, or be taken from it by drafting, to make up the additional regiment called for by the President. If each county furnishes the quota set forth in the above table by voluntary enlistment, the regiment will be filled, and the necessity of a draft avoided.

Will not the people of the several counties take hold of this matter in earnest? There is one plain way by which they can assist:—Let them by public meetings and petitions call upon their County Boards and upon their Town Councils to grant bounties of, say, $10 or $20 to every volunteer, in addition to the inducements already offered by the nation. Money thus spent will be patriotically spent, and will materially contribute to the filling of the regiment.

Take for instance the case of Ramsey County.

In the above table her quota appears as seventy-five men. Suppose the Council of the City of St. Paul should offer a bounty of $20 to each one of such of her citizens to the number of seventy-five as may first volunteer. This would make, together with the Government bounties already provided, very nearly sixty dollars to be paid to each volunteer at the time of his enlistment, affording him an ample provision for the immediate necessities of his family. This course has already been extensively adopted in the Eastern and even in some of the Western States. The whole sum so appropriated would be but $1,500; and what tax-payer would grudge that sum to enable St. Paul to do her whole duty in the present crisis of the nation; and to avoid the disgrace and inconvenience of a draft among her citizens.

The same argument applies with equal force to the other cities and town, and to the counties of the State. Let the public spirited men of the different counties take hold of this matter. In many of the counties the quota is so small that it would be but a trifling outlay, and could be made up, if need be, by individual contributions.

Let our whole people bear in mind that a draft is highly probable; that if it is applied to the nation at large, Minnesota can only escape by proving that she has filled up voluntarily the one regiment asked for by the President, under his call for 300,000 men.

It will also be the interest of the business men of the State to follow the example already so worthily set by one or two citizens and from their individual means offer bounties to a limited number of volunteers. This will swell the aggregate bounties and will infuse energy and life into the mode of recruiting.

Some persons have argued, and not without a show of reason, that Minnesota should not be stripped of any more men; that she is too young and needs too much her laboring population. But it must be remembered that South Carolina, with a white population of but little more than our own State, has furnished 20,000 men to aid in the work of breaking down our Government; while Minnesota has furnished but 5,500 men to defend it. Nor must it be forgotten that in the first year after this war is successfully ended Minnesota will grow more rapidly than she will in ten years during its continuance.

Let the volunteering be pressed forward; and at every cost of energy, labor, money or present inconvenience. Let the quota of Minnesota be made up and the State saved the disgrace of a conscription.

OPINIONS OF GEN. McCLELLAN.

Samuel Wilkinson, Esq., the able correspondent of the New York Tribune, has been quoted from extensively in defense of McClellan. The editor of the State Atlas, whose position at Washington affords excellent opportunity to be informed, has a long letter in his paper of the 16th instant, on the McClellan controversy, from which we extract the following touching Mr. Wilkinson's opinion.

And now a few words about "S. W." or Samuel Wilkinson of the Tribune, from whom the Pioneer quotes. I know Mr. Wilkinson, well. He is my friend, and as such I esteem him. He is a man of genius, of talent, but quick, fiery and impulsive. It was my pleasure to accompany him when he went to Yorktown as the army correspondent of the Tribune, and I spent several days with him there. I know that before we went to Yorktown and up the time I left him there, he entertained but a low estimate of McClellan as a military man. And since his return he assures me as vehemently as ever, that he regards McClellan as entirely and totally unfit for the position he occupies. The impressions he had formed of the General's incompetency from reading and the knowledge he had of what was going on at the War Department here, have, he assures me, been more than confirmed by personal observation on the field. But McClellan's fitness to command, was not the question at issue. He was, whether properly or not, at the head of the army. The army needed reinforcements and he said so, but because the government, with only 40,000 men at its command did not send 100,000, "S. W." flew into a fit of passion, and accused President Lincoln and Congress of attempting to destroy the army. "S. W." wrote as he did because of his impulse and rashness.

THE MAIL TO MONTICELLO AND ABOVE.

WRIGHT COUNTY, July 14, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press.

Since the first instant, we have exulted in daily communication with the "rest of mankind." For this boon we are indebted to the enterprise of Messrs. Burbank and Merriam, to whom all thanks. Private effort, at last, has accomplished what our Representatives failed to secure from the General Government.

Burbank's coaches now run from Minneapolis to Anoka on the west side, thence to Monticello on the east side, and from that place through Clearwater to St. Cloud on the west side. This new arrangement accommodates nearly all the business on the river, as well as about seven-eighths of the citizens. But the coaches do not yet bring the mail; the PRESS, however, more prized than all mail matter, arrives regularly on the front seat, and is warmly welcomed as a messenger of good tidings.

We are patiently waiting for the Post Office Department to order the daily mail to be carried from the coaches from Orlando, in Sherburne county, through Monticello and Clearwater to St. Cloud; and the tri-weekly, now carried by our daily coaches, to be transferred to the east side. The cost to the Government would be but little, if any, more than at present, and the change would give to Wright and Stearns counties the mail facilities which their large and increasing population demands. Your zeal in showing up the various defects in the present mail arrangement is appreciated and commended. We trust you will continue to give the subject an airing, and bear in mind that your friends this way don't like to be left out in the cold.

LAKE SUPERIOR TRADE.

SUPERIOR CITY, July 4, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

I am constantly receiving letters from parties in Minnesota, asking information as to driving cattle to Superior for the copper mines, &c., some of them displaying great want of geographical knowledge. The distance from St. Paul to Superior is one hundred and sixty miles; from Sunrise to Superior one hundred and ten miles; stages tri-weekly, roads first-rate. Superior City is one hundred and sixty miles from Ontonagon as the steamers run—time about twelve hours; schooners with a favorable wind have carried timber, cattle, etc., from Superior to Ontonagon in twenty hours. The population of Ontonagon county is about five thousand. It exports copper to over one million dollars in value per annum. The lumber for their new smelting works was recently shipped from Superior city. Eagle River is sixty-five miles from Ontonagon; Eagle Harbor eight miles further; Copper Harbor sixteen miles from Eagle Harbor. Houghton, and Hancock, on Portage Lake, are about one hundred and fifty miles as the steamers run, from Ontonagon; but the distance from Ontonagon via the stage road is some fifty miles. These towns, situated opposite each other on Portage Lake, have become the most important and thriving towns of Lake Supirior, and the largest exporters of copper. The population of the Portage Lake region is about eight thousand. This is the best market we have for lumber, potatoes, cattle, etc. The miners pay cash mostly for their purchases. Detroit shipped to Lake Superior ports in 1860, about 2,275 cattle, 423 hogs, 552 sheep, 528,324 pounds of butter, 22,947 pounds of flour, 107,828 bushels of oats, etc. The distance to Ontonagon is about eight hundred miles, time three days, fare ten dollars per head on cattle; against one hundred and sixty miles from Superior to Ontonagon, and fare about five dollars per head; this rate would be less were there a certainty of a large supply. Therefore add the ten dollars freight to the Detroit or Chicago market price, which will give about the nett cost landed at either Portage Lake or Ontonagon. Beef retails from ten cents to a shilling per pound for best pieces. The capacious town-site of Superior presents unlimited quantities of pasturage of the very best description, free to every drover. The steamer Planet arrived July 2d, with Detroit papers four days old; the St. Paul stage the next afternoon, with next day's papers.

R.

THE LAKE SUPERIOR RAIL ROAD.

The following is the resolution in full which has passed Congress, as noticed in yesterday's PRESS, changing the land grant of the Minnesota and Pacific Rail Road, so as to aid a road to Lake Superior:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That so much of that part of the Rail Road Grant to Minnesota Territory, by act of Congress approved 3d March, 1857, which extends Northwesterly from the intersection of the both Standard Parallel with the 4th Guide Meridian, there shall be granted to be State of Minnesota, the alternate sections within the six miles limits of such new branch line of route as the authorities of the State may designate, having its South-westerly terminus at any point on the existing line between the falls of Saint Anthony and Crow Wing, and extending in a Northwesterly direction to the waters of Lake Superior, with a right of indemnity between the fifteen mile limits thereof, provided this act shall take effect from the filing, in the General Land Office, of the acceptance by the authorities aforesaid of such substitution—whereupon the land North of the intersection aforesaid in the grant as authorized by the said act of 3d March, 1857, being released by said acceptance, disencumbered of the Rail Road Grant, shall be dealt with as other public lands of the United States.

Supreme Court---Syllabus of Decisions

John J. Shanblint and Henry Shanblint, vs. George W. Lay, et al.

A sheriff having attached certain real property of the judgment debtor, proceeds to sell on execution, but advertises and sells under an erroneous description, intending, however, to sell the property attached. The judgment creditor purchases at the sale, in the belief that he is purchasing the property attached, and wholly ignorant of the error in the description. It afterwards appears that the judgment debtor has no manner of title or claim to the property as described in the advertisement, and certificate of sale. Held, that a court of equity will relieve from the mistake.

William H. Strong, vs. Felix Meagher and Robert M. Foster.

In an action brought under the Statute to determine a conflicting claim to real estate, a denial of the plaintiff's possession forms an issue that must be tried; and it is error to enter judgment until such issue is determined. The record of a deed for the conveyance of lands in this State, executed in the presence of but one witness only, cannot be admitted in evidence.

Justus C. Ramsey, appellant, vs. Charles Merriam, et al., respondent.

In a mortgage foreclosure by advertisement, the amount claimed to be due at the date of the notice, should be the sum legally due, but a trifling excess in such amount arising from mistake, and not of sufficient magnitude to deter bidders, will not vitiate the sale. Any amount within the terms of the security, may be claimed in the notice. The case of Spencer vs. Annan, 4 M. R. 542., approved.

It is not essential to the validity of a notice of sale in a foreclosure by advertisement, that it should be dated; when it is dated, the time so fixed will be taken as the true date. When nothing appears upon its face evidencing the date, the time of its first appearance by publication will be the date.

A mortgagee may become the purchaser at a mortgage sale of land under a power that runs to himself, provided the sale is made in good faith by the Sheriff in accordance with the provision of the statute.

David B. Dodge, plaintiff in error, vs. Ellen R. Hollinshead, defendant in error.

The certificate of a notary public to the acknowledgement of a deed, is not conclusive evidence of the facts certified to by him, but the same may be rebutted by proof.

If executed, acknowledged and delivered a mortgage upon certain real estate belonging to the wife. His wife signed the mortgage, and the notary certified that she acknowledged the same on a private examination, separate and apart from here husband. The facts proved that she had never in any manner acknowledged the same, and that she never received any part of the consideration named in the mortgage,—held, that the acknowledgement on the part of the wife required by statute, is an essential part of the execution of the instrument, without which no interest in the estate passes, and without such acknowledgment the mortgage is invalid so far as the separate estate of the wife is concerned.

The State of Minnesota vs. John O'Connel.

An indictment for rape charging that A. B. on &c., "in this county of Wright did feloniously ravish, and forcibly and against her will carnally know one C. D., a woman of the age of ten years and upwards, against the peace and dignity of State," is sufficient.

It is not necessary to allege the crime to have been committed at any particular place within the county named; nor that the words "forcibly and against her will," should follow the word ravish: the latter is the essential word, and imports not only force and violence on the part of the man, but resistance on the part of the woman; nor is it essential to charge an assault in terms. The statute authorizes the jury to convict for an assault with intent to commit a rape, on the trial of such an indictment, and upon such conviction, the punishment is prescribed by section 40 of chapter 89, Com. Stat. 706.

An indictment for rape should not conclude contra formam statute.

A. McELRATH, Dep'y Clerk.

Negro Worshippers.

The Republicans are sneeringly called by their political opponents, "negro worshippers." This a very silly misnomer and as absurd as silly. The controversy is not about negroes—but the political status of the negro. One side say that that the negro ought to be free, because he is a man, the other insists that he ought to be a slave because he is black or (yellow, as the case may be. The Republican argues that the colored man should be paid wages for his work, should be allowed to own himself and his family and to acquire property and enjoy the fruits of his labor. The doughfaces argue that he ought to work for another, and belong to another man who happens to be a shade whiter; that he should be chattel property to be bought and sold, bartered or beaten like the beasts of the field. The controversy is therefore about the relation the colored man shall hold in the scale of society. Shall he be be ranked as a being or brute? that's the question.

What the Republican "worships" is the attribute of freedom, and not the negro per se. What the doughface worships is the condition of servitude. He loves the negro, provided he is a slave, but hates him if he be free. Neither party have any especial sympathy or regard for the black man as an individual. The pride of race is perhaps among Republicans as doughfaces, but they are animated by ideas of natural justice, while their opponents are imbued with sentiments of wrong and injustice. There are no "negro worshippers" among white people; but there are freedom worshippers and slavery worshippers. Those who stigmatize the Republicans as negro worshippers are themselves invariably worshippers of slavery. A republican, therefore, is one who would endow the colored man with freedom rather than debase him to the level of a brute by making him a slave. And a doughface is one who would deprive the colored man of his inalienable right to liberty and the pursuit of happiness, rob him of his birthright, and sink him into the condition of chattle property. Such is the difference between the two parties on the question of human rights.—Chicago Tribune.

What the Union Men of the South Think of Ohio Secession Sympathizers.

The Nashville Union, after quoting the first resolution adopted by the Vallandighamite convention at Columbus, in which they affect to patronize the Constitution and the Union, remarks:

The other eight were taken up in denouncing the Administration and the Abolitionists. That is the business truly for loyal men to engage in at a time like the present. If the politicians and office hunters who composed that convention don't go where Ward's ducks went, at the next election, we are a poor prophet.

The Tennessee patriots have seen too much treason at home to be deceived by the pretenses of Northern traitors.

Discouraging Volunteering.

It is a disgraceful fact that in certain localities in this country there is a class of men—traitors at heart and disloyal in every instinct of their nature—who have made it their business during the past year to abuse the Government, and in every possible manner to discourage volunteering, and even going so far as to declare their design to join the rebel army, and threaten a revolution in their neighborhoods should the Government resort to a draft for men. We are informed that such talk is indulged in openly and boldly.

We do not know whether or not we are making use of contraband intelligence; but we will take the responsibility of assuring these men that they and their conduct are known to Government officers, and that their conduct will not be tolerated. They are now forewarned. If persisted in, Washington county will be represented in Fort Warren or on the hangman's post. We know whereof we speak.—Stillwater Messenger.

Gen. Pope's Address.

Gen. Pope, it will be noticed by our dispatches, issued an address to his army on taking command. In his case, we have only to say that we hope the sword may prove with him mightier than the pen, for if he makes as questionable use of the former as he has of the latter in his address, he will certainly damage himself more than his enemies. If he had really thought the Western armies and Western Generals were so much superior to the Eastern, and that he was called from the West on purpose to give some little efficiency to Eastern forces, and to set an example, it occurs to us it would have been better not to say it, but to work it out in deeds more potent and more unmistakable than words.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says that General Joe. Burns, of Coshocton, late Democratic Congressman from that District, is collecting the pay of soldiers from that county who have died in the service; and he endorses his certificates as having died in the "War of rebellion against the Confederate Southern States." It is needless to say that Joe. Burns is an out and out Vallandighamer and special friend of Medary, and is one of the leading Democrats of Coshocton county.

LATEST NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO ST. PAUL.

WINSLOW'S LINE.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

ITS POSITION UNCHANGED.

Main Force of the Enemy 15 Miles from our Lines.

McClellan's Advance Depends on Reinforcements.

The Times' army correspondent of July 15th, says the position of the main body of the army near Harrison's Landing remains unchanged. Yesterday a squadron of the 6th United States cavalry went out a mile beyond the picket line for the purpose of preventing a surprise to a fatigue party on duty at a feint in the rear.

The enemy's pickets were discovered half a mile in advance. For upwards of two hours the two parties sat on their horses watching movements of each other, until at length the enemy showed signs of hostility. The 6th allowed him to advance a few rods, and then gave him a volley from their carbines. A few shots were fired in return by the rebels, after which they galloped off to their original position. No one was injured on our side; the enemy lost three wounded and one taken prisoner.

The main force of the rebels is not less than 15 miles from our exterior line, that would locate them on Trent's and Gaines' Hills, the former of which is on the west, and the latter on the east side of the Chickahominy. The new base of operations will lead to our approaching Richmond from another quarter than that of Mechanicsville or Fair Oaks.

The public will readily perceive the direction most likely to be taken by the army; the only question is where will operations commence. Give us reinforcements and we will give you Richmond. Reinforcements have already arrived, but do not fear repletion. The more men we have, and the sooner they join us, the better it will be for themselves, the country, and the cause. The transport Vanderbilt with a flag of truce went up the river yesterday, for the purpose of bringing down our wounded and sick. She returned at a late hour last night with about 200 on board.

Engagements and Victories in Arkansas.

CHICAGO, July 16.

A special dispatch to the Tribune from Memphis, says Col. Fitch's command had an engagement with the rebels, numbering 450, on the morning of the 6th. The Federal loss is twenty-two in killed and wounded. Rebel loss eighty-four in killed, wounded and missing.

In another engagement on the night of the 7th, Col. Fitch captured all the enemy's camp equipage and provisions.

Both fights are said to have taken place within ten miles of Duvall's Bluff, where a large force of the rebels is said to be stationed.

A Bill passed Supplementary to the Confiscation Bill.

The President's Objections Removed.

HE SIGNS BOTH BILLS.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

The following is the bill which has passed both Houses, which removes the President's objections to the confiscation bill:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, &c. That the provisions of the third clause of the fifth section of an act to suppress insurrection, to punish treason and rebellion, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels, and other purposes, shall be so construed as not to apply to any act done prior to the passage thereof, nor to include any member of a State Legislature, or a Judge of any State court, who has not in accepting or entering upon the duties of his office, taken an oath to support the constitution of the so-called Confederate States of America, nor shall any punishment or proceeding under said act be construed as to work a forfeiture of the real estate of the offender beyond his natural life.

Gov. of New York Offers a Bounty for Volunteers.

BUFFALO, July 16.

The Gov. of New York has taken upon himself the authority at once to offer a State bounty of fifty dollars to each recruit and to provide an amount sufficient for that purpose—trusting to the next Legislature to legalize it.

Matters in the Shenandoah Valley.

Stonewall Jackson Expected.

Removing Army Stores from Winchester.

HARPER'S FERRY, July 15.

[Special to Tribune.]—Fears are entertained that we shall soon have trouble in consequence of the threatening appearance of matters at Winchester. The stores and all other valuables of the army have been safely removed here by way of the Potomac and Winchester railroad.

Various rumors are afloat in regard to the movements of the enemy. It is reported here that our pickets were driven in below Winchester last night in anticipation of danger, and the telegraph office at that place has been removed over a mile from the town, near fortifications.

The friends of the South here and at Martinsburg are acting as if they had heard good news and express their confidence that the rebels will make a raid into the valley as far as Winchester before many days. There seems to be a general impression that Winchester will be the scene of a fierce battle before a week. It is rumored that Jackson, with one half the large army he took to Richmond so suddenly, has returned and been reinforced by the numerous guerrilla bands about the country.

APOINTMENTS CONFIRMED.

A New Lot of Brigadiers.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

The Senate last night and this morning confirmed the following nominations:

Leonard Lottridge Deputy Postmaster at LaCrosse; A. H. Robinson, of Indiana, to be commissary of subsistence with the rank of captain of volunteers; Wm. D. Wilson, of Ohio, do.; Archibald C. Voorhees, of Indiana, do.; Edward S. Converse, of Ohio, do.; C. F. Buckingham, of Ohio, to be Brigadier General of volunteers; Col. Francis J. Heron, of Iowa, do.; Col. Morgan L. Smith, of the 8th Missouri, do.; Col. Charles Craft, of the 31st Indiana, do.; Col. Fitz Henry Warren, of Iowa volunteers, do.; Frederick Solomon, of Wisconsin, do.; Col. Jacob Ammen, of Ohio, do.; Col. J. W. Lill, of Ohio, do.; Henry Connelly, of New Mexico, to be Governor of the Territory of New Mexico.

The President has approved the confiscation act, and the act supplementary thereto. The President has also approved of various other bills of a public and private character.

FROM RICHMOND.

The Enemy in Great Numbers and Abundant Artillery.

NEW YORK, July 17.

The Herald's dispatch says that reliable advices received from Richmond, state that the rebel troops are in great numbers, with abundant artillery, and full of confidence.

It was thought there that our army would be overwhelmed on the Chickahominy, and the fact that it was not is attributed to the good Generalship of McClellan. The rebels planned to break our lines on Friday, and on the succeeding Monday, but did not succeed.

Judge of the United States Supreme Court Appointed.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

Sam. F. Miller, of Iowa, was to-night confirmed by the Senate as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Bonapartes and the Crown of Mexico.

On the death of Joseph Napoleon Bonaparte, elder brother of the first Napoleon, a notice of his life, entitled "Quelques mots sur Joseph Napoleon Bonaparte," was written by the present Emperor of the French, which may be found in vol. II. of his works. The following extract acquires especial interest from the peculiar attitude which France occupies just now in relation to the United States and Mexico:

Joseph saw his brother for the last time at Rochfort; he proposed to deliver himself, in his stead, to the English who, deceived by the resemblance, would suppose they were conducting the Emperor to England, whilst he might pass quietly to the United States. Napoleon refused, and the two brothers bade each other an eternal adieu; one departed for St. Helena, and the other for the United States of America. Here commences for Joseph a new life, which will be variously estimated, since it cannot entirely escape the political feeling by which France is divided even to this day. He fixed his residence at Point Breeze, near Philadelphia, where he soon acquired the influence and the esteem which are derived from an illustrious name, an ample fortune, simple and prepossessing manners, and large generosity.

While Joseph was living tranquilly on the shores of the Delaware, thinking only of the well-being of those who surrounded him, he received a proposition as surprising as it was touching. A deputation of Mexicans came to offer him the crown of Mexico. The former King of Naples and Spain replied to the deputation nearly in these terms: "I have worn two crowns and would not take a step to wear the third. Nothing can be more flattering to me, than to see men, who, when I was at Madrid, were willing to recognize my authority, coming to seek me in my exile to place me at their head; but I do not believe that the throne which you wish to elevate anew can secure your happiness. Every day that I pass upon the hospitable soil of the United States only serves to convince me of the excellence of republican institutions for America. Cherish them, then, as a precious gift of Providence. Stay your intestine quarrels, imitate the United States, and seek among your own fellow-citizens a man more capable than myself to play the part of Washington."

JOHN BULL AS PECKSNIFF.—The language of Palmerston, Gregory, and others, in the British Parliament, in regard to the brutality of Americans in this war, calls to mind what Napier says of Badajos after Wellington had defeated the French and entered the city. Napier says:

"Now commenced that wild and desperate wickedness which tarnished the lustre of the soldier's heroism. Shameless rapacity, brutal interference, savage lust, cruelty and murder, shrieks and piteous lamentations, groans, shouts, and imprecations, the hissing of fires bursting from the houses, the crashing of doors and windows, the reports of muskets used in violence, resounded for two days and nights in the streets of Badajos. On the third day, when the city was sacked, when the soldiers were exhausted by their own excesses, the tumult rather subsided than was quelled. The wounded men were then looked to, and the dead buried."

THEY ARE COMING.—A few days since the steamer H. S. Allen brought up some thirty Norwegian families, fresh from their fatherland, who are seeking permanent homes in the St. Croix Valley. They are the pioneers of several hundred other families who will be along during the season. This is a class of emigration that will be most heartily welcomed to this north-western land.—Stillwater Messenger.

HON. GEO. W. JULIAN announces himself for re-election in a card to the voters of the Fifth Indiana Congressional District. He says:

I shall stand by the flag of Republicanism, and, with the President and Congress, I shall advance, rather than retreat, from the ground on which I have heretofore stood. Vital principles are never to be surrendered. But I shall support the State ticket nominated June 18. In a time like this the voice of a mere partisan should be hushed. All party feeling should be given up, and wherever a Union of Democrats and Republicans can be formed on a proper basis, and in a way to aid in crushing rebellion, I am very decidedly for it. I would not therefore have the popular nomination for Congress made exclusively by those who have been known as Republicans, but would include all who are in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war, who refuse to be identified with the present party in Indiana represented by the State Convention of last January, and who, as the best means of accomplishing their purpose, will sustain the Administration in the leading measures of its policy.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

About the President's Mysterious Visit to McClellan's Army---The Outgivings about a more Vigorous Policy---Lew. Wallace gives a Soldier's Notions about Arming Slaves, and sundry other Matters---Fearful Losses in our Army before Richmond.

Correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

THE FACTS ABOUT LINCOLN'S TRIP TO M'CLELLAN'S ARMY.

The President's sudden visit to the Peninsula, like his recent one to West Point, affords the quid-nunes abundant matter for speculation. Of course there are abundant reasons given for it, and at least a dozen journals have each a "special" revelation as to its cause and objects. And of course, too, none of them know anything about it, beyond two or three current facts.

To those facts the public have a right; they can then speculate on them at will and according to their individual tastes.

It is known, then, that Mr. Lincoln's visit was more immediately prompted by the reception of an important dispatch from General McClellan. It is known that the contents of that dispatch were, for some reason or other, regarded by the President as of a very alarming nature. And it is known that at least one Cabinet member received such an impression from the President's explanations about it, as to declare that Mr. Lincoln was very greatly alarmed lest McClellan's whole army should be surrendered to the enemy, or should meet with some almost equally serious disaster, and that it was of the first importance that he should hurry down there as speedily as possible.

On such facts of course, conjecinres and rumors swarm. I do not choose to add to their number or circulation.

THE EXPECTATION OF A CHANGE OF ADMINISTRATION POLICY.

It is known that, in response to the most earnest and urgent representations from the men who made and who support the Administration, Mr. Lincoln promised, before his departure, that, as Schuyler Colfax pithily expressed it last night, "henceforth the war shall be conducted on war principles." Whether, however, the President's change of heart on this subject is sufficiently radical to warrant the expectations that earnest Congressmen have formed, or whether it is likely to stand proof against the influence of McClellan's antagonistic views, when presented in person, and with all the influence he is known to possess over Lincoln, is a more doubtful matter.

But there is no question that Mr. Lincoln's truest supporters have been led to believe that he has at least convinced himself of the folly of rose-water warfare, and is about to inaugurate an important change of policy. In this light, the speeches last evening, at the serenade to Major-General Wallace, possessed peculiar significance.

LEW. WALLACE'S RESPONSE TO THE SERENADE.

The General's own remarks were in admirable taste—complimentary to Indianians, as was deserved; just to the comrades in arms he had left behind him, "to whom he was indebted for the distinction this honor of theirs conferred;" and full of a soldier's straight forward manliness of speech concerning the necessities and demands of the hour.

He was in favor of using negroes for military purposes, of course. Would not any General be crazy, who should, in a desperate struggle, reject valuable assistance? He would use them mainly in doing the work for which their constitutions fitted them—trenching, fortifying, road-making, cooking—but of course he would arm them. Would it be just or generous to put them thus into common peril with other soldiers, and yet deny them the means of defending themselves? He would use rebel property wherever he could make it available for the comfort and advantage of the soldiers. Should we diligently save food for the rebel army, while it was trying to destroy us? Of course he would not guard and protect the institution of slavery so as to leave four millions of slaves diligently raising their crops and managing all their business and agricultural affairs, while the masters were thus liberated from cares at home, that they might go to war against us.

When Jeff. Davis agreed that, on his proposed invasion of the North, he would scrupulously protect four millions of our operatives and laborers, guard our crops they were raising and the mills and arsenals they were managing for the Northern armies, and see to it that they should be wholly unmolested in any fortune of war that might befall us—then he might be a little nearer to taking into consideration the propriety of scrupulously guarding and sustaining our enemy's system of negro slavery. He was in favor of a law for drafting, to be resorted to in case of need. The rebels were more successful, because more desperate than we. If the cry that came up to us from James river were true, our Government itself was in danger, and it was time that we were resorting to desperate measures, too.

The General's fine soldiery appearance and his manly frankness of speech, made a most favorable impression, and the exuberantly jubilant Indianians were delighted at finding their favorite "Lew. Wallace," as they love to call him, carrying even the conservative Washingtonians by storm.

SIGNIFICANCE OF COLFAX'S REMARKS.

Schuyler Colfax's speech pointedly referred to the Republican expectation of a more vigorous Administration policy, and was regarded as the forerunner of the change referred to. His emphatic declarations that hereafter, we were to make WAR, were received with an unbounded applause, that told how the heart of the audience went.

UNRELIABLE ESTIMATE OF OUR LATE LOSSES BEFORE RICHMOND.

The return of Surgeon General Hammond from the Peninsula has given us more light than official bulletins have permitted to escape concerning our recent losses. I shall not give the effective strength to which he declares McClellan's army is reduced, as that might still, notwithstanding the recent re-inforcements, be important for the rebels to know; but deducting the strength now from the strength a week before the late battles, we have a deficit of twenty or twenty-five thousand men! The figures are startling—how eloquently they glorify that Strategy of Delays which wins brilliant successes without loss of blood, the public can judge.

MATTERS AT THE CAPITAL.

THE ADMISSION OF WESTERN VIRGINIA

The President's Message on the Freedom of Slaves.

HIS PROCLAMATION OF AMNESTY

THE BUELL-MITCHELL IMBROGLIO.

DON CARLOS DISLIKES HURTING REBELS

A Flight of Capital Rumors.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 14, 1862.—The bill which the Senate passed to-day for the admission of Western Virginia is identical with the bill before the House on the same subject. It differs from Mr. Wade's bill in not including the valley of Virginia in the limits of the new State, and in not requiring a new Constitutional Convention. The bill as passed requires the late Wheeling Convention to re-assemble and insert a clause in the constitution reading as follows: "No person born within the limits of this State, after March 4th, 1863, shall ever be held as slaves, nor after such time shall slaves be permitted to come into the State for permanent residence therein: Provided, that all the slaves within the limits of said State at the time aforesaid under ten years of age shall be free when twenty-one, and all over ten and under twenty-one shall be free when twenty-five. When this clause shall have been ratified by a popular vote, the President shall issue a proclamation stating the fact, and sixty days thereafter the act of admission take effect."

Mr. Carlisle made violent opposition to the passage of the bill in this shape. He wanted the slavery question "let alone." His colleague, Mr. Willey, was equally warm for its admission under those provisions. Notwithstanding this unexpected opposition of Carlile as well as of Trumbull and others, the bill passed by a handsome majority.

It is thought its chances in the House are good.

The judiciary committee on the resolution proposing the expulsion of Senator Simmons for taking $50,000 for his influence in securing a gun contract for Schuwarth, makes no recommendation in the case, but says there was no law against such practice at the time of that transaction, and doubts whether retro-active pumishment of expulsion for an act that was not then illegal would be expedient. They also say that the uniform practice of Congress was as bad, or worse up to 1853. There is no prospect of Simmons' expulsion now.

The President's message proposing the form of a law which he wants Congress to pass at once, about emancipacipation, merely completes all the forms in his offer of gradual emancipation to border States. If it passes, well informed parties insist that the President will then immediately issue his proclamation before referred to, offering amnesty to rebels laying down their arms in the border States, and ordering generals to make whatever military use of negroes they can, and giving the latter their freedom therefor.

A message arrived to-day from Gen. Buell's army with voluminious charges against Major Gen. Mitchell. It is understood that these charges relate to pillage by our soldiers in the town of Athens, Alabama, which is said to have been almost ruined, notwithstanding the fact it was Union, even till after Bull Run. It is also charged that many other outrages have been committed by troops under Mitchell's command and with his knowledge, and that Mitchell has been insubordinate. It is the general belief here that the chief trouble in the case is because Mitchell's system of war involves hurting the rebels and leaves the burden of supporting the army as much upon the seceded as upon loyal States. It should be remembered that bad feeling has long existed between Buell and Mitchell, and that two of Buell's division commanders, McCook and Nelson have long been violent in their hatred to him. These things, it is thought, may have a share in causing the present difficulties. All sorts of rumors continue in circulation about the change in the administration policy; change in the cabinet; change among generals or change of some sort.

It is persistently repeated that McClellan is in some way to be removed or transferred, and that Burnside is to succeed him. It is known that the stories on the President's return of his being entirely satisfied with General McClellan were highly colored, and it is reported that McClellan is very indignant because Burnside's troops were not sent up the river as he alleged was promised. Other reports have it that within ten days there will be important changes in both eastern and western departments, and still others that the President's rumored change of policy is to be sweeping in its effects and speedily forthcoming.

Out of all this probably nothing is absolutely certain except that important changes of some sort are in the wind.

It is not supposed that the President's bill about providing funds for gradual emancipation, sent in his special message to-day, stands any chance of passage this session.

FROM THE PACIFIC.

ARRIVALS OF GOLD FROM NORTHERN MINES.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.

There was a grand torch light procession at San Francisco last evening in honor of the passage of the Pacific Railroad Bill. Many houses were illuminated.

The steamer from Northern coast yesterday brought $260,000 in gold from Oregon and British Columbia. Accounts on the whole are encouraging to believers in extensive gold in the partly explored North. The season is not sufficiently advanced to permit much development of the Cariboo mines of British Columbia.

BONNER'S FAST TEAM.—The New York Tribune says:

Mr. Bonner has again startled the sporting world with his famous horse Lantern. Mack drove Lantern with Ethan Allen as a running mate, to a wagon on 250 pounds, around the Fashion track, with three of the best watches in the city upon them.

The time made was: Half-mile, 1 minute 7 seconds; mile, 2 minutes 20 seconds

This is the best time with neck weight on record, and entitles Mr. Bonner to all the pleasurable pride which he takes in his unbeaten, unmatched stable of racers, here or anywhere.

FROM GEN. M'CLELLAN'S ARMY.

The Rebel Main Line Five or Six Miles from Ours---Stonewall Jackson---Firing on our Transports---An Important Capture.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

HARRISON'S LANDING, Va., July 8.—A balloon observation yesterday morning discovered the fact that the rebels are encamped to the southwest of us, and some twelve miles distant from this point; their main line being from five to six miles to that of ours.

The ground occupied by them is a gentle undulating hill and dale, densely covered by woods, their line reaching all the way from Richmond to Malvern Hill, the battle ground of Tuesday last.

From information derived from contrabands and deserters, it is known that the enemy is being rapidly and largely reinforced, and the sole cause of their present unusual quiet, in all probability, arises from the fact that their leaders are too busy in concocting some plan and devising some means to prolong this unholy rebellion to give much attention to the inauguration of battles.

Stonewall Jackson, the notorious leader of an equally notorious guerrilla band, who, until within the past week, has been hovering about our flanks, appears now to have located on the other side of the James river, and is prowling about owl-like at night from a point four or five miles from here to the same distance below, and, whenever an opportunity offers, he manages to do, in a greater or less degree, some damage for the Union.

Rebels on the banks of the James river are becoming very annoying to our transports. For several days past they have fired upon the mail boats and steamers with sick and wounded men, doing, however, no damage. They run down light artillery, six and twelve pounders, and conceal themselves in the bushes until a vessel comes along, when they open fire. So soon as a gunboat heaves in sight they limber up and scamper out of range. In this way they may be able to subject us to serious inconvenience, if no actual loss of life and property.

The capture of the gunboat Teaser turns out to be of more importance than was at first anticipated. In addition to having on board some six hundred feet of submarine cable and a rebel balloon, there was found among her papers a chart, showing the point at which all obstructions, infernal machines, torpedoes, &c., on both the James and Appomatox rivers are located, the nature of such obstructions, their extent and the benefits likely to accrue to the rebels from their being so placed.

Letter from Gen. Banks.

The following is the letter of Major General Banks to Mr. Gooch, of the House of Representatives, relating to the resolution of June 16th, offered by Mr. Voorhees, of Indiana, directing the committee on the conduct of the war to inquire whether persons of color were allowed government transportation on Gen. Banks' retreat from Strasburg:

WINCHESTER, July 19th, 1862.

Hon. D. W. Gooch:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your inquiry I have the honor to say that there is no foundation of fact for the statement contained in the resolutions inclosed to me. No person not belonging to the army, white or black, was allowed to occupy or use government transportation of any kind on the march of my command from Strasburg. If any instance occurred, it was, with one exception, not only without authority, but against orders, and has not yet come to my knowledge. Citizens, traders, refugees and fugitives were protected in the occupancy of their own wagons, and allowed to move with the government train, in order, no further. The rear guard, infantry and artillery, halted in the rear of Martinsburg from ten o'clock till evening. When at considerable distance on our march, we overtook a small party on foot. My attention was attracted by a little girl, about eight years of age, who was toddling over the stones by the way-side, and I asked her how far she had traveled. "From Winchester," she said. We were then about twenty-seven miles on our march. I requested the cannoneers to give her a lift, and the gallant men, who had hung upon the rear of the column for its defense the greater part of the distance, answered with alacrity. No successful efforts were made to ascertain her complexion, but it is not impossible that she belonged to the class referred to in the resolution, and that her little limbs had been strengthened by some vague dream of liberty, to be lost or won in that hurried night march.

I have the honor to be,
with much respect,
Your obedient servant,
N. P. BANKS, Major-Gen. Com.

Odd Illustration in America of the Habits of the Northmen.

Those who remember Bayard Taylor's account of the customs of North Europe, will not be surprised at the following from the last Winona Republican:

On last Friday there were landed on our levee by the steamer Milwaukee a party of about sixty Norwegians, consisting of men women and children. Immediately after setting foot upon our shore, they looked around them and with one voice exclaimed: We have reached our Eldorado! Behold those sublime bluffs, this grand river, that beautiful prairie, and handsome city! It is not good that we should thus remain in an unpurified condition; let us plunge into these sparkling waters; let us divest ourselves of these wornout habiliaments; let us array ourselves in clean raiment, and let our hearts be glad, for surely this is the promised land. No dissenting voice was heard, but with one accord the man, the matron, and the maid proceeded, in the presence of scores of persons at work, and sauntering upon the levee, to divest themselves of their apparel, displaying to the gaze of the admiring connoisseurs, their manly, matronly, and maidenly forms, seemingly unconscious that there was any impropriety in their very comfortable state of nudity.

After thus going through this public ablusion, to their own and the spectators satisfaction, there were teams in readiness for them and their effects, in which they took passage to Highland Praire, where they will engage in agricultural pursuits. Although simple and rude in their manners, these people are frugal, industrious and honest, and their labor will add to the material wealth of our young and growing State.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children addicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $129,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over nine hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $829,993.33. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,578.65 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,900,-000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, it managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John McGee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the cash company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,253.08, against an actual liability of only $55,080.43; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,434.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $916,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,715,000, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $320,636. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $106,715,148, taking $829,993 premium, and paid losses $255,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $160,644 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in wh

THE CITY.

Our excursionist visitors, in large numbers, took a trip to the Falls of St. Anthony and the lakes in Hennepin county yesterday.

Presbytery.—The Presbytery of Minnesota convened at the House of Hope Church in this city on Tuesday evening. They resumed and closed their labors the next day.

Dr. A. E. Ames, of Minneapolis, has been appointed Surgeon of Volunteers, and ordered to report himself at Washington, for which place he has already departed.

A Screamer.—A colored individual who travels about town with a hand cart vending solidified cream, makes known his business, with his voice at a high key—"I scream— I scre-e-eam, for five cents."

Backed Down.—The lowest and successful bidder for the contract for the rations at Fort Snelling, has backed down, also the bidder next to him. Whether the next bidder will come forward and execute the contract is not yet determined.

Personal.—Hon. J. C. Fast, member of the House of Representatives from Hennepin county, was in town yesterday. He says the prospect of the wheat crop in his section of the county is very fine, up to the standard of 1859.

Cool.—We like cool weather this time of year. It is good for our ripening crops of wheat, and it is handy to get about town in; but we submit that yesterday was a little too much so. If a Hoosier had been among us, he would have certainly pronounced it "too cold for cawn."

Ingersoll's Hall.—Present appearances indicate a large attendance at this popular Hall, this evening, to witness the initial entertainment of Mr. Robert Heller, whose celebrity and world-wide reputation have preceded him. Our citizens are on the qui vive, fully expecting an entertainment surpassing in merit and attraction anything of the kind that ever before visited St. Paul. The numerous and flattering notices of Mr. Heller that have appeared in the most respectable of our exchanges, warrant the high expectations and justify the belief that we will not be disappointed.

Installation of Rev. Mr. Noble.—The services at the installation of Rev. F. A. Noble as Pastor of the House of Hope Church, on Wednesday, were very impressive, and was numerously attended. The order of service was as follows:

1. Anthem: "How lovely is Zion."
2. Reading the Scriptures and Prayer: by Rev. G. H. Pond, of Oak Grove.
3. Singing: "Sons of Zion, raise your songs."
4. Sermon, by Rev. John Mattocks, of St. Paul.
5. Singing: "How beauteous are their feet."
6. Presiding and putting Constitutional Questions, by Rev. J. C. Whitney, of Minneapolis.
7. Ordaining and Installing Prayer, and Charge to Pastor, by Rev. Marcus Hicks, of St. Cloud.
8. Charge to the People, by Rev. Richard B. Ball, of Stillwater.
9. Singing: "We bid thee welcome."
10. Benediction, by the Pastor.

P. S.—After the above was in type, a friend kindly furnished us a more full account of the installation, which we are obliged to defer till to-morrow.

River Items.—The arrivals since our last report, have been the Milwaukee, from Dunleith, and the Ariel and Clara Hine from Carver.

The Northern Belle and Rasca left for ports below yesterday morning, the former for La Crosse and the latter for Dunleith. The Clara Hine and Anchopee left for Carver.

The down packets this morning are the Milwaukee for Dunleith, and Favorite for La Crosse.

The Ariel will leave this afternoon for Mankato.

The Wm. L. Ewing is expected in today from St. Louis.

Council Proceedings.—A special meeting of the Council was held yesterday morning, having been called by the Mayor to consider the report of the special committee on the Owatonna Road, and the propriety of extending the contract and the issuing of Bonds to the contractors for the last estimate.

A resolution was adopted for the issuing of a Bond for $1,158.98 in payment of the last estimate, and another resolution in connection with the above was also adopted extending the time for the completion of the contract to the 15th of November next, and if the contractors do not accept the same, requesting the Mayor not to approve the resolution, issuing the Bonds.

A resolution was also adopted requesting the Engineer to report an estimate for timber for a bridge on said road near McShane's.

PAINTING THE BRIDGE.

The committee on Public Buildings was directed to prepare specifications for the painting of the Bridge, in accordance with the special report of the committee on this matter, and that said specifications be placed on file in the city Clerk's Office.

PAYMENT OF MR. BANKER.

A resolution was adopted paying Mr. Banker the sum of $100, in full for his claim for furnishing "owners' names" to property in the city and county for assessment purposes.

TO RENT.

The commodious residence of the Rev. Edward D. Neill, on Summit Avenue in this city. The house contains ten rooms, and large closets there are upon the premises a large barn and Carriage House, Ice House, fine Well and Cistern, &c., &c.

This is one of the choicest and most healthful localities in the city.

The furniture will be rented also—if desired possession given about the middle of September next.

General Headquarters, State of Minnesota.

Adjutant General's Office, St. Paul, Minn., July 17, 1862.

[General Orders No. Sixteen.]

In accordance with General Order of the War Department No. 75, current series, one Second Lieutenant for each Company in the Sixth Regiment will be appointed and mustered into the United States service, who shall have the authority to muster in recruits as they are enlisted. If any recruit shall be enlisted by such officer, who have been obviously unfit for the service at the time of his enlistment, all expenses caused thereby shall be paid by such officer, to be stopped against him from any payment that may be coming to him from the Government thereafter.

Any officer, thus appointed and mustered, shall only be entitled to be paid on the muster and pay roll of his Company, and he should fail to secure an organized Company within such reasonable time as may be specified in his letters of appointment, his men may be transferred to some other Company, his appointment be revoked and he discharged without pay; unless it should be deemed proper to give him a position in the consolidated Company to which his men have been transferred. Articles of enlistment, as in the regular army will be made out in triplicate by such recruiting officers, one copy of which will be sent to the Adjutant General of the State, one to the Adjutant of the Regiment, and one will be kept by the Recruiting officer.

Recruits will be sent to the regimental rendezvous at Fort Snelling at least as often as once a week, when they will be immediately examined by the Surgeon of the Regiment or the Post surgeon, and, if found unfit for duty by reason of permanent disability, will be discharged from the service forthwith by the Surgeon, who will report such discharges to the Adjutant General of the State, and also to the Adjutant of the Regiment, noting particularly those cases where the disability was obvious at the time of enlistment.

The muster-in-rolls of each Company will be made out by the Adjutant of the Regiment, from a list to be furnished by the Adjutant General of the State, together with the articles of enlistment furnished him by the recruiting officer, and will note upon it the names of all persons discharged by the Surgeon for permanent disability, designating particularly those cases where the disability was apparent at the time of enlistment.

All requisitions for quartermaster, medical and ordnance stores must be presented to the Adjutant General of the State for his approval. Persons traveling under the order of the Governor of this State on business connected with the recruiting service, will be allowed the actual costs of transportation, to be paid by the mustering and disbursing officer on presentation of the account accompanied by proper vouchers, and the order under which the journey was performed.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

OSCAR MALMROS, Adjutant General.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY.

One door East of Davenport's Bookstore, on Third Street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK, KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carry either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, which, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

A SMALL EMIGRATION DOCUMENT.

A circular by the Commissioner of Statistics, entitled "Free Homes in Minnesota," and which condenses a great many leading facts about Minnesota in the compass of a page of letter paper, is in type at this office, and will be printed without charge for any one who will supply the paper. This is one of many forms by which the Commissioner of Statistics is endeavoring to diffuse abroad a knowledge of the advantages which Minnesota offers for settlement under the Homestead, and as it costs no one anything but the trouble of bringing their letter paper to this office, we hope our business men will generally "take a hand in" and push on the good work.

GENERAL ORDERS—NO. 26.

Headquarters Army of the Ohio, In Camp, near Florence, Ala., June 30, 1862.

There are 11,000 officers and soldiers absent from their duty with the various Divisions of this army. Some of them have gone off without any authority; others with the permission of officers not authorized to grant it. In general, sickness is given as the cause of absence, but in very many cases the cause has notoriously ceased to exist, and men remain away, drawing the same pay as their comrades who are faithfully performing their duty. To correct this abuse it is ordered—

1. All officers and soldiers who are absent without direct authority from these Headquarters, the period for which has not transpired, will, on or before the 10th of July, proximo, join their companies or regiments wherever they may be. If ignorant of their locality, they will report to the commanding officer at Louisville or Nashville, by whom they will be directed to their regiments, or put on such light duty as they may be able to perform. If they are not entirely fit for active service; and those will be promptly reported to their regimental commanders by the officer so assigning them.

The cases of those who fail to join as above required, will be disposed of as follows:

2. If any absent officer or soldier, in consequence of sickness or wounds, is absolutely unable to report for duty as above required, he will forward by mail to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville, Tennessee" a Certificate of Disability, according to the following form:

CERTIFICATE OF DISABILITY.

I declare on oath that I have carefully examined.....of Captain..... Company, Colonel.....Regiment of .....Volunteers, now at this place and under treatment by me, and find him incapable of performing the duties of a soldier for the following reasons: [Here state all the facts known concerning medical case or wound, or cause of disability; the time, place, manner, and all the circumstances under which the the injury occurred or disease originated; the duty or situation of the officer or soldier at the time the injury was received or disease contracted; and whatever facts may aid a judgment as to the cause, immediate or remote, of the disability, and the circumstances attending it.)

Place: (Signed).

Date: Surgeon [or Physician.]

Sworn and subscribed to before

This certificate must be subscribed and sworn to by a Surgeon or private Physician in good standing, and known as such by the magistrate or other officer by whom the oath is administered; and on it a discharge will be ordered from these Headquarters, or the case otherwise disposed of according to the circumstances.

3. The death of any officer or soldier which has occurred since the 1st of January last, while he was absent from his regiment or company, and which has been reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital in which the death occurred, or by the friends of the deceased if not in Hospital, will be immediately reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital, or by the affidavit of friends, to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville," setting forth the date of decease and other material circumstances.

4. All absent officers and soldiers who do not join their companies and regiments, or are not satisfactorily accounted for as above by the 10th of July next, will be reported on their muster-roll as deserters, dating from the time they may have been absent without authority.

By Act of Congress every deserter forfeits all claim on the Government for pay and allowances, besides being liable on arrest and trial by Court Martial. Any person who apprehends and returns a deserter to the commanding officer of a military post is entitled to five dollars.

By command of Major Gen. BUELL.

Legal Notices.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—BY VIRTUE of an execution to me directed and under the seal of the District Court of the Second Judicial District, in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, upon a judgment and decree rendered in said Court on the seventeenth day of May, A. D. 1862, and docketed on the seventeenth day of May, 1862, in said county of Ramsey, in an action in said Court pending, where in Ira Bidwell is plaintiff, and Orlando C. Randall, Jno. Randall, Elisha D. Randall, Herman Bingman, Mary Bingman, Andrew J. Lovering, and Wm. H. Morton are defendants, in favor of said plaintiff for the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty six dollars and sixty-six and two-third cents, the same being the amount of principal's fees as vendor on lots number seven (7) and twelve (12) in block number twenty (20) in Banfil and Randall's addition to St Paul, in Ramsey County, and State of Minnesota, to said real estate vendee against said Ira with interest from May, 1862, and seventy-two dollars and forty nine cents cost and charges on the 30th day of June, 1862, levy upon and take into my possession the said above described real estate.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that on the 28th day of July, 1862, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in the City of St. Paul in said county of Ramsey, I will sell the said real estate to the highest bidder for cash, according to the statute in such case made and provided, to satisfy said decree and execution, with interest and the costs thereon.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican electors of the several Wards and Townships of the County of Ramsey, and all others willing to unite with them in the support of the Government, and a vigorous prosecution of the war for the preservation of the Union, and opposed to those who gave aid directly to the traitors when they could, and now attempt to give aid indirectly by abuse of the Administration and its progressive measures, are requested to choose delegates to a County Convention to be held at the Court House on Monday the 28th inst., at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing eight delegates to represent said County in the District Convention to be held in St. Paul on the 30th inst., to place in nomination a suitable person to be supported by the electors of the Second Congressional District, for a Representative to Congress.

The several Wards and Townships will be entitled to the following representation, viz:

First Ward	3	delegates.
Second do	4	"
Third do	4	"
Fourth do	4	"
Fifth do	3	"

And the Townships to two delegates each.

The Committee would request that primary meetings for the election of said Delegates be held on Saturday the 26th inst., at the usual places of holding elections—in the various townships at 2 o'clock, P. M.—and in the several Wards at 8 o'clock, P. M.

THE ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.

Congress was to have adjourned Friday at twelve o'clock.

GOVERNOR RAMSEY.

The Cairo special dispatches of the Chicago Tribune, dated the 16th, say that Governor Ramsey arrived there from Corinth that night, on his way East.

COL. J. H. SIMPSON.

This officer, so well known and highly esteemed in St. Paul, is a prisoner in Richmond. The Richmond Inquirer of the 5th has a list of names of officers captured in the late battles, in which Col. Simpson's name appears correctly as respects rank and regiment—the 4th New Jersey. It is a great relief to know with certainty that he was not killed or wounded as was first reported.

FROM CAPT. FISK'S OVERLAND EXPEDITION.

D. McCauley, Esq., from Fort Abercrombie, arrived by stage from Red River Thursday evening. He reports all quiet and prosperous in the North.

An express was sent out to Captain Fisk's party on Thursday, the 10th inst. with mail matter, which had arrived at the Fort that day. The express overtook the party on Friday, fifteen miles from the Fort. All were well.

FROM THE THIRD REGIMENT.

Lieut. J. H. Swan, of Company I, Third Minnesota Regiment, came up on the McLellan last evening, having left that Regiment on Saturday. He, in company with Adjutant Blakeley, Sergeant Fox of Company A, Sergeant Hunt of Company B, Sergeant Holm of Company D, Corporal Baker of Company E, and private Arnold of Company G, had been detailed for recruiting service, with instructions to report to Captain Nelson, of St. Paul. They left the regiment the day before the attack, having no thought of an enemy being within fifty miles of them. They came to Nashville the same evening, where they stayed till Monday morning. At 10 o'clock on Sunday morning they heard of the attack and surrender of the Ninth Michigan. The rebels, all mounted, to the number of 3,000 or 4,000, dashed upon the town about daylight—having rode down the pickets—and into the camp of the Michigan regiment, taking them completely by surprise, not giving them even an opportunity to form. Colonel Duffield was wounded and captured in his room.

When the news of these transactions reached the Minnesota Third, at their camp one and a half miles from the town, on the Nashville road, Col. Lester immediately formed and went to their relief. After marching about half a mile, they were attacked by the enemy, who made a charge upon them. They awaited the charge until the enemy came within a few rods, when they opened upon him, with a deadly fire emptying the saddles by scores. Hewitt's Battery caught some twenty horses at the first fire, which came in riderless from the charge. The enemy then fell back, formed again, and made two more charges, meeting the same fate. This sickened them of that mode of fighting. They then went to skirmishing. In the meantime another portion of the enemy had dashed through and taken their camp, killing and wounding several of the guard.

Col. Lester being short of ammunition, commenced saving his powder, but at five o'clock he was completely out, and compelled to surrender. He sent word to Nashville if they would only send him ammunition, he would hold his ground a week.

These particulars Lieut. Swan obtained at Nashville from persons connected with the railroad, who had been down to and near Murfreesboro during the fight. Also from Mr. A. B. Cornell, sutler's clerk, who remained with the regiment up to the time of the surrender. He was engaged in scout duty during the day. Not liking to be gobbled up in the surrender, he started coatless, check shirt and pants and a rope in his hands to look for stray horses, in which condition he reached Nashville the same evening.

Company C was not included in the surrender, having been sent down the railroad 30 miles to Wartrace, on guard, duty the day before, though it was quite probable they would be taken, as they were expected back on Sunday.

It was supposed there were about a dozen killed, though the names of none of them could be learned. Major Matson and Capt. Rice were not in the fight. The Major had not yet returned from his visit home, though he was on his way. Capt. Rice was on duty at Nashville.

Mr. Rohrer, the sutler, it is believed, shared the fate of the regiment. He had but a small quantity of goods with him, having left them at Nashville, on account of the regiment being under marching orders.

JUSTICE OF THE U. S. SUPREME COURT FOR THIS CIRCUIT.

Our telegraphic dispatches yesterday informed us of the confirmation of Samuel F. Miller, of Iowa, as Associate Judge of the United States Supreme Court.

Minnesota is in Judge Miller's Circuit. The bill reorganizing the Supreme Court passed both branches of Congress on the 11th. It constitutes Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana Judge Catron's Circuit; Indiana and Ohio Judge Swayne's Circuit; Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan, the Eighth; and Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, and Missobri, the Ninth Circuit. For the last two named, new Judges were to appointed. Judge Miller fills the 9th.

There were three prominent candidates for the Judgships. Hon. Caleb Smith of Indiana, Secretary of the Interior, Senator Doolittle of Wisconsin and Senator Browning of Illinois.

By the junction of Indiana with Ohio, in Judge Swayne's circuit, the opponents of the elevation to the bench of Secretary Smith of the Interior Department, have succeeded in defeating him, and at the same time have avoided having Senator Browning for their Judge.

By the union of Wisconsin with Illinois, either Senator Browning or Senator Doolittle is out of the question, and Michigan was added in the expectation that her influence would defeat both. In the apprehension that she might not succeed in doing so, both her Senators opposed the bill finally agreed upon.

Senator Browning, whose prospects were, until he took ground against the most important Republican measures, considered the best, has been the Jonah of the bill, everybody trying to throw him overboard, Illinois members of Congress and others are signing a petition which is already in circulation for the appointment of Judge Drummond of Illinois, the present Circuit Judge to the seat of which Mr. Browning is a candidate.

THE FIGHT AT MURFREESBORO.

SURRENDER OF THE NINTH MICHIGAN AND THIRD MINNESOTA REGIMENTS.

STATEMENT OF ADJUTANT BLAKELEY.

Gallant Conduct of the Minnesota Third.

TWELVE MEN KILLED.

From the Louisville Journal, July 15.

We had an interview last evening with Lieut. C. H. Blakeley, Adjutant of the Third Minnesota, one of the regiments attacked at Murfreesboro on Sunday morning by Forest's cavalry. The force at Murfreesboro, as we learn from Lieut. Blakeley, consisted of six companies of the Michigan Ninth, two companies of the Fourth Kentucky, nine companies of the Minnesota Third, and four pieces of Hewitt's First Kentucky battery. The Ninth and the cavalry were encamped on the edge of the town, and the Third and the battery a mile and a half outside, on the Nashville pike. The forces are a part of the Twenty-third Brigade, which is commanded by Col. Duffield, lately of the United States forces of Kentucky. Gen. T. T. Crittenden assumed command of the post on Friday night.

The attack was made on Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, upon the cavalry and Michigan regiment, they being completely surprised. So large was the attacking party that the infantry could not form in line of battle, and, after fighting as best they could for several hours, the Michigan regiment surrendered. Our cavalry was of no assistance whatever; not a man mounted his horse, and but one or two escaped.

In the meantime a portion of the enemy had burned the railroad depot, freight-house, containing commissary stores, and a large warehouse containing forage and Quartermaster's stores. Having compelled the surrender of the cavalry and infantry in town, they broke for the battery. Colonel Lester had been advised of the attack, and placed the battery upon a knoll a quarter of a mile from his camp, with his own regiment to support it. The rebels passed around to the north of the camp, and, driving through it, burned the officers' tents and killed or wounded the guards. As they came out of the woods to make the attack, Col. Lester retained his fire until they were within forty paces of him, when the battery was opened upon them. They were completely disorganized, and retired in the greatest confusion. Upon the next charge the infantry and battery both fired, and the enemy was thrown into confusion a second time.

Not relishing such treatment, a portion of the rebels went round to the rear for the purpose of attacking us in the rear as well as in front. This, however, was of no avail, for Colonel Lester formed his men in a square, and Captain Hewett directed his pieces both ways.

A third attempt was made to cut the brave men to pieces, but the result was the same as before. The rebels retired for a while, and Captain Hewett turned his pieces upon the town, shelling it in the most approved style. It is said the town was badly damaged, and at last accounts was on fire in several places.

The fighting commenced again at noon, and continued unabated until 3 o'clock, when a flag of truce from the enemy appeared, stating that the Michigan 9th had surrendered early in the day, and demanded an unconditional surrender of the remainder of the forces. It is stated that a threat was also made, that, if Colonel Lester did not surrender, General Crittenden and Colonel Duffield—who were taken out of their beds by the enemy at the onset—would be immediately shot.

Colonel Lester rode into town, under protection of the flag of truce, and ascertained that he had to encounter a force of about four thousand, and that he could rely only on his own little handful of men to sustain himself. His ammunition, too, had nearly given out, the battery having only sixty-five rounds of case and solid shot, and the infantry but a few rounds of cartridges left. He returned, and, after a consultation with Captain Hewitt and his own officers, it was determined to surrender, which was done at about 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The only loss that we can learn among the officers is the killing of Capt. Rounds, of the Michigan Ninth. Neither the battery nor the Third Minnesota lost any officers. About twelve men of the Third were killed.

The strength of the rebels was about 4,000 cavalry—two Georgia and one Texas regiment being of the number.

Lieutenant Blakeley informs us that the rebels burned the railroad bridge at Murfreesboro, and the bridge near by.

ARMY CHANGES, APPOINTMENTS, &c.

Under the above head in the New York papers of the 14th, we find the following:

Capt. Earle S. Goodrich, aid-de-camp, United States Volunteers, will repair to St. Paul, Minnesota, and co-operate with the Governor of that State in raising and organizing volunteers.

Doubtless this a convenient arrangement of Capt. G's. to come home to attend to the political interests of his paper, which need adjusting for the fall campaign.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL MEETING.

An adjourned meeting, attended by about seventy Republican members of Congress, was held at Washington on the evening of July 12.

The Senate being in session at the time, but few Senators were present at the meeting.

An address, prepared by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, and signed by all the members of the committee appointed at the previous meeting, excepting Senator Howard, of Michigan, was read.

Mr. Colfax offered the following resolution as a substitute for the address:

Resolved, That we hold it to be the duty of all loyal men to stand by the Union in this hour of its trial—to unite their hearts and hands in earnest and patriotic efforts for its maintenance against those who are in arms against it—to sustain with determined and indomitable resolution, our President and his Administration, in their most energetic efforts for the prosecution of the war, and the preservation of the Union against enemies, at home or abroad—to punish traitors and treason with fitting severity, and to crush the present wicked and causeless Rebellion, that no flag of disunion shall ever again be raised over any portion of the Republic; that to this end we invite the co-operation of all men who love their country, in the endeavor to rekindle throughout all the States such a fire as utterly consume all who strike at the Union of our fathers, and all who sympathize with their treason, or palliate their guilt.

After a long discussion this resolution was substituted for the address, which is, in substance, a defense of the war measures passed by the present Congress, and an argument to show that the fathers of the Republic held doctrines, and that the Constitution contains provisions by which these measures are amply justified from all points of view.

General Dumont on the Policy of the War.

ON SHAM DEMOCRACY.

ON THE NIGGER QUESTION.

ABOUT ENLISTING AND BEING A DEMOCRAT

Assertions that this is an unholy, aggressive and abolition war, and arguments that the rebellion is of such dimensions that it cannot be put down, and that the longer the war is protracted the more blood will be shed, and similar statements, when made to men who do not take the time nor pains to look closely into these questions, have the effect to discourage them from enlisting in the army of the Union. And yet some men have the assurance to tell us this is Democratic doctrine. Great God! has not the Democracy wonderfully degenerated since the days of Andrew Jackson!

Well, I have been a Democrat for the last twenty-five years—have always voted a Democratic ticket—never voted anything else in my life—I will not be called a "blind advocate of Lincoln's Administration." I have infinitely more respect for the Administrator of Stephen A. Douglas than I have for Abraham Lincoln, but I do not think I should be in haste to recognize the like of that as Democratic doctrine.

WHANGDOODLE VALLANDIGHAM AND HIS WAY OF LYING.

The charge has been made a great many times that the object of the North in prosecuting this war was conquest and subjugation. Such men as this vagabond, Vallandigham—Whangdoodle Vallandigham—says so. He professes to be a most exemplary patriot, and he says: "Millions for defense, but not one cent for an aggressive warfare." Now there is not a man in this audience who cannot see by a moment's reflection how utterly absurd that is—"Millions for defense but not one cent for an aggressive warfare!" Did ever any one hear of a warfare that was not aggressive upon one side or the other? There must be aggression. If we do not assume the aggressive our enemies will, if we do not invade their territory they will ours, and if we can only keep the desolating tide of war from our own fertile fields and from our own beautiful towns and villages, we have half won the victory, even though we shall not win a complete victory at all.

It is a very vulgar thing to mention, and I am sorry to be compelled to say it, but it is nevertheless true unfortunately, that men, women and children, too, must live by eating. When, a few months ago, I was in Virginia, and saw that army of thirty thousand men advancing along one of those beautiful valleys, and a ripping the earth of everything that was eatable as they went, this thing came to my mind with tremendous force. I saw before me a forcible illustration of the incalculable importance of keeping the war out of our own territories. If, at the commencement of this struggle, we had contented ourselves with acting on the defensive—if New York, and Pennsylvania, and Ohio, and Indiana, and patriotic Illinois, had not marched promptly into the border States, how long do you think it would have been until the border States would have marched into them.

I am reminded of what an old comrade in arms of mine once said on one of the battle fields of Mexico. It was General Jo. Lane. I am sorry to see that he is on the wrong side at the present time, but he was on the right side then. The General in command of us saw the Mexicans coming, and remarked, "They are charging." "D——n it, General," says Lane, "let's charge them!" That is the true policy and the only one in this war, as it is in every other. Mr. Vallandigham and Mr. Bright, and others of that stripe—"Tray, Blanche and Sweetheart"—should have sense enough to understand this before they prate about the horrors of this aggressive warfare. Why, even now, at this very moment, after our enemies have been so often defeated—after we have driven them from town to town, and fort to fort, in a manner that is almost unparalled—even now they boast that they intend before long to overrun and devastate the fair and fertile fields of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. And yet Mr. Vallandigham and his school have the assurance to tell us it is now too late to think of reconstructing the Union, and this aggressive warfare ought to cease!

THE NIGGER QUSESTION.

A few words upon the negro question in its present phase. There are among us here in Indiana and and other States, many men who are brave and patriotic enough to enter the army—men who are full of the right kind of pluck, and yet they do not volunteer because the little birds in the nest at home open their mouths; because the wife of his bosom, she whom he has sworn to cherish and protect by the most solemn vow that man ever uttered, will be left without a support or protector. But in the South every man has gone. The conscription takes everybody, and yet it takes nobody at all. In the eye of the Almighty, nobody is worth as much as a red-headed woodpecker unless the works. No recruits who enter the Southern army go there with sun-embrowned forehead, and hands hardened by honest industry. The demand for troops takes away a set of pampered men—very good men for the purpose—men who are a sort of walking arsenal, not devoid of courage of talent: but it takes away nobody from the producing classes—in other words, it takes away nobody at all.

The country around Nashville is as fine a country as the sun of Heaven ever shone upon. It is no pent up Utica, I can assure you. It is a country of broad and fruitful fields, well cultivated by a wealthy and intelligent population. Take the three Congressional districts lying immediately around Nashville. Go among the people there, and you will find that at nearly every house you come to the lady is a widow, and she seeks protection for herself and her property, by repeated declarations that she is a lone widow left with a large number of negroes to look after. But when you come to investigate the matter a little more closely, you will find almost without exception, that these negroes belong to men who are in the field with the gun upon their shoulders and the knapsack upon their backs; men who, forgetful of their most sacred duty to their country, have taken up arms against the best Government the sun ever shone upon.

Well, why can these men go to war while you cannot? Simply because they have the negroes at home to work for them, and you have nothing to depend upon but your own honest industry. Besides, when, as is most generally the case, the wife herself is the better man of the two, the property is as well taken care of in the absence of the husband as when he is at home, and thus these men can go into the army and stay there until the last star falls from Heaven, and their wives and children be none the worse off by it. Within the territory I have mentioned there are 100,000 slaves, toiling day after day cheerfully and uncomplainingly for the support of their masters who are in the rebel army. Now, supdose you give notice to all mankind, and the human family in particular, that every man who shall fail to return to his allegiance within a given time, bringing forth fruits meet for repentance and give suitable guaranties for his good behavior in the future, his negroes shall be confiscated.

Don't you suppose there would be a terrible skedaddling among these men about this time? They would come flocking home by hundreds and by thousands. They would soon learn by a mysterious intimation of Divine Providence that they had got their rights already, and that the best thing they could do was to go home to enjoy them. I happened to meet one day in the road near Nashville, a young man whose appearance was wretched and sorrowful enough. I saw by his clothing that he had been in the army, and I said to him, "My friend, where are you going to?" Said he, "I am going back to old Kentuck." "Where have you been, and what have you been doing?" His reply was, "I was a soldier in the secesh army." "Well," said I, "how long did it take you to get your rights after you got there?" "O," said he, "I had them before I started, but I did not know it." O, yes! it would be but a very little while after such a proclamation as that should be made public, until all these men would go home. And I wish to God they would go home, for one reason, particularly, if no other. The ladies who are at home are just as zealous and as bitter now as their husbands were when they left for the war.

They imagine their husbands are just what they were when they left home; they do not know what a terrible falling off there has been in their devotion to the cause, and when their husbands do come home they will hardly know them. (Laughter.) I have had hundreds of them come to me after having been in the rebel army, and beg to take the oath of allegiance say that they had been deceived, and "Oh," they would say, "what a terrible wild goose chase it is that we have been led since we were induced to join in this rebellion!"

Well, say you, would you take these negroes into the army? Would not that be like winning the elephant? In regard to what I would do personally, I would just say that I chanced to capture eleven good looking negroes in the little fight at Lebanon; and I have just been standing still to see the salvation of the Lord in the premises. I do not much want to see them in the army. I want to hit the enemy as hard a lick as possible, and I do not know how better to do it than the way I have indicated to you.

MATTERS AT THE CAPITAL.

THE NEW CALL FOR TROOPS.

DRAFTING TO BE AUTHORIZED

The Military Employment of Negroes.

A BUREAU OF MIGRATION.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS POSTPONED ONE DAY.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The Senate has at last passed the bill authorizing the President to call out the militia for any length of time up to nine months, in any number he desires, if it amounts to conscription or draft.

A strong effort will be made to put it through the House. The following is the text of sections in the bill relating to negroes:

The President is hereby authorized to receive into the service of the United States, for the purpose of constructing entrenchments and performing camp service or any other labor, or any military or naval service for which they may be found competent, persons of African descent, and if such persons shall be enrolled and organized under such regulations, not inconsistent with the constitution or laws, as the President may prescribe. That when any man or boy of African descent who by the laws of any State shall owe service or labor to any person who, during the present rebellion has levied war and borne arms against the United States or adhered to their enemies, by giving them aid and comfort, shall under any such service as provided for in this act, he, his mother, wife or child forever thereafter BE FREE, any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding: that persons of African descent who under this law shall receive ten dollars per month and one ration, three dollars of which monthly pay may be in clothing.

Joe Wright made a warm speech in favor of this bill, declaring we should never put down the rebellion in the world under the present general policy of the Administration, and saying if any general refuses to obey this clause employing negroes, he would promptly turn him out, and if necessary, put arms in the hands of negroes.

He put aside all questions of constitutional rights by saying that traitors have no rights under the constitution. He said when Douglas was stopped at Indianapolis on his way home, shortly before his death, he found fault with the Administration because its call for 70,000 volunteers was too small, and said, "We should have had half a million at once."

Mr. Doolittle introduced a bill for establishing a bureau of migration, with one commissioner and two clerks, to be charged with the general duty of organizing and locating colonies for disposing of emancipated negroes. This was promptly passed to a second reading and referred Mr. Howe introduced a bill to extend the protection by our armies to every person appealing to them for protection against the authority or control of any one engaged in prosecuting the rebellion, and punishing any officer who fails to obey, with court martial and dismissal from the service.

The House threw over Colfax's bill cutting down mileage one half, and adopted a bill cutting off mileage altogether, manifestly with the view of making a reform so radical that the Senate would not agree, and thus defeating any measure on the subject. The Senate tabled the bill.

Secretary Chase recommends a bill making postage stamps a legal tender, so as to avoid present difficulties about small change, and the Committee on Ways and Means are likely to recommend the bill in accordance with this suggestion.

General Pope's address to his army has excited great indignation among McClellan men. They say it is in execrable taste, egotistical, and a slur on the army of the Potomac.

General Sherman (Port Royal Sherman) returns from Corinth not at all enamored of Halleck's operations. There are rumors of present movements in the Western Department, and stories of important changes in the Eastern and Western Departments are repeated.

It turns out that no charges at all are preferred against General Mitchell. The stories in the papers about the sacking of Athens have all been received, but Gen. Mitchell is is no way involved. The whole story of the Louisville Journal about him is a stupid calumny.

Rumor represents great uneasiness prevailing at the War Department about recent advices as to rebel plans, and that the Secretary has information that the rebel chiefs at Richmond have issued orders to their armies to assume the aggressive at certain points. Recent movements of the rebels in the West are supposed to be in accordance with this plan.

Count Garowski, the celebrated Russian nobleman, has signified his willingness to take command of a negroe regiment, and a movement is on foot to have him commissioned for such purpose.

THE MURFREESBORO SURRENDER.

BRAVERY OF THE MINNESOTA THIRD BEYOND ALL PRAISE.

We find in the special dispatches of the New York papers of the 14th, the following particulars of the affair at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, which did not reach us here.

NASHVILLE, July 13.—The city is filled with rumors about a fight at Murfreesboro to-day. The following particulars are given:

About eight o'clock this morning a large force of rebel cavalry, under command of Col. Forrest, composed principally of two Georgia and one other rebel regular cavalry regiment, drove in our pickets and assaulted the town.

The Ninth Michigan Regiment, Col Parkhurst, was surrounded and captured. General T. T. Crittenden, of Indiana, and General Duffield, who had recently retired to take command of the Twenty-third brigade, were made prisoners; also Lieut. Barry, commissary, and Lieut. C. H. Irwin, acting-assistant quartermaster.

The Third Minnesota, Colonel Lester, Hewritt's First Kentucky Battery made a gallant resistance. Their bravery is beyond praise. They saved the railroad track and bridges, losing but few men.

The rebels destroyed the railroad depot and other property, including the telegraph office.

Major General Hunter's Negro Regiment.

By oversight of ours, the letter of Hunter in reply to the Wickliffe resolution has not appeared in the PRESS. It is altogether too good to be lost, and we give below the important part of it. It will be remembered that Hon. Mr. Wickliffe, of Kentucky, was shocked at the idea of using loyal blacks, and moved an inquiry into the reported fact that General Hunter was organizing and arming the South Carolina slaves that had been deserted by their fugitive masters. General Hunter's reply to the Secretary of War is dated at Port Royal, June 22d.

After recapitulating Mr. Wickliffe's heads of inquiry, General Hunter answers as follows:

To the first question, therefore, I reply that no regiment of fugitive slaves has been or is being organized in this department. There is, however, a fine regiment of persons whose late masters are "fugitive rebels," men who everywhere fly before the appearance of the national flag, leaving their servants behind them to shift as best they can for themselves. So far, indeed, are the loyal persons composing this regiment from seeking to avoid the presence of their late owners, that they are now, one and all, working with remarkable industry to place themselves in a position to join in full and effective pursuit of their fugacious and traitorous proprietors.

To the second question I have the honor to answer, that the instructions given to Brigadier General T. W. Sherman, by the Hon. Simon Cameron, late Secretary of War, and turned over to me by succession, for my guidance, do distinctly authorize me to employ all loyal persons offering their services in defence of the Union, and for the suppression of this rebellion, in any manner I might see fit, or that the circumstances might call for. There is no restriction as to the character or color of the persons to be employed, or the nature of the employment, whether civil or military, in which their services shall be used. I conclude, therefore, that I have been authorized to enlist fugitive slaves as soldiers, could any such be found in this department.

No such characters, however, have yet appeared within the view of our most advanced pickets, the loyal slaves everywhere remaining on their plantations to welcome us, aid us, and supply us with food, labor and information. It is the masters who have, in every instance, been the fugitives running away from the loyal slaves as well as the loyal soldiers, and whom we have only partially been able to see, chiefly their heads over ramparts, or rifle in hand, dodging behind trees in the extreme distance. In the absence of any fugitive (master) law, the deserted slaves would be wholly without remedy, had not the crime of treason given them the right to pursue, capture and bring back, those persons of whose protection they have thus been suddenly bereft.

To me it seemed that the liberty to employ men in any particular capacity employed with it liberty, also, to supply them with the necessary tools, and acting upon this faith, I have clothed, equipped and armed the only loyal regiment yet raised in South Carolina. I must say, in vindication of my own conduct that had it not been for many other diversified and imperative claims on my time and attention, a much more satisfactory result might have been hoped for, and that in place of only one, as at present, at least five or six well drilled, brave and thoroughly acclimated regiments should by this time, have been added to the loyal forces of the Union. The experiment of arming blacks, so far as I have made it, has been a complete and even marvelous success. They are sober, docile, attentive and enthusiastic, displaying great natural capacities for acquiring the duties of the soldier. They are eager, beyond all things, to take the field and be led into action, and it is the unanimous opinion of the officers who have had them in charge, that in the peculiarities of this climate and the country, they will prove invaluable auxiliaries, fully equal to the similar regiments so long and successfully used by the British authorities in the West India Islands.

In conclusion, I would say it is my hope, there appearing no possibility of other reinforcements, owing to the exigencies of the campaign on the Peninsula, to have organized by the end of next fall, and to be able to present the government from 48,000 to 50,000 of these hardy and devoted soldiers.

Trusting that this letter may form a part of your answer to Mr. Wickliffe's resolution,

I have the honor to be,
D. HUNTER,
Major-General Commanding.

The reading of Gen. Hunter's letter in the House elicited great applause, and fairly turned the laugh upon Mr. Wickliffe.

Final Agreement on the Confiscation Bill.

WHAT THE BILL IS.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune gives a history of the action of the committee of conference on the Confiscation Bill. Writing on the 11th, he says:

This morning, shortly after the two houses met, Senators Clark and Harris sent for the House conferees, and proposed a third meeting. The third meeting was held, and Messrs. Clark and Harris solemnly swallowed their "constitutional scruples" and washed them down with their House bill. The report of the committee, which is signed by all the members except Corning, makes a more stringent and effective law than even the House bill. It knocks Order No. 3 all to flinders, by declaring that all persons who come within our military lines shall be deemed captives of war, and shall be free! It is, in fact, a measure of salvation to the country, and if it shall become a law, as there is now no reason to doubt, it will redeem all the blunders and pettroonery of the past fourteen months, and lay broad the foundations of peace, law, prosperity and religion for the American people. The roll-call of the House on concurring in the report of the committee showed only two votes wanting a two-third majority—four border States men voting in the affirmative.

The day is surely breaking. The long and suffocating nightmare of slavery, which has sat upon us daring all the years of our existence as a nation, is floating away. The struggle which now casts it off is a desperate one. It is marked by torrents of blood, and groans and tears, bitter and innumerable. But it is worth all it costs. Henceforth no one can doubt that this war ends slavery, and that the end of slavery is practically the end of the war. He who fights against the great consummation, fights for the prolongation of the war, heavier taxes, more bloodshed, fresh bereavements.

News and Miscellany.

—Governor Salmon, of Wisconsin, on the 8th inst., issued his proclamation for five new regiments, under the recent call of the President, and for new recruits to fill up regiments now in the field. He will get them.

—The New York Evening Post says: "We are informed on good authority that Gen. Scott has been in Washington several days and has a room at the War Department.

—It is learned that the patriotic Germans of Baltimore have recently subscribed and raised a large sum of money with which a splendid charger has been purchased and within a few days will be sent to Gen. Sigel, the gallant soldier.

—The Washington Republican gives a report that the rebel papers found on the steamer Teaser, recently captured on James River, fix the strength of the rebel army about Richmond at 84,000.

—The premium offered by the Legislature of California for the best sample of cotton raised in the State, has caused much interest to be manifested in the growth of that staple by the farmers, and the question is now being thoroughly tested.

—Parson Brownlow is likely to have a very deserved success with his book. Sixty thousand copies have been sold already, and the demand seems but just begun. One firm in Cincinnati has ordered 40,000 copies. The patriotic parson receives twenty-five cents for each book sold, and if the sale reaches two hundred thousand copies, as is expected, he will be enabled to establish, on a firmer basis than ever, the old Knoxville Whig.

— The Springfield (Massachusetts) Republican gives an account of a meteor seen in the town of Tolland on the evening of the 4th instant. It was very brilliant and intermitted its light with great regularity at intervals of ten or fifteen seconds. It moved very slowly, and remained in sight some time.

—The Missouri Republican mentions as one of the singularities of history that John Pope, who is now in command of the army of Virginian, having overstepped three Major-Generals at the age of forty years, was, for a long while, a pupil of Gen. Shields, the latter then a schoolmaster at Kaskaskia.

—A gentleman living near Palermo, having doubts of his wife and daughter's Union principles, went to St. Joseph, and procuring a copy of the oath, returned and compelled his erring better (?) half to swear allegiance to the United States. —Doniphan County Patriot.

— A correspondent of the Springfield Republican solves the mystery of the meteor seen in Tolland on the evening of the 4th instant. A balloon, with a bright light in it, answering to the description given, was sent up from Staffordsville, presenting all the wonderful phenomena so graphically described. A somewhat similar discovery took place during the lifetime of Mr. Pickwick.

—The gross earnings of the Great Eastern, on her last homeward trip, amounted to £11,102, of which the expenses amounted to £10,291, leaving only £318 as net profits.

—The people of California are about to erect a monument to the memory of the late ex-Senator Broderick.

—An anonymous correspondent has sent a present of $1,000 to the State of Pennsylvania.

—A Paris letter says the Mexican expedition has already cost 74,000,000 francs, or nearly £3,000,000 sterling and 1,600 men are in hospital or dead.

—The Frenchmen of New York are making preparations—to the extent of appointing a committee and obtaining an interchange of views—for holding a mass meeting to express their decided but respectful disapproval of intervention in any form by the Emperor of France in the civil disturbances of this country.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—SENATE.—Mr. Hale, from the naval committee, reported a joint resolution relating to the Stevens battery. The bill provides that all the right and title of the United States in the Stevens battery be released and committed to the heirs of Robert M. Stevens. The bill was passed.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, called up the resolution, calling upon the Secretary of State to give reasons for the arrest of Lieutenant Colonel Anthony. The resolution was modified so as to make the request of the President, and was then passed.

Mr. Howe introduced a bill further amending the articles of war. The bill provides that it shall be the duty of every United States officer to furnish protection to every slave approaching the Union line. If loyal men loose their property by this order, they are to be compensated.

Mr. Doolittle introduced a bill to establish a bureau of immigration.

Mr. Grimes called up the bill relative to letters of marque.

Mr. Trumbull opposed the bill on the ground that the rebels have no commerce at all, and if it was passed it would be a sort of recognition of the rebels. Letters of marque were never granted except against a recognized nation. After further discussion the bill was laid aside.

The bill amendatory to the act of 1795, calling for the militia, &c., was then taken up. The question was on Sherman's amendment limiting emancipation to those who enter the service of the United States to the slaves of rebels.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, said they had 6,400 slaves in Kansas, a majority of whom belong to loyal masters, and from the number he proposed to raise two regiments. The idea of putting these men into the field to fight bravely, and then after they had helped save the country to turn them again into slavery was too outrageous to be thought of. The Government who would do such a thing as that would deserve the vengeance of the Almighty. He proposed as an amendment to pay loyal masters for their slaves.

Mr. Sherman thought the question of emancipation had mingled with war measures as long as it was to do so. It is doubtful whether the country can bear the load of debt which the proposition to pay for all the slaves it employed, even if it were but a single hour. He thought we had gone far enough in this matter. A scheme such as is proposed by the Senator from Kansas (Lane) would involve the country in ruin.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, said he was disposed to deal fairly with loyal men. When their slaves are once armed they cannot be enslaved again. He proposed to pay loyal masters for them. It was perfectly lawful to use slaves of loyal men in the war of the revolution, and the war of 1812. It was done; but according to the present policy, he said they could not be used against traitors.

Mr. Pomeroy, of Kansas, did not propose to commit the Government to any policy in regard to buying slaves, whether their masters were loyal or disloyal men. The Government had hung a man lately for engaging in the slave traffic. He should vote against all these amendments. After further debate Sherman's amendment was adopted by yeas 18, nays 17.

Mr. Browning moved to strike out the words "mother, wife and children." Lost—17 to 20.

Mr. Browning moved that such mother, wife and children should not be freed unless belonging to rebels. Adopted—21 to 16.

Mr. Wright spoke at length in favor of the policy of employing slaves.

Mr. Henderson followed, urging a more vigorous prosecution of the war.

After further debate the bill passed—38 against 9.

The House resolution postponing the adjournment till Thursday was adopted.

The Senate passed the House bill providing an additional duty on domestic sugar.

The Senate passed the House bill making supplementary appropriations, with amendment, including $15,000 to purchase artificial limbs for wounded soldiers.

A message from the President was received, requesting the Senate to postpone its adjournment at least one day beyond the time fixed.

Recess till seven o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Wood, of New York, said. Rising to a question of privilege as an act of justice to myself, I ask the passage of this resolution. If I am guilty of the offense showed against men, I am unworthy to remain a member of this House. If innocent, I am certainly entitled to my vindication. I beg leave, sir, to submit the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Judiciary be instructed to report forthwith to this House on the matter of the investigation of the alleged misconduct of Benj. Wood, a representative from the State of New York.

Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, objected, saying that was not a question of privilege.

The Speaker hardly thought that this came under that head, and stated the question by the consent of the House.

Mr. Bingham objected to the introduction of the resolution.

Mr. Bingham, from the Judiciary Committee, to whom the joint resolution further to provide for compensation to members of Congress was referred, reported the following:

Resolved, That until further orders of Congress, the Secretary of the Senate, and Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, shall receive as a valid excuse for absence from duty, active employment in the military service for the suppression of the rebellion.

The resolution passed.

The House then resumed the consideration of the mileage question, which was pending when the adjournment took place yesterday.

Mr. Colfax had introduced a bill for the reduction of mileage fifty per cent., to which Mr. Aldrich offered a substitute, that all laws and parts of laws giving mileage to members of Congress be and the same are hereby repealed.

Mr. Thomas moved to amend Mr. Aldrich's proposition by adding "and this provision shall apply to the present Congress and the mileage already received on the same."

The amendment of Mr. Thomas was adopted.

Mr. Aldrich's substitute to Mr. Colfax's bill, as thus amended, was then agreed to by 76 against 42.

The question was then stated on ordering the bill to be engrossed for the third reading, when Mr. Edwards moved to lay the bill upon the table. Lost—yeas 50, nays 80.

After considerable debate the bill passed, 86 against 29.

Mr. Colfax moved to amend the title, making it read, "An act abolishing Congressional mileage."

A notice was read from the speaker, requesting the adjournment of Congress postponed one day, and a resolution was adopted extending the time of adjournment until Thursday.

The bill for the ascertainment of the amount expended by the United States in arming troops, and the sum thus ascertained to be a set off on the direct tax imposed on the State, was passed.

The bill requiring the commanders of merchant vessels to take the oath of allegiance was passed.

The bill passed explanatory of the fifth section of the confiscation act, so that its action will not be retractive.

Adjourned.

EXTRAORDINARY OPERATIONS AT MOBILE.

THE HARBOR OBSTRUCTED—A DITCH AROUND THE CITY COMPLETED.

The rebels are making the defense of Mobile much more complete than even those of the Mississippi below New Orleans previous to the capture of our forces. We learn from Captain Powell, late of the frigate Potomac, which is now to be converted into a store and hospital ship, and who arrived in this city by the McClellan, that a rebel schooner from Mobile was captured by the boats of the United States war vessel Morning Light, a few days before he sailed, and that from those on board and from other sources, it was ascertained that the harbor of Mobile had been completely obstructed, and that Fort Gaines, which not long ago was nearly or quite evacuated, has been reoccupied and again prepared for defense.

Piles have been driven from Fort Gaines to a point directly under the guns of Fort Morgan, and other obstructions have been completed from Hog Island on one side of the channel and below the forts to the other side. There is an entrance for their own vessels through the obstructions, which they have the means of filling up at any moment.

The great ditch they have been for months in digging, is now completed, and extends from the water's edge entirely around the city. Its innerbank is defended by breastworks and batteries, and the position is considered by the rebels unassailable. If the federal gunboats succeed, however, in passing the harbor batteries and forts, the rebel army may either be compelled to surrender, or be driven in a body into the ditch they have dug, and from which they will find it difficult to escape. It would contain a very large army.

State News.

From the State Atlas.

WOOL.—We notice that C. D. Davidson is shipping east several thousand pounds of wool, bought of farmers in this county. This is a new article of export, with us, but within twenty years it will be our principal one. It costs just the same to carry from three to Boston one dollars' worth of wheat as it does thirty dollar's worth of wool.

WE notice that William S. Heath, who formerly did business at Minneapolis, in the firm of Heath & Partridge, was killed in the late battles at Richmond. He was Lieut. Colonel of the Fifth Maine at the time of his death.

WE understand that the wood and iron is bought with which to repair the upper bridge. Upper St. Anthony is one continued, solemn Sunday till that bridge can be crossed.

JAMES MCNALLY, a member of the Minnesota First, from Belle Plaine, who was desperately wounded and taken prisoner at Ball Run, was at Minneapolis a day or two since, among the returned prisoners. He was shot through the arm, and also through the face, by which his jaw was fractured. As he lay thus helpless upon the battle field, then in possession of the enemy, he asked a rebel soldier for a drink of water, to which the infernal brute replied, "Damn you, I'll fix you so you won't want water," and then plunged his bayonet through the throat and mouth of the prostrate wounded man. In spite of these wounds, McNally is nearly recovered, and declares that whether there is peace or war in the land, he is bound to meet once again the savage who held that bayonet!

The Situation in Virginia.

The disappearance of the rebel army from before General McClellan's lines is a circumstance calculated to create considerable speculation and anxiety. It is evident, from the tone of the Richmond journals, that the confederate leaders would not dare attack our army in its present location, but it does not follow that they propose to wait until we get ready to move again on Richmond. Indeed, with two hundred thousand men in arms and a pestilence threatening the confederate capital, Davis and Lee will be compelled either to order a forward movement or else to send a large portion of their forces back toward Charleston. The check they have given our grand army will doubtless embolden them to make an advance movement, and we fear it will be toward Washington. This would naturally be the counsel of a leader like "Stonewall" Jackson, and he would be the man to head the enterprise. General Pope's army is known to be marching south. Cannot the rebels spare 80,000 men to meet him and still outnumber Gen. McClellan on the James river? We very much fear they can.

We look, then, for stirring news during the coming week. The rebel armies cannot remain at Richmond in such enormous masses, that is very clear; and a bold dash northward is their best game. The rebels have the rare military advantage of being between our two armies, and nothing but consummate military skill will make up the difference in our favor. —New York World, 14th.

Guerrillas continue to annoy our boats by firing upon them as they pass up and down. The chief engineer of the gunboat Lexington a well known steamboat engineer, named Huber, was instantly killed by being shot through the heart by one of these concealed assassians on Tuesday last. On the day previous a man, who had been following the boats for thirty miles along the shore, and fired at them whenever an opportunity was offered, was caught and trapped. On his person was found a written authority from General Hindman, directing him to watch Federal gunboats, and pick off officers whenever he could. The man was at first placed on board the transport White Cloud for confinement, but after the death of Mr. Huber, he was brought on board the Lexington, and fastened on the wheel house, in such a position that he could be plainly seen from the shore. While standing thus several shots were fired at him from the shore, but none hit him. He was subsequently taken down and placed in confinement on board the Lexington, to wait examination by the military authorities. The Golden Era was several times fired into on her way down, but no one was injured.

The fight of Col. Fitch with the rebels, sent yesterday, took place on what is called Grand Prairie, about four miles back of Aberdeen, Arkansas. The rebel commander was Capt. Wheat. Among the captured, all of whom were brought up yesterday on the Golden Era, was one Lieutenant.

MATTERS AT MEMPHIS.

WHEREABOUTS OF JEFF. THOMPSON.

The Latest from Vicksburg.

Special to the Chicago Tribune.

CAIRO, July 14, 1862.—From Memphis I have very reliable information that Jeff. Thompson was about twenty miles south of that place on the Granada road with a force of 15,000 men. There is also a cavalry force of 600 men under Caleb Jackson just south of the Memphis and Charleston road, both distant fifteen miles from Memphis.

These are the forces who for some time have been devastating the country about there, and burning cotton.

An order was issued by the Provost Marshal at Jackson last week, requiring residents to come in and take the oath of allegiance, and the city authorities, refusing to do so, were on Friday morning arrested.

A large lot of cotton was burned about eight miles from there on Friday.

MEMPHIS, July 13.—The Government steamer Golden Era arrived this morning from White river, having left the expedition on Thursday last. The Federal fleet when the Era left were lying at Clarendon, 180 miles from the month of the river. The river is strongly fortified at Duval's Bluff, twenty-five miles above Clarendon.

A railroad extends from this point to a point on the Arkansas river forty miles distant, enabling the rebels to concentrate a strong force at Duval's Bluff. General Hindman is reported to be in command there, with a force variously estimated from five hundred to five thousand men. The river at this point is obstructed by sunken boats, presenting an impediment that cannot be passed. The navigation of the river is also impeded at several points by sandbars, and at St. Charles by sunken boats.

Remarkable Escape.

The Hartford papers of the 10th instant give an account of the most wonderful escape of a boy from drowning. On Monday evening three boys went in bathing in the large dam of the Greenwood Company's mills, across the Farmington river. One of them was drawn by suction into an accidental hole in the dam. The other boys became frightened and said their companion had gone into the woods. His continued absence created suspicion, and on Tuesday morning his clothes were found on the bank; from which it was supposed he saw drowned. The pond was dragged but without success. Circumstances led to a more rigid examination of the boys, when the truth came to light that he had been drawn by the current into the hole in the dam. With no thought that the lad could possibly be alive, all further efforts to find the body were postponed till night, when it was decided that a torch-light search would be more effectual in determining whether the body could pass through the opening. Nothing was found that night, and the next (Wednesday) morning it was decided to cut away the dam from the lower side. This was done, and they had proceeded but a little way when cries were heard which the workmen supposed came from the bank. Th cries continued, and after the removal of a few more planks the boy was found alive and well. He had crawled upon some timbers, which kept his head and part of his body out of the water. He was delerious when found, and so weak that he had to be carried home. He says that he has no recollection of anything except that he found himself climbing up the framework of the dam in the dark: and it kept dark all the while he was there. He says he cried and shouted all the while, through the whole of it. The boy is said to be almost entirely recovered from the effects of the accident.

A Word Fitly Spoken.

A New York correspondent of the London Times, writing under date of June 13, says:

The people of Europe may be certain that the defeat of McClellan—which is possible, but not probable—would be of no real advantage to the Confederates. It would prolong the agony of the contest, and cause such an uprising of the excited Northern people, as would place at the disposal of the Federal Government any number of men it chose to ask for. The South, unless it enroll and arm its slaves, an ultimatum of hard necessity, on which it looks with alarm and repugnance, is not in a position to raise an extra 100,000 men for any emergency whatever: while the North—vast as its armies are—can double or treble them in case of need, and will do so at a word form the President rather than stop short in the work it has commenced.

A Confederate victory at Richmond might give the powers of Europe a welcome opportunity of recommending the South to lay down its arms, and the North to grant a general amnesty; but it would be of no real help to Southern independence, unless upon the untenable supposition that the great powers of Europe were prepared at the eleventh hour to make that cause their own and brave the certain consequences of a war with the United States.

SCARCITY OF CHANGE.—We understand the Mercantile Association have a project in view to relieve the scarcity of change, by issuing $50,000 in checks, and depositing the amount in United States Treasury Notes with the collector of the port as security.—Chicago Tribune.

—The following definition of who are the heirs of soldiers will be of interest to many persons: "Pensions are granted by the United States Government, and the sum afterwards is paid to the heirs of the deceased. If the pensioner was married, the wife receives the money. If no wife is living, then the children. If the deceased soldier was not married, the parents receive the pensions, which cease with the life of the parents. If the nearest living relatives are brothers or sisters, dependent upon the soldiers for support, the pension will be awarded to them."

—The loyal papers at the East nearly all condemn the arrest of the editor of the Baltimore American by the Secretary of War. It seems to be the opinion that if the Secretary of War would conduct the war against the rebels with as much vigor as he conducts the war against newspapers, it would be more like the thing.

BUSINESS LOCALS

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 138,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The net profits in two years amounts to $120,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of life insurance. Its operations are managed by a board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of the Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $820,983.39. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,278.65 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,900,000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Willmarth, Vice President, and John Medbery, secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,268.08, against an actual liability of only $53,680.43; and moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,434.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $910,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,715,000, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $320,036. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $106,715.18, taking $820,983 premium, and paid losses $335,775. Including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $160,644 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire

THE CITY.

WHEAT is going up. Cause: prospective failure of the crop in England.

THE Supreme Court of the State is still in session. It is not expected to get through the calendar before the close of next week.

A NUMBER of the legal gentlemen of the State have been in the city during the last two weeks to attend to their cases in the Supreme Court.

REV. A. P. GRAVES, of Lake City, will preach on Sunday morning next at the Union Baptist Church, Minneapolis, at half-past ten o'clock.

REV. EDWARD GRAVES, from Montreal, will preach at Fletcher's Hall, Minneapolis, (Congregational Church,) next Sabbath at half-past ten o'clock A. M.

POSTPONEMENT.—Owing to the late hour at which the Key City arrived, bringing Mr. Heller and party, this gentleman's opening entertainment was postponed until this evening. He has, as we have been informed, brought with him all his paraphernalia for his most extensive illusions.

WOOL.—We noticed small lots of this article on the wharf-boat yesterday. We hope soon to see this staple become a prominent item of the productions of the State.

GEORGE WELLS, an old citizen of this town, and a member of Company A, First Minnesota, returned on the Favorite yesterday morning, supposed to be in a dying condition from pneumonia. He was taken to his friends in Shakopee.

YESTERDAY was a dull, damp, dim, dire, dark, dreary, dismal, dingy, doleful, dirty, drizzling, drenching, dumpish, dripping, discouraging, disgusting, detestable day—such a day as an Englishman would enjoy, and a Frenchman commit suicide.

FIREMEN'S PIC NIC.—The Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company will have a pic nic at Stahlman's gardens, on Monday, the 21st inst., for the purpose of raising funds to furnish their house. A good time is expected, as the boys are making great exertions to get up an affair that will reflect the highest credit.

RASPBERRIES are more plentiful in market this season than for many years. As a general thing they are brought down by the Carver boat, though they are found in abundance on the hills in the neighborhood of West St. Paul.

OSSIAN E. DODGE has published in the Boston Saturday Press another three-column article on the advantages of Minnesota as a desirable place to migrate to, and St. Paul as a business point. The International and Winslow, Burbank & Co., and Colonel McKenty, are all favorably noticed.

THE Captain of the Clara Hine has petitioned the Council to reduce the wharfage on that boat from $1.50 to $2.50, the price paid by the Antelope, on account of the Clara's making daily trips to the same point the Antelope does. When this petition is granted, the Milwaukee, Itasca, Key City and Northern Light will ask to have their wharfage reduced to the same amount paid by the War Eagle, of the same line, and the McLellan and Northern Belle will ask to have their wharfage reduced to the amount paid by the Favorite, for the same reason.

LAWYERS, ATTENTION!—The Rules of Practice adopted in general session of the Judges of the District Courts of this State, during the present month, are published by the PRESS PRINTING COMPANY. Price 15 cents per copy or $1.50 per dozen—will be ready on the 25th instant. These rules go into effect on the 25th of September, and will have all the authority and force of law. Every lawyer in the State must have a copy. Remittances may be made in bank notes or postage stamps.

ELOCUTIONARY EXHIBITIONS.—Prof. Belding's class will give an exhibition at Ingersoll's Hall next Wednesday evening. Let everybody turn out and give the boys and girls a hearing. Elocution is a science, the study of which is important, and worthy the attention and patronage of our people. Prizes are to be awarded for the best readings and recitations, Mayor Prince, Rev. John Mattocks and Sheriff Robertson, presiding as Judges. Several choice pieces of music will be given with the other exercises; also concert readings, tableaux, statuary presentations, &c. Prof. Holcombe will appear in his great character of the "Encumtre with the Devil."

Prof. Belding gives readings at Baldwin's Hall, Minneapolis, this evening.

RIVER NEWS.—The river still continues to fall, the bar at Kaposia being worse than ever before known. The W. L. Ewing was obliged to transfer her freight and passengers to the Eolian, being unable to get up.

The Minnesota river is very low. The Albany lay on the Rapids coming down all day Thursday, and the Jeannette in going up was detained thirty hours.

The arrivals since our last report, are the W. L. Ewing, Favorite, Key City, McLellan, Antelope, Clara Hine and Albany.

The departures are the W. L. Ewing, Itasca, Favorite, Clara Hine, Antelope and Ariel.

The down boats this morning are the Key City, Capt. Worden, for Dunleith, and McLellan, Capt. Martin, for La Crosse.

The Antelope and Clara Hine will leave on time for Carver.

The Albany will leave for Mankato this afternoon.

In a few days it is expected that channels will be cut through the bars of some by the action of the current, so that boats will be able to get over them much easier.

PERSONAL.—The brethren of the Mystic tie will be glad to learn that Bro. C. Moore, editor of the Masonic Review at Cincinnati, Ohio, is in town. He is stopping at the American.

Auditor McElrath has returned to his post, after a few days sojourn up the Minnesota. He says some of the farmers of Blue Earth county are talking of forty bushels of wheat to the acre.

Attorney General Cole has returned to his home in Faribault, having finished his labors in connection with the sitting of the Supreme Court.

Ex-Ald. Branch has returned from his recent trip to witness the operations of the army in Dixie.

INSTALLATION OF REV. MR. NOBLE.—The "House of Hope" was comfortably filled Wednesday evening, the 16th, on the occasion of the ordination and installation as Pastor, of the Rev. F. A. Noble. The opening anthem, "How lovely is Zion," was appropriately selected, and beautifully rendered. The choir was a quartette—the true kind for church music; each part was well sustained.

After the usual introductory exercises, suggestive of those to follow, the ordination sermon was preached by Rev. John Mattocks, of the First Presbyterian Church. The text was found in 1st Thessalonians, second chapter, last two verses: "For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming? For ye are our glory and joy." The subject thus formed was the "Christian Minister;" more particularly, however, as differing from other men in the nature of his work, and the value of his reward. The ministry is not entered upon for any worldly consideration: it is literally a vocation, and not followed for profit, or even a living. Higher and purer motives led the conscience obeying disciple to consecrate all that God had given him to the service of—the Giver. Yet it is also a business; and as other men choose theirs, he enters upon his as eagerly intent upon devoting to it his best energies—as they to theirs. His duties and his pleasures are peculiarly his own, and materially different from those belonging to other walks of life. He has even "bread to eat the world knows not of," and derives wisdom and strength proportioned and fitted to his special need. His pleasures cannot be measured by the standard of other men's, for what brings pain and grief to them may be full of cause for rejoicing to him. Paul is constantly an example of this. Then, the minister is a life work, a life battle; the silver-haired laborer, and the veteran warrior in the service of the world might repose upon their laurels or rest in retirement upon his earnings; but until "heart and flesh fail," the "soldier of the Cross" cannot lay aside his armor or remit his vigilance. The question of ultimate success would test the workmanship of either, and discover the comparative value of their respective choices, but in the comparison they must be in relatively equal conditions. The Emperor Cæsar, robed with the imperial purple, and crowned with the victor's wreath, must not be held up as the representative of the one class, while the "Apostle to the Gentiles," lying in a tyrant's prison, is pointed at as that of the other: the first is wearing his crown, while the other is winning—a brighter one. When his "glory and joy" is fully entered upon, the comparison could be made with more justice. It is needless to say that the sermon was complete, and eminently appropriate.

The putting of the constitutional questions had been assigned to Rev. J. C. Whitney, of Minneapolis, but he having left town on account of illness in his family, Rev. G. H. Pond was assigned his place. The solemn ordaining prayer, and charge to the Pastor, by Rev. Marcus Hicks, of St. Cloud, the Moderator of the Presbytery, impressed all by the earnest interest in the spiritual welfare of Church and Pastor, which overflowed in every sentence; an able champion of church, a wise counsellor for a young society, and a warm-hearted Christian, with all the kindly sympathies of his new nature in full and active life.

The charge to the people by Rev. R. B. Ball, of Stillwater, was concise, yet comprehensive, and filled with not only valuable suggestions, but instructive lessons drawn from personal experience.

The welcome to the Pastor was the closing hymn: and after he had pronounced the benediction, the members of the Church and congregation testified to their gratification by a hearty shake of his hand as they passed in front of the pulpit, and an earnest "God speed" in their hearts—in his life of love and labor.

General Headquarters, State of Minnesota.

[GENERAL ORDERS NO. SIXTEEN.]

In accordance with General Order of the War Department No. 75, current series, one Second Lieutenancy for each Company in the Sixth Regiment will be appointed and mustered into the United States service, who shall have the authority to muster in recruits as they are enlisted. If any recruit shall be enlisted by such officer, who shall afterwards, on medical inspection, prove to have been obviously unfit for the service at the time of his enlistment, all expenses caused thereby shall be paid by such officer, to be stopped against him from any payment that may be coming to him from the Government thereafter.

Any officer, thus appointed and mustered, shall only be entitled to be paid on the muster and pay roll of his company, and he should fail to secure an organized Company within such reasonable time as may be specified in his letters of appointment, his men may be transferred to some other Company, his appointment be revoked and be discharged without pay; unless it should be deemed proper to give him a position in the consolidated Company to which his men have been transferred. Articles of enlistment, as in the regular army will be made out in triplicate by such recruiting officers, one copy of which will be sent to the Adjutant General of the State, one to the Adjutant of the Regiment, and one will be kept by the Recruiting officer.

Recruits will be sent to the regimental rendezvous at Fort Snelling at least as often as once a week, when they will be immediately examined by the Surgeon of the Regiment or the Post Surgeon, and, if found unfit for duty by reason of permanent disability, will be discharged from the service forthwith by the Surgeon, who will report such discharges to the Adjutant General of the State, and also to the Adjutant of the Regiment, noting particularly those cases where the disability was obvious at the time of enlistment.

The muster-in-rolls of each Company will be made out by the Adjutant of the Regiment, from a list to be furnished by the Adjutant General of the State, together with the articles of enlistment furnished him by the recruiting officer, and will note upon it the names of all persons discharged by the Surgeon for permanent disability, designating particularly those cases where the disability was apparent at the time of enlistment.

All requisitions for quartermaster, medical and ordnance stores must be presented to the Governor of the State for his approval. Persons traveling under the order of the Governor of this State on business connected with the recruiting service, will be allowed the actual costs of transportation, to be paid by the mustering and disbursing officer on presentation of the account accompanied by proper vouchers, and the order under which the journey was performed.

By order of the Commander-in-chief.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY,

One door East of Davenport's Bookstore, on Third Street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK, KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carry either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of the seam, which, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

The ir motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and delivered by Lyman Dayton and Maria B. Dayton, his wife of St. Paul, Ramsey county, Minnesota, to William Coombs Thompson, of Worcester, Worcester county, Massachusetts, dated the seventeenth day of December, A. D. 1860, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds of the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, on the twentieth day of December, A. D. 1860, in Book R, of Mortgages, on pages 233, 235 and 236, and conveying in mortgage, the southeast quarter (¼) of section thirty four (34) in township twenty-nine (29) north of range twenty-two (22) west, all in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, which mortgage was given to secure the payment of a certain note for four hundred and seventeen dollars ($417) and interest, of even date therewith, and there is now claimed to be due and is due thereon, four hundred and seventy-six and 70-100 dollars ($476.70), and no suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, nor any part thereof, and no part of said debt has been paid.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said Ramsey county, on the 6th day of June, A. D. 1862, at ten of the clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Court House in St. Paul, in said county, to satisfy said mortgage debt and legal disbursements.

General Orders—No. 26.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE OHIO, IN CAMP, NEAR FLORENCE, ALA., June 24, 1862.

There are 14,000 officers and soldiers absent from their duty with the various Divisions of this army. Some of them have gone off without any authority; others with the permission of officers not authorized to grant it. In general, sickness is given as the cause of absence, but in very many cases the cause has notoriously ceased to exist, and men remain away, drawing the same pay as their comrades who are faithfully performing their duty. To correct this abuse it is ordered:

1. All officers and soldiers who are absent without direct authority from these Headquarters, the period for which has not transpired, will, on or before the 10th of July, proximo, join their companies or regiments wherever they may be. If ignorant of their locality, they will report to the commanding officer at Louisville or Nashville, by whom they will be directed to their regiments, or put on such light duty as they may be able to perform, if they are not entirely fit for active service; and those will be promptly reported to their regimental commanders by the officer so assigning them.

The cases of those who fail to join as above required, will be disposed of as follows:

2. If any absent officer or soldier, in consequence of sickness or wounds, is absolutely unable to report for duty as above required, he will forward by mail to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville, Tennessee" a Certificate of Disability, according to the following form:

CERTIFICATE OF DISABILITY.

I declare on oath that I have carefully examined.....of Captain.....Company, Colonel.....Regiment of .....Volunteers, now at this place and under treatment by me, and find him incapable of performing the duties of a soldier for the following reasons: [Here state all the facts known concerning the disease or wound, or cause of disability; the time, place, manner, and all the circumstances under which the injury occurred or disease originated; the duty or situation of the officer or soldier at the time the injury was received or disease contracted; and whatever facts may aid a judgment as to the cause, immediate or remote, of the disability, and the circumstances attending it.]

Place: (Signed).....

Date: .....Surgeon [or Physician.]

Sworn and subscribed to before.....

This certificate must be subscribed and sworn to by a Surgeon or private Physician in good standing, and known as such by the magistrate or other officer by whom the oath is administered; and on it a discharge will be ordered from these Headquarters, or the case otherwise disposed of according to the circumstances.

3. The death of any officer or soldier which has occurred since the 1st of January last, while he was absent from his regiment or company, and which has been reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital in which the death occurred, or by the friends of the deceased if not in Hospital, will be immediately reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital, or by the affidavit of friends, to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville," setting forth the date of decease and other material circumstances.

4. All absent officers and soldiers who do not join their companies and regiments, or are not satisfactorily accounted for as above by the 10th of July next, will be reported on their muster-roll as deserters, dating from the time they may have been absent without authority.

By Act of Congress every deserter forfeits all claim on the Government for pay and allowances, besides being liable to arrest and trial by Court Martial. Any person who apprehends and returns a deserter to the commanding officer of a military post is entitled to five dollars.

By command of MAJOR GEN. BUELL.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—BY VIRTUE of an execution issued out of and under the seal of the District Court of the Second Judicial District, in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, upon a judgment and decree rendered in said Court on the seventeenth day of May, A. D. 1862, and docketed on the seventeenth day of May, 1862, in said county of Ramsey, in an action in said Court pending, wherein Orin Gould is plaintiff, and Oliver C. Gardiner, Jno. Paul, H. Hamlin Dimick, Thomas Bergeron, Mary Bergeron, Andrew J. Deering, and Wm. H. Morison are defendants, in favor of said plaintiff for the sum of six thousand eight hundred and eighty six dollars and sixty six cents, which execution was received by me on the twenty-first day of June, 1862, and by virtue of said execution and in pursuance thereof, I have levied upon and taken into my possession all the right, title and interest which the said defendants, Oliver C. Gardiner, Jno. Paul, H. Hamlin Dimick, Thomas Bergeron, Mary Bergeron, Andrew J. Deering, and Wm. H. Morison had on the 17th day of May, 1862, or at any time thereafter, of, in and to the following described real estate, situate, lying and being in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, to wit: Lots numbered eleven (11) and twelve (12) in block numbered twenty (20) in Rice's and Rondeau's addition to St. Paul, in Ramsey County and State of Minnesota, to sell said real estate to satisfy said sum with interest from May, 1862, and twenty two dollars and forty nine cents costs levied on the 8th day of June, 1862, levy upon said lots and my possession of said above described real estate.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that on the 28th day of July, 1862, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the court house in the City of St. Paul, in said county of Ramsey, I will sell the said real estate to the highest bidder for cash according to the statute in such case made and provided, to satisfy said decree and execution, with interest and the costs thereon

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican electors of the several Wards and Townships of the County of Ramsey, and all others willing to unite with them in the support of the Government, and a vigorous prosecution of the war for the preservation of the Union, and opposed to those who gave aid directly to the traitors when they could, and now attempt to give aid indirectly by abuse of the Administration and its progressive measures, are requested to choose delegates to a County Convention to be held at the Court House on Monday the 28th inst., at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing eight delegates to represent said County in the District Convention to be held in St. Paul on the 30th inst., to place in nomination a suitable person to be supported by the electors of the Second Congressional District, for a Representative to Congress.

The several Wards and Townships will be entitled to the following representation, viz:

First Ward	3	delegates.
Second do	4	"
Third do	4	"
Fourth do	4	"
Fifth do	3	"

And the Townships to two delegates each.

The Committee would request that primary meetings for the election of said Delegates be held on Saturday the 26th inst., at the usual places of holding elections—in the various townships at 2 o'clock, P. M.—and in the several Wards at 8 o'clock, P. M.

THE NEWS.

It seems quite certain that Gen. Halleck is to take chief command under the President, of the armies of the nation.

Gen. Pope appears to be making good his promise to advance. His advance occupied Gordonsville.

By a foreign arrival we learn that news of the Richmond battles had been received in England by the steamer that arrived out on the 10th. It created great interest, but there is no indication that the news would precipitate intervention. When the steamer sailed which brings this news, the press and people of England had not had time to digest the news, and we fear the next arrival will bring less favorable reports of the feeling excited.

THE THIRD MINNESOTA.

We have good news for the anxious friends of the noble boys of the Third Regiment. They were paroled at McMinnville, and were back at Murfreesboro at last accounts.

RESIGNATION OF CHAPLAIN NEILL.

The people of the entire State will learn with regret that Rev. E. Neill has resigned the Chaplainey of the First Minnesota Regiment.

He has shared with the gallant regiment its hardships and perils, been with it on the bloody field of Bull Run, and through the scarcely less deadly swamps of the Chickahominy, and a part of the well earned glory of the regiment belongs to its spirited Chaplain.

LETTER FROM THE MINNESOTA FIRST.

We have in type an interesting letter from Corporal William Harmon, giving a full account of the weary and bloody march of the regiment from Fair Oaks to James river. It, and other matter, is crowded out, and will appear in our next issue.

NORTHWEST BRITISH AMERICA.

The House of Representatives, on the 20th of May, called upon the Secretary of the Treasury for any information in possession of the Department, upon the relations of the United States with Northwest British America, particularly the central districts of Red River and Saskatchewan. On the 11th of July the Secretary communicated an abstract of the reports on file in the Department, of J. W. Taylor, of St. Paul, which was ordered to be printed.

ACTING GOVERNOR DONNELLY'S PROCLAMATION.

We are reminded of our neglect to notice the earnest and appropriate appeal of Acting Governor Donnelly to the people of Minnesota—which lately appeared in our columns—by seeing it published in our exchanges from distant States. No more forcible statement of the demands of the crisis and the duty of the people to rally to the support of the nation in the final struggle that awaits its armies, has anywhere been made. Of our duty in Minnesota specifically, Governor Donnelly well says:

As Minnesota has heretofore nobly done her duty in this war; as she has furnished more than the quota heretofore asked of her; as her sons have established for themselves a pre-eminent reputation for discipline and courage; it now becomes her to meet, in an equally heroic spirit, this new emergency.

Meetings should be held in every county. Wealth, energy and ability should be devoted to the task of arousing the people to a sense of their present danger. The merchant, the farmer, and the manufacturer, must all understand, that unless the rebellion is speedily suppressed, their toil can profit them little;—that in a ruined country there can be no individual prosperity.

A WAR MEETING IN ST. PAUL.

All over the loyal land, the war spirit of the people is aroused, and meetings wild with enthusiasm, and overflowing in numbers are being held.

Our Eastern exchanges come to us filled with accounts of these patriotic demonstrations.

We are somewhat lagging in St. Paul—the wave of patriotic fervor is but just reaching us. The Mayor has been authorized by the Council to call a meeting of our people, which will afford an opportunity to St. Paul to join in this general outburst of patriotic ardor in behalf of our Government, and at the same time to stimulate enlistments for the Sixth Regiment.

The call will doubtless appear in our next issue, and the meeting be held early next week. Previous to the action of the City Council a number of citizens had joined in a call for a meeting Monday night, and the call was in type. After the action of the council it was thought best to await the Mayor's call.

ENLISTMENTS FOR THE SIXTH REGIMENT.

We direct attention to the correspondence which we publish this morning, between a committee of citizens of Stillwater and Acting Governor Donnelly. It will be seen that Gov. Donnelly takes the position, that each county will be credited with the number of volunteers it furnishes for the Sixth Regiment, towards the quota of the county in the event resort is had to drafting. This is right, and will encourage volunteer enlistments.

From the efforts being put forth, Gov. Donnelly is quite confident that no draft will be required to fill the Sixth Regiment.

ST. PAUL NOBLY COMING UP TO THE WORK.

It will be seen in a notice elsewhere of the proceedings of the City Council yesterday, that the Mayor and Common Council are patriotically meeting their responsibility. They but represent the unanimous wishes of our entire people.

A special bounty of twenty dollars is offered by the city to each one of seventy-five recruits that may be mustered into the three companies now forming in this city before the 15th of August. In addition to this bounty, five dollars per month is pledged to the family of such volunteers as shall allot eight dollars per month of their pay to their families.

The Mayor is authorized to call a mass meeting of the citizens to take action and stimulate enlistments,

FOR OR AGAINST LIBERTY!

An exchange presents in the following, an alternative that may well startle us:

In the question of foreign meddling there is one point which should be remembered. There is no doubt that Mr. Yancey, upon the part of the rebels, offered as an inducement for foreign recognition the emancipation of the slaves. When, therefore, it is thought by Europe that the time has come to acknowledge the independence of the rebel section, England will insist upon some scheme of emancipation as a condition. It will do this because abolition is the traditional British policy, and because the English know perfectly well the supply, of cotton of which depends upon slave-labor is necessarily an uncertain supply, because of the precarious condition of any slave society. Some scheme of emancipation will therefore be required, and it will be gladly granted by the rebels. Then what?

Then in fighting, as we have hitherto been, the Government will be fighting for slavery under the Union; but Europe and the South will be fighting not only for Southern independence, but for universal Liberty. Is it not worth while for us to secure that advantage? Is it not almost time for the President to call upon all loyal men in the land to rally to the support of the Government?

SUCCESSES IN TENNESSEE AND KENTUCKY.

The following from the Louisville Journal of the 15th affords some light along side of the dark shading in the news of the last ten days:

NINETY GUERILLAS CAPTURED.—The Nashville Union states that a company of guerillas, ninety in number, were busily engaged in drilling in an old field between Gallatin and Hartsville, on last Thursday, and otherwise preparing themselves for the work of murder and highway robbery as taught in the code of Ferguson and Morgan, being an improved edition of John Murrell's ethics. While absorbed in the drill some companies of Colonel Boone's regiment pounced upon them and captured the whole gang, who were taken to Nashville on Friday.

We learn from Nashville that Colonel Owen, of the 60th Indiana, surprised and cut to pieces 500 guerillas at Burksville, Kentucky, about 7 o'clock on Saturday night. The Nashville Union has other excellent news which it withholds for the present, but it adds that our plans are all that could be desired.

GENERAL POPE MOVING.

GORDONSVILLE OCCUPIED!!

WASHINGTON, July 18.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch states we have advices from Warrenton to-day. The news just received, that Gen. Hatch occupies Gordonsville, has created great consternation among the leading rebels in Warrenton, who had not the least idea that Gen. Pope would reach that point without a great battle. Indeed many of them said it would be held at all hazards, and that no Yankee army would ever be allowed to take it.

ENLISTMENTS FOR THE SIXTH REGIMENT.

CORRESPONDENCE WITH THE GOVERNOR IN REGARD TO QUOTAS.

The following correspondence between a committee of citizens of Stillwater, and acting Governor Donnelly, indicates that where a county furnishes its quota for the Sixth Regiment, by volunteering, such county will be exempt from the operations of drafting, if drafting has to be resorted to. This assurance is certainly just; each locality should furnish its quota, and no locality be required to do more:

LETTER OF COMMITTEE OF CITIZENS OF STILLWATER TO ACTING GOVERNOR DONNELLY.

STILLWATER, July 18, 1862.

Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, Acting Governor, Saint Paul:

DEAR SIR,—At a meeting held last evening, at Pugsley's Hall, it was resolved that the city of Stillwater should take at once the necessary steps to furnish its quota for the two Regiments now organizing in the State, and a committee appointed for the purpose of raising funds and encouraging enlistments. The undersigned, members of the committee, would respectfully ask that your Excellency inform us whether the number of men we may furnish will be credited this locality should it become necessary to resort to a draft in order to raise Minnesota's quota.

An early answer is respectfully solicited.

Very respectfully, etc.

J. J. ROBERTSON, Secretary.
CHARLES SCHEFFER, Treasurer.

ACTING GOVERNOR DONNELLY'S REPLY.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Executive Office, St. Paul, July 19, 1862.

Messrs. J. J. Robertson and Charles Sheffer, Committee, &c.:

GENTLEMEN,—Your communication of the 18th instant, has been received.

It seems to me most reasonable and equitable, if a particular county, by the exertions of its citizens or by the offer of pecuniary inducements, provides its just proportion of the quota of Minnesota under the late call of the President for troops, that it should not be required, in case a draft of the militia became necessary, to furnish in addition the proportion due from other counties.

I cannot, however, answer for the view Governor Ramsey may take of this matter. Neither can I say how far the law now before Congress providing for the drafting of the militia may prevent such a course; but should a draft be ordered during Governor Ramsey's absence, and should the Executive possess, as is possible, the control of the subject, I should certainly feel disposed to credit to each county the proportion already furnished by it to the Sixth Regiment.

The renewed activity now being manifested in the work of recruiting, and the general interest taken in the subject by our people, will, I trust, prevent the necessity of resorting to any compulsory mode of making up our quota.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully, your obd't serv't,
IGNATIUS DONNELLY.

THE FIGHT AT MURFREESBORO.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

From an account in the Nashville Dispatch of the 15th of the fight at Murfreesboro, we gather a few items of interest:

"After the capture of Hewett's battery, the officers of the Third Minnesota Regiment, which had retired about a quarter of a mile, held a consultation as to the best course to pursue, and, feeling that they were unable to make a successful defense against so large a cavalry force, determined to surrender, which they accordingly did about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This regiment numbered about five hundred men; the privates stacked their guns, and the officers threw their side arms into a pile, and as they marched to the rear, the men struck up 'Yankee Doodle,' and cheered lustily for the Union.

"Up to the presenting writing we have heard of only two men belonging to Capt. Hewitt's battery, and about a dozen of the Minnesota regiment, including the sutler and a negro steward, who escaped. It is believed, however, that most of the Pennsylvania cavalry, who were out on scout duty, will escape, as they were advised by the courier of the state of affairs.

"The Federal loss in killed and wounded is thought to be over two hundred, and about nineteen hundred prisoners, including Gen. T. T. Crittenden, of Indiana, who had but recently been appointed a Brigadier General, we believe, and assigned to command at Murfreesboro.

"It is said that, in the charge on Capt. Hewitt's battery, the Confedeeates were terribly decimated, and their loss in killed and wounded is variously reported at from four to six hundred.

"It is reported that the Confederates captured about sixteen hundred stand of small arms, over five thousand pounds of ammunition, nearly one hundred tents, a battery of six brass pieces, and a large number of horses, mules and wagons. A considerable amount of commissary and other stores were destroyed by the burning of the depot.

"The sutler of the 3d Minnesota regiment suffered in the extent of about $5,000, having lost his whole Stock.

REBEL CONSPIRACY AND ATTEMPTED ESCAPE AT CAMP MORTON—FIVE REBELS KILLED, MANY OTHERS WOUNEED.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 15.—Last night, during a heavy thunder storm, a number of rebel prisoners confined in Camp Morton made a dash for liberty. They were encouraged to do this by the fact that nearly one half of the guard force had been withdrawn on Saturday by Governor Morton, and sent into Kentucky to aid General Boyle, leaving only about half the usual number of men on duty. Notwithstanding this and the darkness of the night, five of the prisoners were killed outright, and a number severely wounded, some of whom will die. Several were re-captured to-day, and scouts are on the track of the rest. Three companies of State militia arrived to-day, and several hundred more will be here to-morrow, and then an additional force of 400 of the old guard, who are well drilled and equipped, will be sent to Kentucky.

General Halleck to be General Commander.

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—The Inquirer says that Gen. Halleck is on his way to Washington to take his position as General Commanding of the armies of the United States. Gen. Halleck is to remain in Washington.

Generals McClellan and Pope are to continue in their present commands.

THE LAST DAY OF CONGRESS.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON THE CONFISCATION BILL.

POSTAGE STAMPS MADE LEGAL CURRENCY.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Times.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

The final adjournment of Congress, this afternoon, was marked by no events worthy of special note.

The Senate remained in executive session all the morning, performing legislative and executive work at the same time, without opening the doors.

The result was that all attention centered in the House, though the attendance there of members and spectators was slim.

The President's message on the confiscation bill was anticipated, and was received with a very bad grace by the House, that body deciding to adjourn without the customary motion to print, which is usually made out of respect to the President.

The members seemed to think that the complete reverse which the President made in the usual course of proceeding, by sending in a veto message on a bill after it had been previously made to suit his views, was something of a slur on their constitutional dignity and rights.

The conservative portion, so called, are delighted at the allusion in the message relative to the importance of slaves in the army as laborers.

A very large number of Senators and members left for home this evening, and nearly all will be gone by the end of the week.

There were a number of absentees from both houses, who will come under the law signed to-day, deducting from their mileage home for leaving prior to adjournment.

In the case of the Pacific coast Senators, the item will be large.

The law making postage stamps legal currency was reported from the committee, passed both houses, and was signed within an hour by the President to-day.

The Treasury Department is prepared immediately to issue stamps of all denominations, on thick, ungummed paper, of larger size than the present issues.

The President's message sent in to-day was as follows:

Fellow-Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Considering the bill for an act to suppress insurrection, to punish treason and rebellion, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels, and for other purposes, and the joint resolution explanatory of said act as being substantially one, I have approved and signed both. Before I was informed of the passage of the resolutions I had prepared a draught stating my objections to the bill becoming a law, a copy of which draught is herewith transmitted.

(Signed) ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Surprise of Colonel Caffey's Command

CAPTURE OF REBEL STORES AND AMMUNITION.

FORT SCOTT, KANSAS, July 18.—A messenger from the Indian expedition, near Fort Gibson, in the Indian Territory, arrived here last night, and reports that a detachment of the 6th and 9th Kansas regiments had surprised Colonel Caffey's command of from 500 to 600 rebels, and captured all their munitions, camp equipage, &c. Some thirty rebels were found dead on the field.

McGuire, the notorious half-breed commander of the rebel Indians, was taken prisoner.

Our forces, under Brigadier General Blunt, have penetrated south as far as the Arkansas river, where they will make a halt for the present.

Fort Scott has been made a military post during the war.

SPRINGFIELD, July 17.—An expedition recently sent from here under Major Miller, of the 2d Wisconsin cavalry, consisting of one section of Davidson's battery, and detachments of the 10th Illinois, 3d Wisconsin cavalry, and 3d Missouri State militia, numbering about 600 men, attacked the combined forces of Rains, Caffey, Hunter and Hawthorne, about 1,600 strong, eight miles beyond Fayetteville, Arkansas, early Tuesday morning, completely routing them with heavy loss.

Miller's command marched 75 miles in two nights and took the enemy by surprise. Our loss is very small.

Col. Hall, of the 4th Missouri militia, stationed at Mt. Vernon, reports the killing of twenty-one guerrillas and capture of 1,200 pigs of lead during the past few days.

The Appropriations of Congress.

BILLS THAT WERE NOT ACTED ON.

Congress, during the recent session, has appropriated about $800,000,000, including upwards of $560,000,000 for the army, and something less than $100,000,000 for the navy.

Among the most important bills postponed by the House, or remaining unacted upon, are the following:

Providing for the admission of the State of Western Virginia; for the enlargement of the Illinois and Michigan canal; providing for a uniform system of bankruptcy; for the appointment of a commission to ascertain losses incurred by loyal citizens from the appropriation of their property by United States troops; the bank bill; the bill appropriating two hundred million dollars for border slave State emancipation, and for colonization purposes

The Senate took no definite action upon the House bills to totally abolish the franking privilege, and to repeal all laws allowing mileage, including the present members of Congress.

The House bill providing for the discharge or trial of State prisoners failed in the Senate.

State Items.

From the St. Peter Tribune.

RECRUITING.—Lieut. Cox proposes to raise a company under the last call of the President and we hope he will meet with the success the cause deserves.

TAKING WOOL BELOW.—A number of gentleman residing in Nicollet county, have sent their wool to the St. Anthony factory. The increase in wool growing will demand such an enterprise here.

IN TOWN.—Our popular and efficient State Auditor, Charles McIlrath, has been in town for several days, on business connected with his office. He has also made a flying trip to Winnebago City, and leaves for St. Paul to-day.

THE river is becoming decidedly low, most of the boats having been deterred from making an attempt on the Upper Minnesota.

☞ We have now in this trade only that class of light draught steamers which run with perfect ease over a heavy dew.

A CHANGE.—The office of the Herald, published at Cleveland, Leseur county, has been sold to Mr. Edwards, who intends moving it to Leseur. Under the supervision of our friend Perry, the Herald has been conducted with marked ability, and its reputation as a first-class family journal has been fully established.

MORE EMIGRANTS.—The emigration to this vicinity is still pouring in without abatement. Daily the Land Office is besieged by the enterprising proprietors of the prairie schooners, and each brings information of the crowd following in the wake of his craft.

Quite a delegation from the "four hundred" recently landed at Shakopee have reached this place, and at once made an advance on the interior. Many others are reported on the way.

The President and Gen. McClellan.

The Washington correspondent of the World in speaking of the President's late visit to McClellan's army says:

As respects Gen. McClellan, the President distinctly avows his admiration of that officer's late movements, saying that whether he got into a scrape through his own or others' fault he got out of it gloriously: that he is as elastic and buoyant in recovery as his unequalled rank and file; lastly, that if Gen. McClellan should be removed, he, the President, would not be responsible for the army demoralization and tumult which such a procedure would involve.

So the question is settled. McClellan is to be reinforced, and the siege of Richmond to continue. Rather, I should say, the assault upon Richmond will be essayed; for we shall hear little more of trenches and engineering, except as at Harrison's Landing, for the purpose of defense.

Our Recent Military Disasters.

It never rains but it pours. The shock before Richmond was preceded by the repulse on James Island and has been followed by some serious reverses in the West. At Murfreesboro two regiments and two generals have been captured—Nashville is threatened and may fall, since we are in a run of bad luck—Baton Rouge has been recaptured, and portions of three regiments, fifteen hundred men in all surrendered with it, while guerillas swarm again in Missouri, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

This is not a pleasant state of things, but it was rendered possible when General Halleck decided to go into summer quarters with his army. Had the campaign continued vigorously we should not have heard of the rebels being near Nashville. If we do not attack them they undoubtedly will us, and we must expect a series of reverses until our western army again assumes the offensive.

There is but one way out of our troubles, but one security against such disasters as these by which our patience and patriotism are tried—but one hope, indeed, for the preservation of the republic. It lies in a more vigorous prosecution of the war—remorseless activity in the cabinet and on the field—the displacement of the incompetent and the treacherous—the advancement of the brave and the skillful—and new men and new measures wherever old men and old measures have failed.—New York World.

The Strength of McClellan's Army.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—SENATE—EVENING SESSION.—Chandler made a speech in which he read from the testimony of Assistant-Secretary of War Tucker, that prior to the 5th of April, 120,000 men were sent down to McClellan; subsequently Franklin's division, 12,000; McCall's division 10,000; 10,000 from Baltimore and Fort Monroe, and Shield's division 5,000; making 158,000 sent to McClellan prior to the engagement before Richmond. Chandler continued his remarks in a similar strain to his previous speech against McClellan, and in defense of the Secretary of War.

Sumner offered a resolution that the Committee on the Conduct of the War have leave to sit during the recess of Congress. Adjourned.

REBEL RAID IN KENTUCKY.

CYNTHIANA CAPTURED.

CINCINNATI, July 18th.—A man came into Boyd's, Kentucky, on the Kentucky Central Railroad, this morning, reports the town of Cynthiana City, 66 miles from here, having surrendered at 5 o'clock, yesterday, after an hour's fight—he saw Morgan and shook hands with him. Morgan's men number about 2,500. A soldier also came into Boyd's and says Morgan's men fired two rounds after the surrender. Captain Arthurs' company from New Port are all killed or taken prisoners. The excitement is very high and increasing; citizens organizing for defense. The New Port Provost Marshal arrests all sympathizers to-day.

The Murfreesboro Captives Paroled.

NASHVILLE, July 17.—Reported federals paroled at McMinnville returned to Murfreesboro.

The rebels have gone to Chattanooga.

The President's Recent Conferences With Military Leaders.

WHAT IS FORESHADOWED.

Gen. Halleck to Assume Duties at Washington.

Unity of Action to be Secured.

Recent Orders to Gen. Pope.

WASHINGTON, July 19.

It is known that the President has recently visited Lieutenant General Scott and subsequently Gen. McClellan and the army of the Potomac, and now he has the benefit of their experience as well as that of Gen. Pope, Gen. Mitchell and other distinguished military officers. The expected arrival of General Halleck becomes important in this connection, and it is the current belief that he will not take the field, but be entrusted with important duties in this city. The consolidation of the corps now composing the army of Virginia and other similar arrangements warrant the conclusion that measures are in the course of consummation to everywhere secure unity of action, or in other words, a specific plan of operations the better to ensure success and prevent all conflict of jurisdiction and jealousies whatsoever.

The recently published order of Gen. Pope is highly popular with military men as well as civilians and their execution will remove much complaint on the part of the citizens.

NEWS FROM RICHMOND.

Rebels Fear General Pope.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

The Senate failed to confirm a large number of nominations which fell with the adjournment. Among them were Ward Burnett, G. A. Scroggs, Edwin H. Webster and Colonel Carroll, to be Brigadier Generals.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 15th appears alarmed at the order of our War Department concentrating the forces of McDowell, Fremont and Banks, under Pope, and remarks of the latter that he is notoriously one of the most dangerous of the Union commanders—an officer of great activity and daring, and is very apt to do some unexpected things.

It adds that the foray into Orange county, and the destruction of the railroad bridge over the Rapidan by the enemy is a challenge on the part of Pope that our troops have now to take up.

The Enquirer, commenting on the threatening aspect of McClellan's operations, says: We must dig, dig, dig, or McClellan will dig into Richmond. The spade can only cope with the spade, and the shovel will always defeat the musket.

Of Lincoln's recent visit to the army, the Enquirer says: A dirty trio—Lincoln, Stanton, and Winfield Scott—passed by Old Point on Thursday last, en route for McClellan's headquarters, at or near Berkley. A gentleman who saw the steamer which conveyed this dirty trio of Yankee negro stealers, says there was a band of music on board, and many flags and streamers were fluttering to the breeze.

Rebels not within 14 Miles of McClellan, North of James River, but in Great Numbers on South Side.

It is Feared James River will be Blockaded.

WASHINGTON, July 19.

Lieut. Col. Pierson, of the 43d New York regiment arrived here to-day. He left the front of our army on the Peninsula yesterday morning. At that time there were no forces of enemy within 14 miles of our lines on this side of the James River, but a balloon reconnoissance disclosed a large concentration of the rebels on south side in vicinity of City Point.

The army was represented to be in good condition and with confidence unimpaired in McClellan. It is believed, however, that James River will be blockaded by the rebels at the bluffs of Claremont.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 17.

The correspondent of the Leavenworth Conservative says, the recent battle in the Indian Nation between detatchments of Kansas regiment, under Col. Were and a force of rebels, resulted in the capture of 125 prisoners, a large number of horses and ponies, about 1,500 head of cattle, 36 loaded mule teams, a large quantity of camp and garrison equippage, and 50 stand of arms.

Col. Ritchie in command of a regiment of loyal Indians, has reliable information that chief John Ross was about to join the expedition with some 1,500 warriors. Col. Salomon, of the 9th Wisconsin, had also captured 40 prisoners.

Four hundred mounted Cherokee and Osage Indians had come into our camp with white flags, carrying their guns with their muzzles pointing downwards.

About 250 negroes belonging to rebel half breeds are now en route for Fort Scott.

THE OVERLAND MAIL.

CHANGE OF ROUTE.

WASHINGTON, July 19.

The overland mail service has been suspended, in consequence of the removal of the stock, &c., preliminary to changing the route, which will strike off at Jacksboro, and follow the Cherokee trail through Bridge's Pass to Salt Lake. The arrangement will save 150 miles of travel, and protect from depredations the telegraph wire. Its route will necessarily be changed to the new mail line. After the last mail to California, namely, the 21st, the overland route will be resumed.

James S. Hallowell has been appointed disbursing officer of the Post Office Department, and superintendent of the building, in place of J. Hall, dismissed.

So far as is known at the War Department, there is no foundation for the rumored defeat of Stonewall Jackson by General Sigel. It is not known that any engagement has taken place.

Several female secessionists were yesterday escorted beyond the Federal lines by General Thayer, they having refused to take the oath of allegiance. Their husbands are among the most wealthy citizens of Memphis, and are now serving in the rebel army.

The Grenada Appeal of the 11th publishes the following dispatch:

CAMP MOORE, July 11.—The dispatch of the capture of Baton Rouge by our forces is a canard of old Jake Barker's, of New Orleans, for financial purposes.

CHARLESTON, July 10.—The enemy landed in force yesterday on the main land near Port Royal ferry, as if for another attack against the Charleston and Savannah railroad, but they retreated on the approach of our troops.

News and Miscellany.

—The eight thousand rebel prisoners at Camp Chase are becoming troublesome, and on Thursday morning last attacked the commandant's headquarters with stones They are guarded by 1,600 Federal troops.

—The result of the introduction of the new tariff act has been to largely increase the revenue at New York the past few days, importers rapidly withdrawing their merchandise in bond to escape the imposition of the new rates, and fearing to store those which daily arrive.

—The John Brown fund, contributed by the people of Hayti, is at last to be distributed to the heirs of John Brown and his fellow-sufferers. It amounts to about $5,400, and the committee appointed includes Wendell Phillips, William Loyd Garrison and James Redpath.

—The Memphis Avalanche says the report that General Crittenden has resigned his command in the rebel army and gone to Texas, is a mistake. It states that he was court-martialled, and, after the court had made up a verdict, he was permitted to resign.

—It is deserving of notice that the late emphatic declarations in the British Parliament against intervention, are coincident with the arrival of Lord Lyons in England.

—The framers of the Federal constitution firmly believed that slavery would cease to exist within an ordinary lifetime. Unless we keep this fact in view, certain portions of that instrument seem inexplicable. Seven of the original States honestly carried out the intention of the "framers:" one did so partially; one hesitated, faltered, and blackslid; four shamefully persisted in their sinfulness. The past record of the seven righteous States is honorable—their position to-day is glorious. The State partially redeemed is atoning for the past by good works. The blackslider is on the stool of repentance. But the four reprobates are steeped in iniquity, stained with innocent blood, covered with infamy, and must be wholly regenerated before they can be saved. God has set the seal of his eternal condemnation on slavery; and every people guilty of the sin will be scourged.

Important if True.

A writer in the New York Tribune says there exists a wide spread organization among the blacks of the South, the object of which is the attainment of freedom. The writer continues, that he knowns personally of over twenty leaders, and has the names of over five hundred who can control and bring at a moment's warning one hundred thousand able-bodied fighting blacks. He professes a willingness to communicate these particulars to the Government, whenever the Government desires the service of those men.

The Militia Drafting Bill.

The House yesterday passed the Senate bill amendatory of the act of 1795. It is one of the most important measures yet passed. The term of enlistment for which the militia will be called out is limited to nine months, and one month's pay and twenty-five dollars bounty paid in advance. The bill authorizes the President to receive negroes into the service for constructing entrenchments, performing camp service, or any other labor, or any military service for which they may be found competent—to be enrolled and organized as the President may prescribe. It also declares free all slaves, including their families, who shall thus serve the government, except those belonging to loyal masters.—Chicago Tribune, 17th.

IN MEMORIUM.—We learn from a private letter that our young friend, James Deloss Henry, son of R. R. Henry, of Point Douglas, well and favorably known here, died in the service of his country, of typhoid fever, on board the hospital boat, in the vicinity of Richmond, on the 3d of July. He was a member of Company A, First Minnesota, and at the time of his death was about 24 years of age. He had many friends and associates here, and won the esteem of his companions in arms.—Hastings Independent.

Strength and Position of the Rebel Army at Richmond.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer writes that during his trip to the recent battle field he had an interview with Dr. Weisel and Lieut. Miner, both of the rebel army. They intimated that the army at Richmond numbers over 200,000 at this time. In the recent battle they acknowledge a loss of 30,000. They state that Stonewall Jackson, who was not even wounded in the recent battles, has moved down, with Stewart's brigade, and occupies Sandy Point between the Chickahominy and James rivers, below our army. Johnston and Magruder are above. Their intention is to throw up entrenchments on the river banks for the purpose of harrassing our gunboats and transports, and then make a sortie against our army.

FROM McCLELLAN'S ARMY.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

REBEL ACCOUNTS OF THE SITUATION.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—The Richmond Enquirer of the 12th, speaks of Gen. McClellan's defensive attitude, under cover of the gunboats, as fixed. His only demonstration upon the confederate lines until he shall become resuscitated from late defeats, must be indecisive raids to keep up the spirits of his men. In the meantime we must turn our eyes to the West for more startling events. The movements of Buell and the consequent operations of our own army, are now watched with anxiety and confidence by the government.

The Enquirer also says that the enemy has been displaying considerable activity of moment in the vicinity of the upper Rappahannock, gathering 5,000 men at Warrenton, and detached forces amounting in the aggregate to a considerable army, at various points stretching from Catlett's station, in Farquier county, through Warrenton, Amesville and Washington to Springville, at the base of the Blue Ridge, in Rappahannock county.

Gen. Ricketts is quartered on the road from Warrenton to the Springs.

The Petersburg Express, of the 11th, reports the shelling of Hamilton, North Carolina, by federal gunboats. As the Roanoke River was quite high, they would probably attempt to reach Weldon.

Major Austin E. Smith, (son of Extra Billy,) and formerly navy agent at San Francisco, died from wounds received in battle before Richmond. It will be remembered he was arrested on the Isthmus and confined at Fort Warren, and was exchanged only a few weeks ago.

The Richmond Dispatch announces the arrival there of the Pittsburg sanitary committee, twelve in number, who were taken prisoners at Savage's farm.

Gen. Robinson, with a large body of cavalry, still holds the enemy in check at Harrisonburg.

Marriage of the Princess Alice.

The marriage of Her Royal Highness, Princess Alice and His Royal Highness Prince Louis of Hesse, was solemnized at Osborne. The Lord High Chancellor, Lord Palmerston, Earl Russell and several other Cabinet Ministers were present. The Earl of Derby, Earl of Clarendon, and several other personages received special invitations. The Duke de Nemours was present.

At five P. M., their royal highnesses, Prince and Princess Louis of Hesse, left for St. Clair, near the Ryde. The suite in attendance consisted of Lady Churchill, Major-General Seymour, and Capt. Van Westerweller.

Her Majesty's gift to the Princess Alice was a beautiful bracelet studded with pearls and diamonds, with the likenesses of the Queen and Prince Consort, set round with pearls and diamonds; on the top the royal coronet, and at the bottom the likenesses of the Princess Alice and the Prince Louis, with their monograms. The Queen also presented the Princess with three rings which are in accordance with the prevailing fashion of gifts at great weddings, namely: a ring of diamonds, one of emeralds, and one of rubies.

The Prince of Wales' present to his sister, on her marriage, was a parure, or bodice, of emeralds and diamonds, and a tiara of the same precious stones. The royal bridesmaids' present, a tea service of silver gilt. The Prince Consort's presents were prepared last year, before December; they consist of two bracelets, a splendid broach, and a tiara of diamonds and emeralds. Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal presented the Princess Alice with an ebony dressing-case, fitted with highly-chased, engraved, and engine-turned gold-mounted articles, the crown and cipher elaborately worked on each.

The death of the Grand Duchess of Hesse has, it seems, caused some change in the plans and arrangements of Prince Louis and the Princess Alice; for there seems to be no doubt now that the Prince and Princess will reside for some time in the year, if not permanently, at Darmstadt, where, indeed, a residence is being prepared for their reception. Their first sojourn will be, however, at Frogmore. A considerable portion of the trousseau of the Princess Alice is already packed up for transmission to the continent.

Operations on the South Carolina Coast.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The Navy Department has received dispatches, stating that Lieutenant Commanding Braine, recently picked up at sea in an open boat, eight contrabands from Little River Inlet, South Carolina, from whom information was obtained that two schooners were preparing to run the blockade, laden with cotton and turpentine, and that the cargo was already in the warehouse near the wharf, ready for shipment. Capt. Gleason ordered an expedition fitted out, consisting of an armed boat from each vessel, commanded by Lieutenants Braine and Bruce. The town was found deserted. The schooner at the wharf was not considered worth the trouble of bringing away. They found at the wharf and warehouses two hundred barrels of turpentine, sixty bales of cotton, and fifty-three barrels of resin, the whole of which was destroyed by fire, valued at about $50,000.

THE GREEN MOUNTAIN BOYS.

Their Reception in New York.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The 9th Vermont arrived this morning, and was received by the sons of Vermont, who gave them a fitting reception, including a dinner to the officers at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The regiment marched down Broadway this afternoon, paying a marching salute to the wife of the President at the Metropolitan Hotel, and embarked on the Amboy at six o'clock. They were the recipients of great enthusiasm on their march from the immense crowds, and salutes were fired at different points.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—SENATE.—Mr. Foster called up the bill in relation to the competency of witnesses in the United States courts.

Mr. Sumner moved to amend that no witness should be excluded on account of color. He spoke at some length in favor of the amendment, which was rejected, after disenssion—14 to 23.

Mr. Davis offered an amendment providing for the punishment of rebels or disloyal persons. Rejected—18 to 19.

The bill then passed.

Mr. Foster called up the bill amendatory of acts prohibiting the slave trade. Passed.

The bill for the discharging of State prisoners was then taken up.

Mr. Wilson of Massachusetts moved to strike out the two first sections of the bill, providing for the discharge of all State prisoners and taking bail, and leaving in the bill one section authorizing the President to suspend the habeas corpus act when necessary.

Mr. Wilson said there was overwhelming evidence in possession of the department against these men. He was opposed to the bill in any shape.

Mr. Trumbull said: "Is the Senator from Massachusetts in favor of putting men from the loyal States in prison, without telling what the charges are? How does he know they are traitors? What is the constiution good for, if, in districts where there is peace, and where the laws are not interfered with, men cannot claim the benefit of the constitution?"

Mr. Wilson continued and declared there was overwhelming evidence against some of these men.

At 10 o'clock the Senate went into executive session, and subsequently adjourned.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—SENATE.—Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, from the military committee, reported back the bill to authorize the raising of a volunteer force for the better defense of the State of Kentucky, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration.

Mr. Davis, of Kentucky, called the bill up and urged its passage.

Messrs. Wilson and Collamer, of Vermont, opposed the passage of the bill.

Mr. Clark thought that Kentucky should not be allowed to raise troops simply to fight on her own soil. He said that at one time there were sixteen men from a rural town in New Hampshire in one regiment of the army of the Potomac, but he was informed that not one of them was alive. Now, not one of them perished by the bullet, the saber or the bayonet, but all died in the trenches of Virginia. How could he ask his own people to go and fight and die and rot by the wayside in Virginia, when Kentucky was allowed to have troops paid by the Government who only fight in the State of Kentucky, and do easy service within their own doors? The bill was then laid aside informally, after a long debate.

Mr. Powell offered an amendment to strike out the word "real," so as to have the limitation of life forfeiture apply to property.

A long debate ensued.

Mr. Powell's amendment was rejected —16 against 21.

Mr. Clark's amendment was then adopted—25 to 15.

Mr. Clark offered a further amendment that the words "granting amnesty" authorize the President to restore the property seized under the bill to any person innocent. Agreed to, and the resolution passed.

The bill providing for a more prompt settlement of the account of disbursing officers was passed.

Mr. White, of Indiana, briefly explained the provisions of the bill, and on his motion 10,000 copies of the bill and report were ordered to be printed. The bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union.

Mr. Kellogg offered a resolution empowering the President to call out a million of men for the army, but the House refused to suspend the rules to receive.

The bill admitting Western Virginia was postponed till December.

The bill authorizing the President to contract with any Foreign power to receive and colonize captured Africans was passed.

The bill amendatory of the act of 1795 came up. It authorizes the President to call out the militia for not exceeding nine months, and the employment of blacks, was passed under the operation of the previous question.

A resolution of thanks was passed to naval officers Gardner, Davis, Dahlgren, Rowan, D.D. Porter, and Stringham.

The Senate passed a resolution amending the act to provide for internal revenue.

The House resolution providing that it be voted an excuse for absence from Congress to be in active military service was passed with an amendment making it conditional that the military service be without pay.

The bill for the discharge of State prisoners, etc., was taken up.

The section authorizing the President to suspend the habeas corpus was amended so as to limit it to the time when Congress was not in session.

Mr. Wilson's amendment to strike out the first two sections was rejected by 18 against 19.

The bill was further amended so that prisoners would not be discharged without taking the oath of allegiance, on which a debate ensued.

Recess until 7 o'clock.

HOUSE.—Mr. White, from the committe on gradual emancipation, to whom the President's recent message and a draft of a bill were referred, reported a bill providing that whenever the President shall be satisfied that Maryland, Delaware, Kentucky or Missouri has adopted measures for the emancipation of the slaves throughout either or all these States, it shall be the duty of the President, assisted by the Secretary of Treasury, to procure and deliver to such State five per cent. United States bonds, equal to the valuation of the slaves according to the census of 1860.

Provided, No compensation shall be made to any State which has aided the present rebellion, or to any one that has held or accepted any civil or military office under the so-called Confederate States, or any one of them.

The whole amount of the bonds to be delivered shall not exceed in the aggregate $180,000 for the purpose of setting the slaves beyond the limits of the United States.

Twenty millions of dollars are appropriated to be expended in colonization at the discretion of the president. The benefits of this act shall not issue to any State failing to pass a law of emancipation within five years from the date of passage of this act.

The bill also provides for complete emancipation within twenty years. Is any after having received any bonds, af aforesaid, shall recommend or tolerate slavery contrary to the act of emancipation, it shall refund to the United States all the principal and interest paid on account of such bond.

The confiscation bill as amended by the Senate was received, and after several dilatory motions a vote was taken on its adoption, when it was found no quorum was present. Another vote was taken and the Senate amendments were agreed to—73 to 21.

The House concurred in the Senate proposition that all sections of the internal tax bill requiring anything to be done, after July and August are amended so as to mean that such things shall not be done later than the 1st of October.

The Rebel Gen. Lee's Congratulatory Order.

RICHMOND.—July 12.—General Lee has issued a congratulatory order to the army, dated headquarters on the field, July 17, 1862. He says the General commanding is profoundly grateful to the only giver of all victories for the signal success with which He has blessed our arms. He tenders his warmest thanks and congratulations to the army by whose valor such splendid results have been achieved.

On Tuesday, June 26, the powerful and splendidly equipped army of our enemy was entrenched in works vast in extent and most formidable in character within sight of our capital. To-day the remains of that confident and threatning host lies upon the banks of the James River thirty miles from Richmond, seeking to recover under the protection of his gunboats from the effects of a series of disastrous defeats. After briefly referring to the defeat and pursuit of the enemy, General Lee says:

"The immediate results of our success are the relief of Richmond from a state of siege; the rout of the great army that so long menaced its safety; many thousand prisoners, including officers of high rank; and the capture or destruction of thousands of arms, and fifty one pieces of superior artillery. This service rendered to the country in this short but eventful period can scarcely be estimated, and the General commanding adequately expresses his admiration of the courage and endurance and soldierly bearing of both officers and men. These brilliant results have cost us many brave men, but while we mourn the loss of the gallant dead, let us not forget that they died nobly in defense of their country's freedom, and have linked their memory with events that will live forever in the hearts of a grateful people.

PRESIDENT ON CONFISCATION.

Chandler on the Conduct of the War.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

THE NEW MILITIA LAW.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The President caused considerable indignation among the radical men by telling Messrs. Clark and Fessenden that he would veto the confiscation bill unless it be so modified that forfeitures should only apply to real estate during the life of the traitor. Fessenden was particularly savage on this back-kitchen style of veto, and Lane of Indiana, Preston King, and others, made strong speeches in favor of doing nothing till the President should send in his message.

The fear of losing the confiscation measure, altogether, made them yield the modification that satisfied the President and averted the veto.

Mr. Lincoln was in his room at the back of the Senate chamber during the debate.

Mr. Hale declared if the President had been no lawyer at all, or had been a very superior lawyer, he would have no constitutional difficulties about this bill, but this was truly a case where "a little learning is a dangerous thing."

Mr. Chandler's speech on the conduct of the war produces a profound sensation. The facts are so startling and so much stronger and more conclusive than had been expected, that his bitterest opponents have not a word to say. They denounce its spirit, but have nothing to say about its reasonings.

The Senate is sitting to-day. There is no doubt about the adjournment to-morrow noon.

The new militia, or drafting law, passed the House exactly as it came from the Senate. The clause about employing negroes, telegraphed last night, will be a law as soon as the President signs it. It is understood there is no fear about the the President approving all important bills in his hands.

There is some hitch among the majority of the border State men, and their address is still withheld. Maynard, of Tennessee, and Henderson of Missouri, made separate addresses, each strong for emancipation.

The Falsehood About the Fugitive Slave Expense.

The reiterated assertion of the Pro-Slavery journals of the country that the Government is paying $100,000 a day for the support of fugitive blacks in the District of Columbia, which was repeated by Vallandigham, the leader of the Democratic party in Ohio, in his speech at the recent State Convention, and by Richardson, of Illinois, on the floor of the House, and with a demonstration of a desire to do personal violence to Mr. Blake, of Ohio, who had called out the statement in question, is absurdly untrue.

As we proved the other day from official sources, half of the 400 blacks in charge of the Government not only support themselves and the other half, who are women and children, but save the Government from 15 to 40 cents a day apiece, as they perform necessary work much more cheaply than white laborers would do it.—New York Tribune.

From the Shenandoah.

SHERRYVILLE, July 14.—As the pickets belonging to the 6th Ohio cavalry were passing through Luray, twenty miles south of Front Royal, on Sunday last they were attacked by Ashby's cavalry and the citizens. During the skirmish three of the pickets were slightly wounded, while two of Ashby's men and five of the citizens were taken prisoners. None of our men were captured.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.

From the subscriber, in St. Anthony, two horses, one of them a brown black mane and tail right hind foot white, and a little lame; has a star in his forehead; weighs about thirteen hundred pounds; the other a roan, black mane and tail weighs about twelve hundred pounds. JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the state of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $220,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and the Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the state of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $2,990,23. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $815,285 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,950,-000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all those companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John Metcee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,283.38, against an actual liability of only $57,080.33; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $221,134.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $910,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,75,300, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $329,656. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In full the HOME wrote $196,755.18, taking $82,993 premium, and paid losses $535,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $160,664 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear.

LA CROSSE AND ST. PAUL

PACKET COMPANY.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

During the summer of 1862, till the close of navigation, the LaCrosse and St. Paul Packet Company, having completely equipped their Line and made large additions to their business facilities, will offer to shippers and passengers on the river greater inducements and conveniences, and QUICKER TIME, than was ever offered by any company on the river.

All the boats on the Chippewa, Minnesota, St. Croix and the upper Mississippi rivers, and the different lines of stages north of LaCrosse, will, the coming season run to connect with the Davidson boats and the LaCrosse and Milwaukee Railroad.

The LaCrosse and St. Paul Packet Company will run a

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT LINE.

The former will number two first class boats—the nicest and fastest on the river. They will be the McCLELLAN and NORTHERN BELLE—The first will be the Lightning Line, making the run from La Crosse to St. Paul in EIGHTEEN hours, and returning will leave here in the morning, and arrive at La Crosse in twelve hours time to connect with the evening train, by which our passengers will make close connection and reach Milwaukee in time for cars, or boats on the Lake in TWENTY HOURS FROM ST. PAUL, and reach Chicago next morning, by Minnesota Junction or Milwaukee, in just TWENTY-FOUR HOURS FROM LEAVING ST. PAUL, and in time for close connection East! This will be by twelve hours the quickest time between these three cities ever made! Nothing but passengers, the

THE CITY.

REV. A. P. GRAVES, of Lake City, will preach this morning at the Union Baptist Church, Minneapolis, at half-past ten o'clock.

REV. EDWARD GRAVES, from Montreal, will preach at Fletcher's Hall, Minneapolis, (Congregational Church,) to-day at half-past ten o'clock A. M.

GEN. DANA.—Letters received from Mrs. Dana since her arrival at Philadelphia, represent him to have been much prostrated by a low fever. He is slowly recovering.

POLICE.—The only case up yesterday was that of a Cincinnati darkey, who undertook to outrun the police the night before. He was fined one dollar—for being caught we suppose.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.—Services forenoon and evening as usual at St. Paul's Church to-day. Rev. Mr. DuBois officiating. Strangers sojourning in the city are cordially invited to attend.

FIREMEN'S PIC NIC.—The Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company will have a pic nic at Stahlman's gardens, on Monday, for the purpose of raising funds to furnish their house. A good time is expected, as the boys are making great exertions to get up an affair that will reflect the highest credit.

LA CROSSE FERRY AND MINNESOTA TRADE.—Hon. Clark W. Thompson, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, in Minnesota, and Surveyor General Washburn of that State, are in this city to-day to confer with our citizens in relation to the establishment of a cheap ferry between La Crosse and Root River Valley.—La Crosse Democrat, 17th.

NEW CARPET STORE.—A new carpet store is about to be opened next door to Primrose's furniture store, by Mr. J. Bugbee, late of Boston. This will be quite an addition to the mercantile facilities of this city. Mr. Bugbee's stock will arrive in a few days, and he expects to have it opened next week. It was purchased before the late advance in goods, which will enable him to sell at very favorable prices. An advertisement of the stock will appear in due time.

SUNSTROKES.—Go to Mr. Miller's tent on Seventh street and get a good picture of yourself before he leaves the city. He is putting to a good use the clear and beautiful sunshine of Minnesota by catching the shadows of our people and permanently fixing them upon steel and iron plates with a skill and dexterity not easily surpassed in the art. He has his prices so low that everybody can afford to have a picture.

COAL.—A gentleman from Davenport, Iowa, formerly a resident of this State, has been in this city for a few days, with a view of establishing a depot for the sale of Illinois coal, should the company with which he is connected deem the project feasible. We believe he left very favorably impressed, and will make a corresponding report to his principals.

LAWYERS, ATTENTION!—The Rules of Practice adopted in general session of the Judges of the District Courts of this State, during the present month, are published by authority, by the PRESS PRINTING COMPANY. Price 15 cents per copy or $1.00 per dozen—will be ready on the 25th instant. These rules go into effect on the first of September, and will have all the authority and force of law. Every lawyer in the State must have a copy. Remittances may be made in bank notes or postage stamps.

INGENUITY, SURELY.—Weighed in the balances of a just estimate, all are obliged to admit that the scales of Fairbank & Co., are, without exception, the best ever invented. We know whereof we affirm, because we have tested their value, and are fully satisfied of their superior merits. The introduction of these scales has wrought a revolution in the transaction of various business, and their accuracy is such that a uniformity in weights has been established all over the country, thus making them a national, legalized standard. Nor are they confined to the United States: they have found their way to almost every part of the civilized world, and are adapted to all standard of all countries, so that it may be said, all nations, if not "weighed in these balances," at least weigh by them.—Hunt's Merchants' Magazine.

EXISTING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.—An old European German soldier living near this city, wished to enlist in the war for the preservation of the Union; but Hans labored under the difficulty—he could go through the manual of arms perfectly, and was a strong, healthy man, every way calculated for a soldier, but he could not understand a word of English, in consequence of which no mustering officer could pass him. When he went before that officer, he was catechised according to the prescribed formula, and to every question propounded, Hans answered "Saint Paul." He lived at St. Paul, was born at St. Paul, was as old as St. Paul, had a farm as big as St. Paul, &c. Of course, after this lucid account of himself, he was directed to stand aside.

But Hans was'nt going to give it up so. He was bound to fight for Uncle Sam. Having found out the difficulty he labored under before, he committed to memory, by the help of a friend, the proper answers to be made; but when he came before the mustering officer again he had forgotten several of them, and was obliged to supply their place with his never-failing resource—"St. Paul." That settled the business for him.

Now, although Hans did not know what had been said to him, he did know he wanted to help put down the slaveholder's rebellion, and that Uncle Sam wanted just such able-bodied, experienced soldiers as he believed himself to be, for that purpose; he therefore got his friend to thoroughly drill him on the manual of words, for such they were to him, not conveying to his mind a single idea—and accompany him to the mustering officer. He had confidence in himself, and now went through the formula to a charm, not answering "St. Paul" any more times than was proper. After he had got through, the Captain told him to sign his name to the muster roll, but this was something he hadn't been told about, and was going to answer "St. Paul" again, when his friend hastily and slyly whispered "Schreib Dein namen hein," and he went up with the confidence of a man who was "conscious of the rectitude of his intentions," and affixed his autograph to the document. He is now rejoicing in a suit of blue clothes at Uncle Sam's expense.

MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.—LIBERAL AND PATRIOTIC PROPOSITION OF THE CITY.—The Council met yesterday afternoon in response to the following message from the Mayor:

GENTLEMEN: I have called you together on this occasion at the request of Alderman Murray, Paine and Livingston, to take into consideration what is best to be done by the city authorities to aid and encourage a sufficient number of enlistments to fill up the quota of St. Paul in the Sixth Regiment; and believing it to be duty of all to do everything in their power, and to use every exertion to encourage the speedy filling up of said Regiment, and that the Capital of the state should be foremost in the good work.

I would therefore recommend that the city offer a bounty of $30 to each recruit enlisting from the city. Said bounty should be limited to the proper quota of the city—the exact number I am not able at this moment to furnish you. This bounty, together with the aid furnished by the city to the families of volunteers, should cause a sufficient number to enlist, to at least fill up the number required from the city.

Respectfully your obedient servant,
JOHN S. PRINCE.

The President introduced a series of resolutions, which were discussed, slightly amended, and adopted as follows:

Resolved, That the Mayor of the city is hereby authorized to offer, in addition to the bounties offered by Government, a sum of $30 to any person a resident of the city of St. Paul, or the county of Ramsey, to the number of seventy-five, who shall, after the passage of this resolution, and before the 15th day of August next, volunteer in either of the three companies now being raised in the city of St. Paul, and called the Greenadiers, Sigel Guards and Union Guards, for the Sixth Regiment of Minnesota Volunteers.

Resolved, That an order be drawn on the Treasurer in favor of John S. Prince, Mayor, for the sum of $7,500 to pay said bounties, and that no money be paid out of the Treasury for any purpose whatever, (except for current expenses of the city,) until said $7,500 is paid, and that the City Treasurer is hereby authorized to retain and pay on account of said appropriation all moneys received by him without preference to the fund from which the same was received, till the said $7,500 is paid.

Resolved, further, That the City of St. Paul does hereby guaranty and promise to pay in addition to the foregoing bounty, the sum of five dollars per month to the wife and children of each person volunteering as aforesaid, during the term of his enlistment, provided said volunteer shall allot at least eight dollars per month to his family.

Alderman Thompson offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Mayor be requested to call a meeting at an early day, of the citizens of St. Paul, for the purpose of arousing public sentiment to the alarming situation of the country, and securing, possibly, the full number of recruits this State may respond promptly to the call of the President for volunteers.

"HELLERISM."—Those who were fortunate enough to be present last night at the soiree given at Ingersoll's Hall, will hereafter associate the wonderful and inexplicable with the term "Hellerism." We were led by the laudation of the press throughout the country to look for a performance of an extraordinary character, and we in all candor can affirm that expectation was more than realized. As a prestidigitateur, for so the modern magician is now termed, Robert Heller excels himself and startles at every trial, performing more without any paraphernalia than others with a stage full of machinery. But the most wonderful phase of the exhibition is "Second Sight"—it beats every "ism" heretofore promulgated and confounds the most ingenious speculator. Heller performs upon the piano forte was superb. He is unquestionably the most accomplished master of that instrument in the country.

It will be seen by the advertisement that he will give two more entertainments on Monday and Tuesday, when the price will be reduced to a quarter of a dollar. A figure which will crowd the hall to repletion.

RIVER ITEMS.—Reef Slough Bar begins to show its head, the Key City being detained there several hours the other day in coming up.

The arrivals since our last, are the War Eagle, Northern Belle, Clara Hine and Antelope.

The departures are the McLellan, Key City, Clara Hine, Antelope and Albany

The down boats this morning are the War Eagle for Dunleith, and Northern Belle for La Crosse.

The down packets on Monday morning are the Northern Light for Dunleith, and Favorite for LaCrosse.

MILITARY ITEMS.—Under the late order from the Adjutant General, the following persons have been commissioned as Second Lieutenants for thirty days, conditional that their companies will be filled up in that time:

William H. Woodward, Houston County.
C. A. Bromley, Washington County.
Hiram S. Baily, Fillmore County.

APPOINTED.—B. A. Froiseth Esq., late of St. Paul, has been appointed to a clerkship in the United States Treasury Department. His Scandinavian countrymen and friends in St. Paul will be interested in this announcement.

THE Rev. D. D. Chapin will preach at Christ Church this morning at half-past ten o'clock. Sabbath School at nine o'clock.

General Headquarters, State of Minnesota.

[GENERAL ORDERS NO. SIXTEEN.]

In accordance with General Order of the War Department No. 75, current series, one Second Lieutenant for each Company in the Sixth Regiment will be appointed and mustered into the United States service, who shall have the authority to muster in recruits as they are enlisted. If any recruit shall be enlisted by such officer, who shall afterwards, on medical inspection, prove to have been obviously unfit for the service at the time of his enlistment, all expenses caused thereby shall be paid by such officer, to be stopped against him from any payment that may be coming to him from the Government thereafter.

Any officer, thus appointed and mustered, shall only be entitled to be paid on the muster and pay roll of his Company, and he should fail to secure an organized Company within such reasonable time as may be specified in his letters of appointment, his men may be transferred to some other Company, his appointment be revoked and he discharged without pay; unless it should be deemed proper to give him a position in the consolidated Company to which his men have been transferred. Articles of enlistment, as in the regular army, will be made out in triplicate by such recruiting officers, one copy of which will be sent to the Adjutant General of the State, one to the Adjutant of the Regiment, and one will be kept by the Recruiting officer.

Recruits will be sent to the regimental rendezvous at Fort Snelling at least as often as once a week, when they will be immediately examined by the Surgeon of the Regiment or the Post Surgeon, and, if found unfit for duty by reason of permanent disability, will be discharged from the service forthwith by the Surgeon, who will report such discharges to the Adjutant General of the State, and also to the Adjutant of the Regiment, noting particularly those cases where the disability was obvious at the time of enlistment.

The muster-in-rolls of each Company will be made out by the Adjutant of the Regiment, from a list to be furnished by the Adjutant General of the state, together with the articles of enlistment furnished him by the recruiting officer, and will note upon it the names of all persons discharged by the Surgeon for permanent disability, designating particularly those cases where the disability was apparent at the time of enlistment.

All requisitions for quartermaster, medical and ordnance stores must be presented to the Governor of the state for his approval. Persons traveling under the order of the Governor of this state on business connected with the recruiting service, will be allowed the actual costs of transportation, to be paid by the mustering and disbursing officer on presentation of the account accompanied by proper vouchers, and the order under which the journey was performed.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES took FOUR premiums at the late State Fair, and nine machines. The Silver Medal, or $100 Premium, was awarded to the Florence, after all the other machines had been tried on both sides of the fabric. Either of the machines will do the most beautiful and durable kind of work.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED motion, which enables the operator to have the work run either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, welts, together with beautiful precision and neatness, which cannot be done by any other machine.

These machines are all portable. They have no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced work them as readily and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used when quiet is necessary.

They are the EASIEST RUNNING in the World, making five stitches to each revolution. They all do dresses. Their stitch is the word for all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

GENERAL ORDERS—NO. 26.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE OHIO, IN CAMP, NEAR FLORENCE, ALA., June 21, 1862.

There are 10,000 officers and soldiers absent from the duty with the various Divisions of this army. Some of them have gone off without any authority; others with the permission of officers not authorized to grant it, in general, sickness is given as the cause of absence, but in very many cases the cause has notoriously ceased to exist, and men remain away, drawing the same pay as their comrades who are faithfully performing their duty. To correct this abuse it is ordered—

1. All officers and soldiers who are absent without proper authority from these Headquarters, the period for which has not transpired, will, on or before the 5th of July, proximo, join their companies or regiments wherever they may be, if fit for duty or capable of performing any labor in camp, hospital or garrison, and will be furnished by the Quartermaster with the same pay as their comrades who are faithfully performing their duty. To correct this abuse it is ordered—

2. All officers and soldiers who are absent without proper authority from their Headquarters, the period for which has not transpired, will, on or before the 5th of July, proximo, join their companies or regiments wherever they may be, if fit for duty or capable of performing any labor in camp, hospital or garrison, and will be furnished by the Quartermaster with the same pay as their comrades who are faithfully performing their duty. To correct this abuse it is ordered—

3. All officers and soldiers who do not join their companies and regiments, or are not satisfactorily accounted for as above by the 10th of July next, will be reported on their muster-roll as deserters, dating from the time they may have been absent without authority.

4. By Act of Congress every deserter forfeits all claim on the Government for pay and allowances, besides being liable to arrest and trial by Court Martial. Any person who apprehends and returns a deserter to the commanding officer of a military post is entitled to five dollars.

By command of MAJOR GEN. BUELL.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican electors of the several Wards and Townships of the County of Ramsey, and all others willing to unite with them in the support of the Government, and a vigorous prosecution of the war for the preservation of the Union, and opposed to those who gave aid directly to the traitors when they could, and now attempt to give aid indirectly by abuse of the Administration and its progressive measures, are requested to choose delegates to a County Convention to be held at the Court House on Monday the 28th Inst., at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing eight delegates to represent said County in the District Convention to be held in St. Paul on the 30th inst., to place in nomination a suitable person to be supported by the electors of the Second Congressional District, for a Representative to Congress.

The several Wards and Townships will be entitled to the following representation, viz:

First Ward	3	delegates.
Second do	4	"
Third do	4	"
Fourth do	4	"
Fifth do	3	"

And the Townships to two delegates each.

The Committee would request that primary meetings for the election of said Delegates be held on Saturday the 26th inst., at the usual places of holding elections—in the various townships at 2 o'clock, P. M.—and in the several Wards at 8 o'clock, P. M.

THE MORNING'S NEWS.

There is a stir in Gen. Pope's department, indicating that something is going to be done.

An expedition from Fredericksburg reached a point on the Virginia Central railroad, only 35 miles from Richmond, where they destroyed the track, telegraph and depot, thus obstructing communication between Richmond and Gordonsville and the Shenandoah Valley. Gen. Hatch has cut the road at Charlottsville, nearer the Shenandoah.

A rebel iron-clad gunboat has been on a rampage at the mouth of the Yazoo river, and succeeded in ramming its way through our fleet, and getting under the protection of the rebel batteries at Vicksburg. It will give our fleet something to do beside throwing shell everlastingly at the land batteries.

General Orders are said to be forthcoming from the President, in pursuance of the confiscation and emancipation law, that will inaugurate a truly warlike policy.

Gen. Pope is going in on his nerve, in advance of the President, and is making the rebels of the Old Dominion realize some of the evils and burdens of the war.

All is quiet on the James River.

THE IMPORTANT ACTS OF CONGRESS.

We give up the inside of this morning's paper to the confiscation and emancipation acts, the militia drafting law, and the President's late messages signed and unsigned. These laws contain the new war policy of the Government, and our readers will have them all together. Thus the President's views on confiscation can be compared with the original and the amendatory acts, side by side.

FIRST MINNESOTA REGIMENT IN THE RICHMOND BATTLES.

From the letter of Sergeant Harmon, which we publish, and from other letters received from the Regiment, we are glad to learn that in the change of position of our army near Richmond, and in the fighting consequent therefrom, our gallant First fully maintained its reputation for discipline and bravery.

Lieut. Col. Miller was in command of the regiment (Col. Sully commanding the brigade, owing to Gov. Gorman's sickness) and received high praise for the coolness and bravery manifested by him.

Early in the morning of the 29th ult., (Sunday) in compliance with orders from headquarters, the regiment fell back from Fair Oaks to Allen's Farm, where our men were attacked by the enemy in force, being for several hours exposed to a storm of shot and shell, while supporting the Rhode Island battery.

About noon the regiment fell back to Savage's Station, two miles distant. Here they were again attacked late in the afternoon, and a fierce fight ensued both of artillery and infantry. The First supported Gen. Burns in his gallant charge, forming a line 150 yards in his rear for a time, and then advancing under a galling fire of shot and shell, and taking a position in line with him on his left, to prevent his being outflanked. The enemy then threatened to outflank Col. Miller; he held his ground by forming the bulk of of his regiment at right angles with their former position, throwing the other companies to the left and front as skirmishers. Some Vermont regiment came to his aid, and with their assistance our boys held their ground and drove the enemy back. The regiment was warmly praised by Gen. Burns for their good conduct. After dark the march was resumed.

All the next day (Monday the 30th) the regiment was marching and countermarching until towards night, when under General Daan's direction, they threw away their blankets and knapsacks, and retook, at the point of the bayonet, a position in the edge of a wood, which had been abandoned by another Union regiment. While here, they were attacked by the 16th North Carolina regiment after dark, but a few volleys soon scattered the enemy. This was the day of the battle of Nelson's farm.

At midnight, in obedience to orders, our boys again fell back, but on the next day, at Malverton, again came under fire; first while held as a reserve in an open field, where shot and shell easily reached them, and then in front, where they were placed in line of battle and occupied the point until morning.

Considering how long the regiment was under fire, its loss is marvelously small—being, killed, 6; wounded, 47; missing, 37; total, 90. Nine, reported missing, have since come in.

Minnesota has good reason to be proud of the "Gallant First," and indeed of all her regiments.

WAR MEETINGS AT ST. ANTHONY AND MINNEAPOLIS.

By notices elsewhere, it will be seen that our neighbors at the Falls are awaking to the demand of the times, and will hold meetings on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, to more thoroughly arouse the people and encourage enlistments.

It is unfortunate that their Grand Mass Meeting is set down for Thursday night. They name some of the speakers who are engaged for the meeting at St. Paul.

WAR MEETING ON THURSDAY NIGHT.

Mayor Prince designates Thursday evening, at the Capitol, for a grand demonstration to arouse the war spirit of our people to adequate efforts in the crisis that is upon the country. In addition to the long list of able speakers announced in the call, we have the pleasure to state that our Congregatioal delegation are confidently expected to be here, and to add the attraction and influence of their presence and words to the occasion. Let St. Paul and Ramsey county rally in such numbers as will give an earnest of the patriotic devotion of this people to the cause of our bleeding country.

GENERAL HALLECK APPOINTED COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

Although there is no official announcement of the fact, it is beyond doubt that the President has called to his assistance at Washington, as Commander-in-Chief under him, the President, Major General Halleck. It is a supercecdure of General McClellan so far as the nominal chief command has hitherto rested upon the latter. It is the same position occupied by Gen. Scott previous to Bull Run and Ball's Bluff, and to which Gen. McClellan was called after those disasters.

We hail the advent of Gen. Halleck to this position, with the highest satisfaction. We have long regarded him as the ablest General in administration ability in the country.

We cannot but think that he made a failure in the field before Corinth; but in organizing armies and directing from the Cabinet their general movements, he has exhibited greater capacity than any other of our Generals, and is acknowledged by all who come in contact with him to be a man of great ability. The soubriquet of "Old Brains" that has been given him, indicates the general belief in his intellectual powers. His famous order No. 3 has done much to prejudice anti-slavery men against him. This order was to some extent misapprehended.

But, in common with almost all our military leaders, we believe General Halleck has been growing out of all notions of tenderness for rebels, or special regard for slavery. The stern logic of events is fast correcting errors of this kind. He will obey the law, and now we have something upon the statute book to guide in such matters.

Neither the President nor Secretary Stanton could supply the knowledge of military matters that is required in directing the stupendous operations of our innumerable armies scattered as they are, over an empire of territory.

Events have certainly demonstrated that McClellan has enough to do with the army on James River.

Halleck doubtless is not a Napoleon. We have given up all hope of the coming man—the great man—for the crisis; and are willing to accept and make the best of what we have. We believe Gen. Halleck is the fittest man in the country for the position to which he is called.

MAKE OUR DISABLED SOLDIERS TAX OFFICERS.

The New York Evening Post suggests that the assessors, assistant assessors and collectors, whose appointment is provided for in the new tax bill, be appointed from the ranks of our disabled soldiers. Men who have returned to their homes incapable of further military service, are to be found in almost every loyal town in this country. Many of them are, by means of the loss of a leg or an arm, incapable of any active business, and are thus unable to provide for themselves, and must become a charge upon the charitable, or helpless dependents upon their families. "These men," the Post well says, "who have shed their blood to sustain the government, have a right to claim the assistance of that government. In the absence of a pension equal to their necessities, they may properly ask that the new offices created by the tax bill be assigned to them instead of political favorites. The law must be enforced, and men must be appointed to perform the duty; the soldier who has recovered from his wound, but who limps about destitute of a leg, or arm, or finger, is as capable of performing that duty as a noisy ward politician who has carefully avoided fighting his country's battles, but is clamorous of reward. The work is light and the pay good. Our disabled soldiers are most of them capable of fulfilling all the duties of the tax officer, and this distribution of the public funds would at once reward patriotic effort and prevent much suffering that otherwise is inevitable."

Hospital Relief Fund of the First Minnesota---Account of Rev. Mr. Neill.

We find the following letter on file in the Executive office at the Capitol:

HARRISON'S LANDING, VA., July 8th, 1862.

His Excellency, Alexander Ramsey, Governor of Minnesota.

DEAR SIR,—The change in the base of operations of the Army of the Potomac having been successfully accomplished, and there being for the present no conflict anticipated, I have seized the calm of the last week to carry out the determination expressed to you last fall, and on yesterday, my resignation having been accepted, I was "honorably discharged from the military service of the United States."

As the relief fund contributed for the benefit of the First Regiment was entrusted to me by the contributors, I ask that you will appoint some responsible persoon to succeed me as Treasurer, and receive the moneys remaining in my hands.

In the SAINT PAUL PRESS of March 6th, there was a full statement of all expenditures, and the state of the fund at that time.

THE NEW MILITIA, OR DRAFTING LAW.

We print this morning an accurate copy of the act just passsed by Congress for calling out the militia. It provides that the President may, at need, cause to be enrolled and put in service for a period not exceeding nine months at one time, all able bodied citizens between 18 and 45 years of age—the number to be apportioned among the States according to their representative population; that in addition to the men he is already authorized to raise, the President may accept 100,000 volunteers for nine months, and every such volunteer shall have his first month's pay and a bounty of $25 in advance; that to fill up the existing regiments, he may accept volunteers for twelve months, who shall have $50 bounty, one half in advance, the other half when their time of service is up; that the President may establish and organize army corps at his own discretion; that a permanent military tribunal shall be established, and no sentence of death or penitentiary imprisonment shall be executed until approved by the President. The organization of army corps and cavalry regiments, so far as it relates to the number and grade of officers, is specified in the bill. But the great feature of the law is the authority given to the President to employ slaves in constructing intrenchments, performing camp service, or any other labor, or any military or naval service for which they may be competent; and that when any male slave, who owes service to a rebel or to any one giving aid and comfort to the rebellion, shall have been employed or done services for the Union, his mother, wife and children shall forever thereafter be free, in case they owe service or labor to any person who has borne arms against the Union or adhered to or aided the rebels.

WAR MEETING.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the City Council on the 19th instant, requesting the Mayor of the city to call a public meeting of the citizens of St. Paul, "for the purpose of arousing public sentiment to the alarming situation of the country, and the pressing necessity of enlistments, that our State may respond promptly to the call of the President for Volunteers," I hereby request all patriotic and Union-loving citizens of St. Paul to assemble in public meeting at the Capitol, on Thursday the 24th instant, at half-past seven o'clock, P. M., to take such action as may be necessary, to a proper response by the people of this city to the call of the President for Volunteers.

Short and patriotic speeches may be expected from the following named gentlemen, and others:

The First Minnesota in the late Battle

LETTER FROM SERGEANT WILLIAM HARMON, OF COMPANY D.

The following private letter of Sergeant Harmon is the most connected and graphic account of the part borne by the First Minnesota in the memorable retreat from Fair Oaks to James river that we have seen. It is from such unrestrained correspondence that we get the most faithful pictures of the thrilling events of the war:

CAMP NEAR JAMES RIVER, July 6th, 1862.

DEAR FRIENDS AT HOME:—I have so much to write that I hardly know where to commence. We have had a hard time. I am nearly worn out, am getting a little rested so I feel somewhat like myself.

ON PICKET.

I will go back to the 28th day of June, my birth-day. The night before we were kept up under arms all night, expecting an attack in front, as the rebels kept up a heavy firing all day.

In the morning of the 28th, Saturday, at 8 o'clock, Company "D" went out on picket during the day; everything remained quiet, and the boys by turn would take a little sleep. We knew that Porter had had a hard fight, because we could hear the musketry and canonading, which was most terrific, and by the change in position, we knew that Porter was getting the worst of it. Along in the afternoon the report came that we were going to fall back from our position, because Jackson had got in our rear. Of course every man had something to say as regards our condition. In the night, which was very dark, a body of rebels crept up on our out-post, and fired a volley or two and retired—no one hurt. We did not get any sleep that night; we could hear a great stir in the camps, moving wagons and artillery, &c. One hour after day-light we were ordered to camp in quick time. As luck would have it, the fog was so thick that they could not see us when we left.

THE RETREAT BEGUN.

When we, Company D, got to camp, we found all the troops gone except a cavalry man, to pilot us to our regiment, two miles distant. We went out in quick time. We found Sedgwick's Division all in line of battle. A regiment was sent back to camp to deploy as skirmishers and fall back slowly as the rebels advanced. The rebels came out in force, our force falling back, contesting every inch of the ground until they got in range of our batteries, when we soon dried them up. The whole division commenced moving back until we got back to Savage's station, on the railroad, where we halted and formed into line of battle, so as to give all the troops with the exception of our division, a chance to go ahead—our division being the rear guard. We there burnt immense quantities of commissary stores, a train of cars, and blowed up the engines, destroyed ammunition, &c. We also burnt a large quantity of commissary stores at Fair Oaks.

THE BATTLE AT SAVAGE'S STATION.

About 4 P. M., the rebels came upon us and commenced shelling us. Several of the boys in our regiment were wounded by them. We laid down on the ground. McCaslin had his knapsack torn from his back by a piece of a shell. We moved forward to the left into the woods out of range of the battery in that direction to support another regiment that was fighting on the left. The fight lasted here until after dark, the whole division being engaged besides the Vermont Brigade in Smith's division. The rebels got driven back. We lost out of our regiment in this fight about thirty killed and wounded.

THE COLOR BEARER KILLED.

Sergeant Burgess, the color bearer, was shot dead; he was the man that brought the colors off from the battle-field at Bull Run; he was a fine fellow as well as brave. Every man in the regiment was his friend. He was shot by a Minie ball through the lungs and killed instantly, and the colors fell to the ground. They were raised by one of the guard. Our company was very fortunate not to lose any one. Joseph McDonald, a son of McDonald that lives opposite Elk River, was wounded, but not seriously. Judson Jordan, a brother of C. B. Jordan, was killed; he was a member of the 1st Michigan. This was Sunday's fight, at Savage's Station.

THE RETREAT AGAIN.

About ten P. M., we started on the march leaving the wounded, that could not walk, in old buildings—surgeons and hospital stewards stopped with them—they are now prisoners. We marched until daylight and then laid down on the ground to get a little rest and sleep, which we very much needed. We remained so about one hour when the order came to march. Oh! it was like pulling teeth to start, but it had to be done—nothing to eat but hard bread. We had sugar and coffee in our haversacks, but we had no time to make coffee. It was hard to go as we were, with surface water, and poor at that, to drink. We marched about four miles and stopped. Here we rested until two P. M., when we were ordered to fall in.

MONDAY'S WORK.

We marched back where Richardson's division was fighting, to reinforce them. When we arrived they had driven the rebels. We stopped about one hour when an order came to march back, they were then fighting up near the place we left. We had marched in quick time about a mile, when one of the General's aids came up and gave the order "double quick"—the sun was piercing hot—we did double quick as far as we could, and then went in quick time. We arrived at the place, and were ordered forward in line, nearly exhausted, I was nearly melted.

GEN. DANA.

General Dana rode up in front of our lines, and gave us a few cheering words. Col. Sully being in command of the Brigade, Gen. Gorman was sick, and had to be sent to the rear in an ambulance. That left Col. Miller in command of the Regiment. The fighting was raging furiously only half a mile in our front. We gave Gen. Dana three cheers and started in quick time for the scene of action. The fighting was in the woods.—By this time it commenced in an open field from which our forces drove them back. We halted at the edge of the woods, and dropped down so as to let the enemy's balls pass over our heads. We were ordered to stay here until ordered away. When dark came on the fighting ceased, the troops in front withdrew, leaving us to hold the position until the troops had got well under way. Capt. Colvill and Lieut. Maginnis of Company F were wounded here, and one man killed.

At about twelve o'clock M. we were ordered back to the road, to cover the retreat. The wounded were left behind, the same as they were at Savage's Station. We marched about five miles, and then halted to make coffee and get a little rest and sleep. We were not allowed more than two hours before we were ordered to march. We were now in a large field, as large as Bottineau's Prairie. We came into position in line of battle. The rebels commenced shelling us—the shells falling all around us; one struck in the ground so near me that it threw the dirt all over me, but did not burst. We soon got out of this into a piece of woods near by. None of us were hurt. Major Brown, of the 34th New York regiment, had his leg shot off. He belongs to this brigade. We occupied a position on the right during the day, so as to stop any flanking movement. The fighting of this day was done by General Kearney's division. Our troops came off victorious. We captured eighteen pieces of artillery. At twelve o'clock M. we were ordered to march. It was very dark. We started and marched to Rock's Point, on James river; arrived there at two o'clock P M. It rained hard all day, and before we got there the mud was ankle-deep, and the worst kind of mud, too. The majority of us had thrown away our clothing, blankets, robes, &c., and on the whole things looked dismal. For myself, I had nothing at all. I picked up a piece of tent and a blanket, but I was so near gone up that I could not do the first thing towards preparing a bed for the night. The boys got me some straw, put my tent with theirs, and fixed a chance for me for the night. I turned in at four o'clock in the afternoon. Cold and wet through. I did not get up next morning till eight o'clock. I felt old, and was quite unwell generally.

The rebels followed us up, and commenced shelling us at about noon. We were ordered to march back about a mile, to make a bold front. We stayed there until nearly night, and were then ordered back to camp. The fighting was done by other troops, who captured two rebel brigades, seven pieces of artillery, and a train of one hundred wagons.

On the 4th of July we marched up here, about two miles from the river.

I am getting now so I feel more like myself again. The boys are out at work building bridges. What this move will amount to, is more than I can comprehend.

We did well in getting away from Fair Oaks; the shape things had taken, with Jackson in our rear and our supplies cut off, we could not hold the position; and the only chance for McClellan was to fall back and make James River a base. The rebels outnumber us, and why should they not? they make every man—old and young—carry a musket and go into the field to fight. We need more troops in order to succeed.

Remember me to all friends, while I remain Yours, WILLIAM.

CHARLOTTSVILLE OCCUPIED BY OUR TROOPS.

Gen. Pope Issues Warlike Orders.

Practical Operation of the New War Policy.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

[Special to Tribune.]—We have advices from Warrenton up to this evening.

The news that Gen. Hatch has reached Charlottsville, and cut off the most important sources of the rebel supplies, is the subject of great rejoicing in the army. These bold movements and the recent warlike orders of Gen. Pope begin to inspire something like admiration for him among the soldiers, who have not as yet seen the force of their new commander.

In obedience to the spirit as well as the temper of Gen. Pope's instructions, the rich and aristocratic rebels of Warrenton have already been placed under contribution for the support of the National army. The leading families have received notice that all their spare mattrasses and bed clothing will be required for our sick and wounded soldiers, and that all the unoccupied rooms in their mansions, and if necessary the entire buildings will be used as hospitals.

Col. Meyers, of McDowald's staff today took possession of Dr. Barton's female seminary. 2,000 sick can easily be accommodated. The grounds and springs surrounding the hotels and cottages are said to be finer than any other watering place in the whole country, and all the leading physicians in the army of Gen. Pope, are of the opinion that not one half as many deaths will occur here as in the hospitals at Washington.

The telegraphic lines were completed to Sherryville to-day. Gen. Pope has telegraphic connection with his three army corps.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Apprehended Attack upon Suffolk.

All Quiet on the James River.

FORT MONROE, July 20.

I learn from a gentleman recently from Suffolk that some little excitement prevails there on account of rumors that the rebels are building bridges across the Blackwater river which is thought to be preparatory to an attack on Suffolk. Our informant thought the rumors quite likely to be false, but said that the sutlers there were careful not to keep a large stock of goods on hand, and that they had been advised not to.

The steamship Merrimac arrived here last evening from Port Royal but brought no news from that section.

The mail boat Jno. A. Warner has arrived from Harrison's Landing and reports all quiet now. No news from our army.

The rebel army had fallen back ten miles towards Richmond.

From Gen. Pope's Army.

GENERAL ACTIVITY.

General McDowell's Headquarters at Warrenton.

General Banks Visiting.

WARRENTON, Va., July 17.

The burning of the railroad bridge over the Rapidan river was caused by a mistaken idea of some of the soldiers, instead of any order emanating from Gen. Banks or the immediate commander of the expedition, Brigadier General Hatch. The Rapidan river, however, is fordable at this season, at many points near the bridge, and its destruction can be a matter of no great importance either way.

Arrivals from Springville report almost daily skirmishing between Sigel's pickets and the rebel scouts near the Gap at Suray, and several of the enemy had been killed. They also report that a reconnoissance in force went from Sigel's command on Wednesday towards Madison, and several guns are reported to have been heard in that direction by travelers the same day.

Parties from Winchester, by way of Front Royal, report that the guerrillas have paid frequent visits to the principal routes leading thither, and in the vicinity of Strasburg and Middletown. All the stores at the latter places have been removed to more secure places.

General McDowell arrived here yesterday, and has pitched his headquarters in the field.

On Wednesday evening General Banks paid a visit of courtesy to General Hartseuff's brigade, of General McDowell's corps. This brigade was formerly commanded by General Abercrombie, in General Banks' corps. His visit was unannounced, but notwithstanding the darkness of the night it was soon discovered, and rounds upon rounds of cheers greeted his presence to each of the regiments. General Banks addressed a few brief and pertinent remarks expressive of his past and present pleasure in meeting them.

Captures in Virginia---Rebel Gen. Ewell's Troops at Gordonsville.

President's Orders Received with Enthusiasm by Troops.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

A cavalry Capt. from Hatch's command arrived to-day, bringing five prisoners of the 2d Virginia cavalry captured at Madison. Col. Malloy of Virginia militia was also captured, but has not arrived.

Gen. Ewell's troops are reported to be at Gordonsville; their number is not stated.

The President's orders are received by the troops with enthusiasm, but citizens have terribly long faces.

Rebel Loss 23---Our Loss 1.

Rebel Account of the Affair.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.

[Special dispatch to Forney's Press.]—A dispatch to the Grenada (late Memphis) Appeal, of the 16th, reports the rebel ram and iron-clad gunboat Arkansas, [under command of Colonel J. N. Bryan, came down from the Yazoo river on the 15th, ran by a portion of our fleet which lies above Vicksburg successfully, and anchored under the batteries surrounding the city.

The Appeal says the ram ran down several Federal war vessels, and disabled many more. One of our vessels was blown up.

The Arkansas is a very formidable gunboat, being plated with 2 1-2 inch iron, with plates and rails riveted. She has a very heavy armament, and is furnished with two propellers seven feet in diameter, with four flanges each.

The rebel loss is set down at ten killed and thirteen wounded. Federal loss not known, but is said to have been heavy.

ACCOUNT OF THE RAM FIGHT FROM OUR FLEET.

CAIRO, July 21.

The dispatch boat which arrived from Memphis brings the following account of the escape of the rebel gunboat Arkansas:

Several of our gunboats started up the Yazoo to reconnoitre. Eight miles from the mouth they came suddenly upon the Arkansas lying under the bank. As our boats rounded the bend she opened upon them with 68-pounders. Our gunboats returned the fire for a short time, and a fierce engagement ensued.

Finding the channel of the river prevented successful manœuvering, they gradually dropped down towards the mouth, the Arkansas following closely. Just as the latter was passing over the bar the Carondelet closed with her, intending to board. She succeeded in throwing the grapple aboard and getting out the plank, when the Arkansas opened her steam pipe, throwing hot water across the plank.

The Carondelet replied in same manner. While thus engaged both vessels grounded, which separated them. The Arkansas succeeded in getting off; the Carondelet remained fast for nearly an hour. The Arkansas immediately passed down the river. One of our boats preceding her, maintaining a running fight with her greatly superior adversary.—None of our gunboats with the fleet had steam up, and the entire fleet was so scattered that few could fire at the Arkansas as she passed without danger of hitting our own boats. As she approached such boats as she could safely do so, they opened upon her, but her plating resisted most of the shots. A solid shot from Farragut's gunboat, Number Six, struck through her under plating, ripping it off a considerable distance; what further damage was done was not ascertained. Injuries to our fleet light. The Benton received a shot near the after part of her larboard side, killing one man.

THE PRESIDENT TO ISSUE GENERAL ORDERS TO CARRY OUT CONFISCATION BILL.

General Halleck to be Commander-in-Chief.

McClellan and Scott Approves it.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

There is reason to believe that the President will soon issue one or more general orders to the army of the United States, in which he will lay down certain general rules for the conduct of the war, such rules as any one sincerely desirous of carrying out the principles of the confiscation and emancipation act would adopt or enforce.

It is now positively know that the President, under the advice of Gen. Scott and with the acquiescence of Gen. McClellan, has called Maj. Gen. Halleck to Washington to act as General in Chief of the army of the United States. He will have control of operations in the field, thus relieving Secretary Stanton of some of his official business.

CONFISCATION AND EMANCIPATION.

The Original and Supplementary Acts Passed by Congress and Approved by the President.

A BILL to suppress insurrection, to punish treason and rebellion, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That every person who shall hereafter commit the crime of treason against the United States, and shall be adjudged guilty thereof, shall suffer death, and all his slaves, if any, shall be declared and made free: or he shall be imprisoned for not less than five years and fined not less than $10,000, and all his slaves, if any, shall be declared and made free; said fine shall be levied and collected on any or all of the property, real and personal, excluding slaves, or of which the said person so convicted was the owner at the time of committing the said crime, any sale or conveyance to the contrary, notwithstanding.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That if any person shall hereafter incite, set on foot, assist, or engage in any rebellion or insurrection against the authority of the United States, or the laws thereof, or shall give aid or comfort thereto, or shall engage in, or give aid and comfort to any such existing rebellion or insurrection, and convicted thereof, such person shall be punished by imprisonment for a period not exceeding ten years, by a fine not exceeding $10,000, and by the liberation of all his slaves, if any he have.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That every person guilty of either of the offenses described in this act shall be forever incapable and disqualified to hold any office under the United States.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That this act shall not be construed in any way to affect or alter the prosecution, conviction or punishment of any person or persons guilty of treason against the United States before the passage of this act, unless such person is convicted under this act.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That to insure the speedy termination of the present rebellion, it shall be the duty of the President of the United States to cause the seizure of all the estate and property, money, stocks, credits, and to apply and use the same, and proceeds thereof for the support of the army of the United States; that is to say: First, of any person hereafter acting as an officer of the army or navy of the rebels in arms against the Government of the United States; secondly, of any person hereafter acting as President, Vice President, Member of Congress, Judge of any Court, Cabinet officer, Foreign Minister, Commissioner, or Consul of the so-called Confederate States of America: thirdly, of any person acting as Governor of a State, member of a Convention or Legislature, or Judge of any Court of the so-called Confederate States of America; fourthly, of any person who, having held an office of honor, trust, or profit in the United States, shall hereafter hold any office or agency under the so-called Confederate States of America, or under any of the several States of the said Confederacy, or the laws thereof, whether such office or agency be national, state or municipal in its name or character: Provided, that the persons thirdly, fourthly and fifthly, above described shall have accepted their appointment or election since the date of the pretended ordinance of secession of the State, or shall have taken an oath of allegiance to, or to support the Constitution of the so-called Confederate States; sixthly, of any persons who, owning property in any loyal State or Territory in the United States, or in the District of Columbia, shall hereafter assist and give aid and comfort to such rebellion, and all sales, transfers or conveyances of any property shall be null and void; and it shall be a sufficient bar to any suit brought by such person for the possession or the use of such property, or any of it, to allege and prove that he is one of the persons described in this section.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That if any person within any State or Territory of the United States, other than those named as aforesaid, after the passage of this act, being engaged in armed rebellion against the Government of the United States, or aiding or abetting such rebellion, shall not, within sixty days after public warning and proclamation duly given and made by the President of the United States, cease to aid, countenance and abet such rebellion, and return to his allegiance to the United States, all the estate and property, moneys, stocks and credits of such person shall be liable to seizure as aforesaid, and it shall be the duty of the President to seize and use them as aforesaid, or the proceeds thereof. And all sales, transfers or conveyances of any such property, after the expiration of the said sixty days from the date of such warning and proclamation, shall be null and void; and it shall be a sufficient bar to any suit brought by such person for the possession or use of such property, or any of it, to allege and prove that he is one of the persons described in this section.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That to secure the condemnation and sale of any such property after the same shall have been seized, so that it may be made available for the purposes aforesaid, proceedings in rem shall be instituted in the name of the United States in any District Court thereof, or in any Territorial Court, or in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, within which the property above described or any part thereof may be found, or into which the same if moveable may first be brought, which proceedings shall conform as nearly as may be to proceedings in admiralty or revenue cases; and if said property, whether real or personal, shall be found to have belonged to a person engaged in rebellion, or who has given aid or comfort thereto, the same shall be condemned as enemies' property, and become the property of the United States, and may be disposed of as the Court shall decree, and the proceeds thereof paid into the Treasury of the United States for the purposes aforesaid.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That the several courts aforesaid shall have power to make such orders, establish such forms of decree and sale, and direct such deeds and conveyances to be executed and delivered by the marshals thereof, where real estate shall be the subject of sale, as shall fully and efficiently effect the purpose of this act, and vest in the purchasers of such property good and valid titles thereto. And the said Court shall have power to allow such fees and charges of their officers as shall be reasonable and proper in the premises.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That all slaves of persons who shall hereafter be engaged in rebellion against the Government of the United States, or who shall in any way give aid or comfort thereto, escaping from such persons, and taking refuge within the lines of the army, and all slaves captured from such persons, or deserted by them and coming under the control of the Government of the United States, and all slaves of such persons found or being within the any place occupied by rebel forces, and afterward occupied by the forces of the United States, shall be deemed captives of war, and shall be forever free of their servitude, and not again be held as slaves.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That no slaves escaping into any State or territory or the District of Columbia, from any other State, shall be delivered up, or in any way impeded or hindered of his liberty, except for crime or some offense against the laws, unless the person claiming such fugitive shall first make oath that the person to whom the labor or service of such fugitive is alleged to be due, is his lawful owner, and has not borne arms against the United States in the present rebellion, nor in any way given aid and comfort thereto; and no person engaged in the military or naval service of the United States shall, under any pretense whatever, assume to decide on the validity of the claim of any person to the service or labor of any other person, or surrender up any such person to the claimant on pain of being dismissed from the service.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the President of the United States is authorized to employ as many persons of African descent as he may deem necessary and proper for the suppression of this rebellion; and for this purpose he may organize and use them in such manner as may judge best for the public welfare.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the President of the United States is hereby authorized to make provision for transportation, colonization and settlement, in some tropical country beyond the limits of the United States, of such persons of African race, made free from the provisions of this act, as may be willing to emigrate, having first obtained consent of the Government of said country to their protection and settlement within the same, with all the rights and privileges of freemen.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the President is hereby authorized at any time hereafter, by proclamation, to extend to persons who may have participated in the existing rebellion in any State or part thereof, pardon and amnesty with such exceptions and at such time and on such conditions as he may deem expedient for the public welfare.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That the Courts of the United States shall have full power to institute proceedings, make orders and decrees, issue process, and do all other things necessary to carry this act into effect.

FIFTH AMENDMENT TO THE CONFISCATION BILL.

The following is the resolution which passed both Houses, and which removed the President's objection to the confiscation act:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives, etc., that the provisions of the third clause of the fifth section of an act to suppress insurrection, to punish treason and rebellion, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels, and for other purposes, shall be so construed as not to apply to act or acts done prior to the passage thereof, nor to include any member of a state legislature or judge of any State court who has not, in accepting or entering upon his office, taken an oath to support the Constitution of the so-called Confederate States of America; nor shall any punishment or proceedings under said act be so construed as to work a forfeiture of the real estate of the offender beyond his natural life.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE UPON SIGNING THE CONFISCATION ACTS, AND THE UNSIGNED VETO MESSAGE.

The following is the President's message, transmitted to Congress July 17th:

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Considering the bill for an act to suppress insurrection, to punish treason and rebellion, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels, and for other purposes, and the joint resolution explanatory of said act as being substantially one I have approved and signed both. Before I was informed of the passage of the resolutions I had prepared a draught stating my objections to the bill becoming a law, a copy of which draught is herewith transmitted.

(Signed) ABRAHAM LINCOLN.
July 17, 1862.

THE UNSIGNED DRAUGHT OF VETO.

Fellow citizens of the House of Representatives:

I herewith return to your honorable body in which it originated, the bill for an act entitled "An act to suppress treason, to seize and confiscate the property of rebels and for other purposes," together with my objections to its becoming a law.

There is much in the bill which I perceive no objection. It is wholly prospective, and it touches neither person or property of any particular citizen, in which particular it is just and proper. The first and second section provides for the confiscation and punishment of persons who shall be guilty of treason, and the person who shall incite, set on foot, assist or engage in any rebellion or insurrection against the authority of the United States or the laws thereof, or shall give aid or comfort to any such existing rebellion or insurrection.

By a fair construction the persons within these sections are not to be punished without regular trial in duly constituted courts, under the forms and all the substantial provisions of law and of the Constitution applicable to their several cases.

To this I perceive no objection, especially as such persons would be within the general pardoning power, and also within the special provision for pardon and amnesty contained in this act.

It also provides that the slaves of persons confiscated under these sections shall be free. I think there is an unfortunate form of expression rather than a substantial objection to this. It is startling to say that Congress can free a slave within a State, and yet were it said that the ownership of the slave had first been transferred to the nation, and that Congress had then liberated him, the difficulty would vanish, and this is the real case. The traitor against the general Government forfeits his slaves as justly as he does any other property, and he forfeits both to the Government against which he offends. The Government, so far as there can be ownership, owns the forfeited slaves, and the question for Congress in regard to them is, shall they be made free or sold to new masters? I see no objection to Congress deciding in advance that THEY SHALL BE FREE. To the high honor of Kentucky, as I am informed, she has been the owner of some slaves by escheat, and has sold none, but liberated all. I hope the same is true of some other States. Indeed, I do not believe it would be physically possible for the General Government to return persons as circumstanced to actual slavery. I believe there would be physical resistance to it which would never be moved aside in argument, or driven away by force, by this view of it I have no objection to this feature of the bill.

Another matter in these two sections, and running through other parts of the act, will be noticed hereafter. I perceive no objection to the third and fourth sections.

So far as I wish to notice the fifth and sixth sections, they may be considered together. That the enforcement of these sections would do no injustice to the persons embraced within them, is clear. That those who make a causeless war should be compelled to pay the cost of it, is too obviously just to be called in question. To give Government protection to the property of persons who have abandoned it and gone on a crusade to overthrow that same Government, is absurd, if considered in the mere light of justice.

The severest justice may not always be the best policy. The principle of seizing and appropriating the property of the persons embraced in these sections is certainly not very objectionable, but a justly discriminating application of it would be very difficult, and to a great extent impossible.

Would it not be wise to place a power of remission somewhere, so that these persons may know they have something to save by desisting, and I am not sure whether such power of remission is or is not within section thirteen without a special act of Congress.

The eleventh section simply assumes to confer discretionary powers on the executive, without the law. I have no hesitation to go as far in the direction indicated as I may at any time deem expedient, and I am ready to say now that I think it is proper for our military commanders to employ as laborers as many persons of African descent as can be used to advantage.

The twelfth and thirteenth sections are something better than unobjectionable, and the fourteenth is entirely proper. It all other parts of the act shall stand. That to which I chiefly object pervades most parts of the act, but more distinctly appears in the first, second, seventh and eighth sections. It is the sum of those provisions which results in the divesting of title forever for the causes of treason, but amounting to the full crime. It declares forfeiture extending beyond the lines of the guilty parties, whereas the constitution of the United States declares that no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted.

I think our military commanders, when, in military phrase, they are within the enemy's country, should in an orderly manner seize and keep whatever of real or personal property may be necessary or convenient for their commands, and at the same time preserve in some way the evidence of what they do.

What I have said in regard to slaves while commenting on the first and second sections is applicable to the ninth, with the difference that no provision is made in the whole act for determining whether a particular individual slave does or does not fall within the classes defined in that section. He is to be free upon certain conditions, but whether these conditions do or do not pertain to him, no mode of ascertaining is provided. This could be easily supplied.

To the tenth section I make no objection, the oath therein seems to be proper, and the remainder of the section is substantially identical with a law already existing.

True, there is to be no formal attainder in this case, still I think the greater punishment cannot be constitutionally inflicted in a different form for the same offense.

With great respect I am constrained to say I think this feature of the act is unconstitutional. It would not be difficult to modify it. I may remark that the provision of the Constitution put it in language borrowed from Great Britain, applies only in this country, as I understand, to real, or landed estate.

Again, this act, by proceeding in rem, forfeits property for the ingredients of treason without conviction of the supposed criminal, or a personal hearing given him in any proceeding.

That we may touch property lying within our reach, because we cannot give personal notice to an owner who is absent endeavoring to destroy the Government, is certainly not very satisfactory: still the owner may not thus be engaged, and I think a reasonable time should be provided for such parties to appear and have a personal hearing. Similar provisions are not uncommon in connection with proceedings in rem.

For the reasons stated I return the bill to the House in which it originated.

—A Washington letter to the New York Express says: "Fremont, it seems, is again to have command. He is to go to the Germans in Texas, rally them around the banner of the Union, and operate in that State—after his fashion of course. His staff, is not, therefore disbanded, but retained to accompany him.

The New Drafting Law Calling Forth the Militia.

The following is a copy of the bill in relation to militia and volunteers as it passed both houses:

A bill to amend the act calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrection and repel invasion, approved February 28, 1795, and the act amendatory thereof, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled, That whenever the President of the United States shall call forth the militia of the States, to be employed in the service of the United States, he may specify in his call the period for which such service may be required, not exceeding nine months; and the militia so called shall be mustered in and continue to serve for and during the term so specified, unless sooner discharged by command of the President. If by reason of defects in existing laws, or in the execution of them in the several States, or any of them, it shall be found necessary to provide for enrolling the militia and otherwise putting this act into execution, the President is authorized in such cases to make all necessary rules and regulations; and the enrollment of the militia shall in all cases include all able-bodied male citizens beween the ages of eighteen and forty-five, and shall be apportioned among the States according to representative population.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the militia, when so called into service, shall be organized in the mode prescribed by law for volunteers.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the President be, and he is hereby authorized, in addition to the volunteer forces which he is now authorized by law to raise, to accept the services of any number of volunteers, not exceeding one hundred thousand, as infantry, for a period of nine months unless sooner discharged. And every soldier who shall enlist under the provisions of this section shall receive his first month's pay, and also $25 as a bounty upon the mustering of his company or regiment into the service of the United States. And all provisions of law relating to volunteers enlisted in the service of the United States for three years, or during the war, except in relation to bounty shall be, and the same are extended to, and are hereby declared to embrace the volunteers to be raised under the provisions of this section.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That for the purpose of filling up the regiments now in the United States service, the President be, and he hereby is, authorized, to accept the service of volunteers in such numbers as may be presented for that purpose, for twelve months, if not sooner discharged. And such volunteers when mustered into the service shall be in all respects upon a footing with similar troops in the United States service, except as to service bounty, which shall be $50, one half of which to be paid upon their joining their regiments, and the other half at the expiration of their enlistment.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the President shall appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a judge advocate general, with the rank, pay, and emoluments of a colonel of cavalry, to whose office shall be returned, for revision, the records and proceedings of all the courts-martial and military commissions, and where a record shall be kept of all proceedings had thereupon. And no sentence of death, or imprisonment in the penitentiary, shall be carried into execution until the same shall have been approved by the President.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That there may be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for each army in the field, a judge advocate, with the rank, pay, and emoluments, each of a major of cavalry, who shall perform the duties of judge advocate for the army to which they respectively belong under the direction of the judge advocate general.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That hereafter all offenders in the army charged with offenses now punishable by a regimental or garrison court-martial shall be brought before a field officer of his regiment, who shall be detailed for that purpose, and who shall hear and determine the offense, and order the punishment that shall be inflicted, and shall also make a record of his proceedings, and submit the same to the brigade commander, who, upon the approval of the proceedings of such field officer, shall order the same to be executed: Provided. That the punishment in such cases be limited to that authorized to be inflicted by a regimental or garrison court-martial: And provided, further, That, in the event of there being no brigade commander, the proceedings as aforesaid shall be submitted for approval to the commanding officer of the post.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That all officers who have been mustered into the service of the United States as battalion or adjutants and quartermasters of cavalry under the orders of the War Department, exceeding the number authorized by law, shall be paid as such for the time they were actually employed in the service of the United States, and that all such officers now in service, exceeding the number aforesaid, shall be immediately mustered out of the service of the United States.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to establish and organize army corps according to his discretion.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That each army corps shall have the following officers, and no more, attached thereto, who shall constitute the staff of the commander thereof: one assistant adjutant-general, one quartermaster, one commissary of subsistence, and one assistant inspector-general, who shall bear respectively, the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and who shall be assigned from the army or volunteer force by the President. Also three aids-de-camp, one to bear the rank of major, and two to bear the rank of captian, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, upon the recommendation of the commander of the army corps. The senior officer of artillery in each army corps, in addition to his other duties, shall act as chief of artillery and ordnance at the headquarters of the corps.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the cavalry forces in the service of the United States shall hereafter be organized as follows: Each regiment of cavalry shall have one Colonel, one Lieutenant Colonel, three Majors, one Surgeon, one Surgeon, one Assistant Surgeon, one Regimental Adjutant, one Regimental Quartermaster, one Regimental Commissary, one Sergeant Major, one Quartermaster Sergeant, one Commissary Sergeant, two Hospital Stewards, one Saddle Sergeant, one time Chief Trumpeter, and one Chief Farrier or Blacksmith, and each regiment shall consist of twelve companies or troops, and each company or troop shall have one Captain, and First Lieutenant, one Second Lieutenant, and one Supernumerary Second Lieutenant, one First Sergeant, one Quartermaster Sergeant, one Commissary Sergeant, five Sergeants, eight Corporals, two teamsters, two farriers or blacksmiths, one saddler, one wagoner, and seventy-eight privates; the regimental Adjutants, the regimental Quartermasters, and regimental commissaries, to be taken from their respective regiments: Provided, That vacancies caused by this organization shall not be considered as original, but shall be filled by regular promotion.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the President be, and he is authorized to receive into the service of the United States, for the purpose of constructing intrenchments, or performing camp service, or any other labor or any military or naval service for which they may be competent, persons of African descent, and such persons shall be enrolled and organized under such regulations, not inconsistant with the Constitution and laws, as the President may prescribe.

BUSINESS LOCALS

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL, LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The net profits in two years amounts to $238,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the most eminent business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $827,261.35. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,37.55 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $1,930,000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined; so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME, the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John McGee, Secretary, these well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME, on the first of January last amounted up to $1,521,258.08, against an actual liability of only $55,089.43; and, moreover, it is worth nothing that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $203,134.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $910,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,715,900, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $220,636. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $106,715,148, taking $829,993 premium, and paid losses $333,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $180,941 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class

THE CITY.

CAPT. EARLE S. GOODRICH arrived in town yesterday morning, and reported himself to the Governor for orders.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.—M. Cooper, Esq., son of Gen. Cooper, formerly United States Senator from Pennsylvania, was on Saturday last admitted to the bar to practice in all the courts of this State.

MORE EXCURSIONISTS.—The St. Louis Democrat announces the departure of the Denmark for St. Paul, having every room occupied, and down below a large number of passengers.

CONTRACT AT LAST.—After the backing out of several bidders for the ration subsistence at Fort Snelling, Commissary Saunders has accepted the bid of Dorilus Morrison, a responsible citizen of St. Anthony, with whom a contract has been made at 11 3-4 cents.

FROM THE FOURTH REGIMENT.—A letter from Lieutenant Martin, of Company K, of this regiment, recently received, mentions the death of Lieutenant Judd, from St. Peter, as having occurred on the 8th inst. Lieutenant Van Slyke, of the Fifth, is coming home to recruit.

THIRD REGIMENT PAROLED.—Mr. D. D. Merrill has kindly permitted the publication of the following dispatch, confirming the announcement by the PRESS of Sunday of the paroling of the Third regiment:

BY TELEGRAPH FROM NASHVILLE, July 19.
To D. D. MERRILL:—Paroled at McMinnville—reached here yesterday with the men.
DANIEL ROHRER.

THE BEAUTIFUL ART.—Holcombe has a new way of teaching an old thing—a science in teaching an art. He teaches the elementary forms and analyzes each letter on the black-board in such a way, that the youngest can see it. His hand writing is plain and free from flourishes, yet perfect and beautiful. We say unto the young folks, go into his neat class and learn to write—every one of you will need a good hand, and Holcombe is a splendid penman and a master teacher.

GREAT WAR MEETING AT ST. ANTHONY AND MINNEAPOLIS.—There will be a Grand Mass Meeting of the people of Hennepin County, on Nicollet Island, (St. Anthony and Minneapolis) on Thursday next to take action on the subject of enlistments, and for the purpose of rousing the war feeling.

It is expected that Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, and Hon. John M. Gilman will be present and speak to the people.

RETURNED.—Our fellow townsman, William Wilson, has returned from the Second regiment, having been honorably discharged therefrom on account of serious illness. He was a member of Company D.

J. McAlpin, Esq., formerly of St. Anthony, of the same regiment, has also returned, in consequence of illness. He belongs to Captain Davis' River Rangers.

WAR MEETING!—Citizens of Hennepin county, you are most earnestly called upon to assemble at Nutting's Hall, on next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of taking effective measures to raise a company of infantry for the Sixth regiment of Minnesota Volunteers. The quota from Hennepin county for this regiment, is 78 men—only about four men to each township. "Old Hennepin" has already done nobly, but let not her patriotic reputation be tarnished by laggard work at the present crisis. The country needs your services.

Messrs. Cornell, Past, Baldwin, Beebe, Gale, Sherburne, Dennison and Plummer, will address the crowd.

POLICE ITEMS.—The police made a big haul of young vagabonds on Sunday night. The rowdies congregated in the lower part of Seventh street, swearing, drinking, and making a good deal of noise, to the serious disturbance of the neighborhood. The following were fined $3 and costs: William Bolston, William Trollman, Henry Lewis, David Horigan, and John Emmett—the first two paid their fine, and the others were committed in default thereof for a week.

Hannah Chancey and Francis Hoffman were each fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct, which they paid.

Conrad Schultz and Margaret Schultz were each fined $5 and costs for assault and battery, and committed in default of payment.

THE NEW CITY CURRENCY.—We understand that the new issue of City Scrip, in fractional parts of a dollar, will be ready in a day or two. In view of the recent act of Congress providing for a large amount of postage stamps, and making the same a legal tender, it is to be regretted that the Council should have taken the step it did, it being questionable whether the circulation of this new issue of the city will not be in contravention of the law of Congress.

By this act the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to prepare an issue of postage stamps of the various denominations, including one, three, five, ten, twelve and twenty cents, which are to be printed on substantial thick paper and without the ordinary gum on them. Inasmuch as the Government's faith is pledged to these stamps, of course they will be just as good as any of the Government currency. The act prohibits any private or banking corporation from issuing any note, token or device in the shape of money, of a less denomination than one dollar, under very severe penalties. The new issue is to be made on the first of August.

One great advantage of the postage stamp currency is, that it is good all over the country. Great inconvenience would ... postmasters, even if they were issued by city corporations, and other responsible bodies; they would only be good in the locality where issued. A traveler would find his pockets full of it—good where it was received—but good for nothing away from home. The postage currency will be good everywhere, and when coin becomes abundant again, it can be retired from circulation without any inconvenience or loss, by using it legitimately for postage.

RIVER ITEMS.—The river continues very low. The boats on the Minnesota river have all laid up except the Ariel and the Carver boats.

The arrivals since our last, were the Northern Light and Itasca, from Dunleith; Northern Belle and Favorite from La Crosse; Clara Hine and Antelope from Carver, and Jeannette Roberts from St. Peter.

The departures were the War Eagle and Northern Light for Dyuleith, Northern Belle and Favorite for La Crosse, and Clara Hine and Antelope for Carver.

The Itasca, Capt. Hurd, is the down boat for Dunleith this morning; and the McLellan, Capt. Martin, is the down boat for La Crosse.

ROBERT HELLER.—The performances of the great modern Prestidigitateur—that's the term—and incomparable pianist, will conclude this evening, and those who would not miss a treat of a much more than ordinary character, will not fail in visiting Ingersoll's Hall. He will present an entirely new programme, embracing a variety of new and original feats of necromancy, occult illusions, incomprehensible phases of the wondrous exhibition of "Second Sight," and a fresh selection of operatic gems and popular airs. Mr. Heller's soirees in this city, while eminently successful, have fully established the high reputation that preceded him.—He will appear to-morrow and Thursday evening in Minneapolis, and our friends in that vicinity may make up their minds to be equally mystified, astonished and gratified.

Brilliant Cavalry Dash from Fredericksburg.

Railroad Destroyed 35 Miles from Richmond.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF VIRGINIA, WASHINGTON, July 21.

To Hon. E. M. Stanton, secretary of War:

The cavalry expedition I directed General King to send out on the 9th has returned. They left Fredericksburg at seven o'clock P. M. on the 19th, and after a forced march during the night made a descent at daylight in the morning upon the Virginia Central railroad at Beaver Dam Creek, twenty-five miles west of Hanover Junction, and thirty-five miles from Richmond. They destroyed the railroad and telegraph line for several miles, burned up the depot, destroyed forty thousand cartridge of musket ammunition, one hundred barrels of flour, and much other valuable property, and brought in a rebel captain as a prisoner. The whole country was thrown into a great state of alarm. One private on our side was wounded.

The cavalry marched eighty miles in thirty hours. The affair reflects high credit upon the commanding officer and his troops.

As soon as full particulars are received, I will transmit to you the name of the commanding officer of the troops engaged.

British Neutrality Steamer Captured.

NEW YORK, July 21.

Advices from Key West report the British steamer Adelia captured by the Quaker City, eight miles southwest of Abacoosa. A fine paddle steamer of 600 or 800 tons with a cargo for Dixie.

The rebel schooners Julia and Uncle Mose were also captured in the Gulf, respectively by the Kittanning and Gahoma.

General Headquarters, State of Minnesota.

[GENERAL ORDERS NO. EIGHTEEN.]

Having been informed, that some of the township assessors have this year neglected to make out the annual militia list, their attention is called to Sec. 8, Chap. 129, of the Compiled Statutes making it the duty of the township assessor of the several townships, and the assessor of the several wards of the several cities to prepare at the time of assessing taxable property a list of all persons liable to do militia duty, and to place it in the auditors office of the proper county.

Those assessors who may not have complied with said section, will do so at once, as in the progress of the present war, and before the militia lists of 1863 are made out, the State may possibly be called upon by the President to furnish by draft a force of militia, and as the State must in such a contingency possess the requisite data upon which a draft could above be based.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

OSCAR MALMROS,
Adjutant General.

IN PROBATE COURT STATE OF MINNESOTA, Ramsey County, special Term, June 24, 1862.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Charles, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edward Webb, Administrator of said estate, setting forth the amount of personal estate, the amount of debts, and a description of the real estate of which said deceased died seized, and the condition and value thereof, and praying that license be to him granted to sell the whole of said real estate; and it appearing by said petition that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of said Administrator to pay said debts, and that it is necessary, in order to pay the same, to sell the whole of said real estate. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before the Judge of this Court on the 5th day of August, 1862, at ten o'clock A. M., at the office of the Judge of Probate, in said county, to show cause, if any there be, why license should not be granted to said Administrator to sell said real estate.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published for four successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Saint Paul PRESS, a newspaper published at Saint Paul, Ramsey county.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY.

One door East of Davenport's Bookstore, on Third Street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches or one and the same machine. Each [illegible] LOCK-STITCH, KNOT AND DOUBLE KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either of all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work run either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, welts, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can learn from printed directions. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making from 1 stitche per second to 1200 revolutions. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

Prices No. 1, $17.00, No. 2 $75.00, No. 3, $67.00, No. 4, $72.00, No. 5, $77.00, No. 6, $82.00, No. 7 Cabinet opener, $80.00, No. 8 Cabinet Covered, $85.00, Mahogany $95.00, Rosewood $105.00. Hemmers and all necessary tools included in the above prices.

On hand different kinds of lower priced Machines. Call and see the "Florence Machines."

A circular by the Commissioner of Statistics, entitled "Free Homes in Minnesota," and which condenses a great many leading facts about Minnesota in the compass of a page of letter paper, is in type at this office, and will be printed without charge for any one who will call for it. IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican electors of the several Wards and Townships of the County of Ramsey, and all others willing to unite with them in the support of the Government, and a vigorous prosecution of the war for the preservation of the Union, and opposed to those who gave aid directly to the traitors when they could, and now attempt to give aid indirectly by abuse of the Administration and its progressive measures, are requested to choose delegates to a County Convention to be held at the Court House on Monday the 28th inst., at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing eight delegates to represent said County in the District Convention to be held in St. Paul on the 30th inst., to place in nomination a suitable person to be supported by the electors of the Second Congressional District, for a Representative to Congress.

The several Wards and Townships will be entitled to the following representation, viz:

First Ward	3 delegates.
Second do	4 "
Third do	4 "
Fourth do	4 "
Fifth do	4 "

And the Townships to two delegates each.

The Committee would suggest that primary meetings for the election of said delegates be held on Saturday the 26th inst., at the usual places of holding elections—in the various townships at 2 o'clock P. M.—and in the several Wards at 8 o'clock P. M.

WAR MEETING.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the City Council on the 16th instant, requesting the Mayor of the city to call a public meeting of the citizens of said city, for the purpose of arousing public enthusiasm in the impending struggle, in the country, and the pressing necessity of enlistments, and to enroll their names preparatory to forming companies for the "Minnesota Volunteers," I hereby request all patriotic and Union loving citizens of St. Paul to assemble in public meeting at the Capitol on Thursday the 24th instant, at half past seven o'clock, P. M., to take such action as may be necessary, for a proper response by the people of this city to the call of the President for Volunteers.

Short and patriotic speeches may be expected from the following named gentlemen, and others:

Hon. H. H. Sibley,	L. P. Center, Esq.
Hon. Gov. Donnelly,	Albert Woltz,
Hon. James Smith,	W. A. Gilfillan, Esq.,
Hon. J. B. Brisbin,	J. M. Gilman, Esq.,
Hon. D. A. Robertson,	W. H. Peckham, Esq.,

THE NEWS.

Burnside had got things in such a habit of going right and winning victories in his department in North Carolina, that even now when he has left it with the chief part of his command, success still continues, and Hamilton—a town on the Roanoke river, nearly half way between the head of Albemarle sound and Weldon—has been captured. This opens the way to Weldon—the coveted point on the great line of Railroad between Richmond and the South.

At Washington they appear to be waiting for "Old Brains."

Gordonsville has not been taken, as previously reported.

CHANGE OF POLICY.

We are gratified to see in the Pioneer of yesterday—and evidently from the pen of its chief editor just returned from the army in Virginia—the following decided avowal of the policy of waging the war in bloody earnest, and for turning "the odds against us during the last year, in using the negro element" in our favor. It indicates wholesome progress in the views of the Pioneer; and strengthens the assurance that the policy of the Government is to be radically changed. The writer had good opportunity among military men in Virginia, and officials at Washington, to learn the general sentiment and policy:

> We believe a new life and vigor is to be infused into the service; and we know that the exigencies of the time require both. We have been fighting a war with odds in numbers against us on almost every field; and with odds almost as, in the use of the negro element by the rebels, even when numbers were equal. So long as this great military element can effect the change, this disparity will no longer be suffered to exist. Every element of strength will be brought into contribution to the Federal arms. The question of the army will not be required, as at first, to guard the homes and property of rebels, while the three-quarters are engaged in fighting them, and getting whipped by them, on that account. The thousand errors, which have grown out of the policy of putting down this rebellion in a milk-and-water, friendly way, so that we should be as one as brothers, the day after the next battle should be fought, are already exploded, and will not be repeated. It is war, hereafter —war, earnest, bloody, terrible, exterminating war, if war must be, to the bitter end. And in that kind of war, we see scarcely hope of reconstructing the Union, or even of saving the loyal states from absolute subjugation.

—The tariff bill will put seven or eight millions in the treasury by the 1st of August, in virtue of the provision requiring payment of duties on goods and merchandise in bond.

—The twenty-nine rebel prisoners that escaped from Camp Morton, Indianapolis, a few days since, have been nearly all re-captured. Twelve were returned during Wednesday.

—The Hendrick Hudson and Isaac Newton, of the People's Line of North River steamers, are said to have been chartered by the government.

DR. JEWETT IN NORTHFIELD.

Dr. Charles Jewett, of temperance lecturing celebrity, a few years since a resident of Faribault, now of Chicago, recently gave two public addresses in Northfield. On Saturday evening, the 19th inst., he gave his views of the state of the nation, and of the necessary means of crushing the rebellion and closing the war. He illustrated the important truth, that nations, like individuals, are brought to the adoption of radical remedies only through great sufferings, by a familiar example drawn from his own experience as a physician. A lady patient, suffering from that most distressing and acute of pains—toothache—would come to him for advice. Finding the tooth decayed, of no use, and a positive nuisance, he would recommend its extraction. But the patient had not yet suffered enough to face courageously this remedy, and would urge the adoption of some palliative. So a hot brick, a mustard poultice, or something else, would be recommended, the Doctor all the while knowing that another sleepless night, of pains and distress, awaited the poor patient. Finally, after enough of suffering, the poor patient would of her own accord prescribe for herself the remedy which her physician had at first proposed. So the nation struggles in the throes of its terrible disease, unwilling still to give up the aching tooth that has caused the rebellion, and still gives it vitality, and only to be educated to the adoption of the one only radical cure, by the severe discipline of suffering.

Much of the Doctor's effectiveness in delivery is due to his power as an imitator—thus expressing thoughts and emotions which words fail to portray.

On the following (Sunday) evening he lectured on temperance, showing the necessarily harmful effect of alcoholic drinks on the human system. In this field the distinguished lecturer was thoroughly at home. Both addresses were listened to by large audiences—the new Congregational church being crowded on each occasion to overflowing.

WHAT OUR SOLDIERS THINK.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 21, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

As everything from our soldiers is interesting to the public generally, I send you an extract from a letter just received from a member of the First Minnesota Regiment. It shows the feeling of the soldiers with regard to the rose-water method of prosecuting the war, and may have a tendency to open the eyes of some who have hitherto been blind. Geo. P. Robinson, speaking of the manner in which he spent the Fourth of July, says: "I hope I shall never spend another in such a way. Not that I am anxious to get off, for I would not go half a mile for my discharge if I could get it by so doing, but in a year I expect the war will be among the things that were. Talking about wanting to go home, I don't want to see home, or any other pleasant place which might beget a desire to be there, till I know we have a Government. There has always been and still is a mighty sight of talk about the weakness of the rebels, our own strength, what we can do, &c., and now that it is known that we have enough to do to hold our own with them, why don't we get up and do our big things? We, who for a long year have been living this kind of life, are sick and tired of so much gas. It would be a blessing, I think, for many of the people of the country, for us to have another Bull Run affair, just to show them what fools they are making of themselves. Even though the encouraging lies are still believed by many, and while I am willing to serve my time out, and more if necessary, I don't want any miserable, ungrateful, Northern wretch, to insult me by preaching up "leniency" and "gentleness," nor talk to me of "our dear Southern brethren" and "the erring South," &c., for our "friends" have caused too much trouble, have killed too many loyal men, have made desolate too many happy homes, have filled to many hearts with pain and anguish, and dispelled too many cherished hopes, have disgraced their native land, and humanity, and insulted our flag to much, to make anything like a peaceable settlement at all."

NORTHWEST BRITISH AMERICA.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

The New York papers of July 17, contain a summary of the recent Parliamentary debate upon the policy of England, in regard to the districts northwest of Minnesota. I enclose it for publication:

"In the House of Lords on the 4th instant, the Earl of Donoughmore moved for copies of correspondence between the Colonial Secretary, the governments of Canada and British Columbia, and the Hudson Bay Company, respecting the establishment of the means of communication between Canada and British Columbia, the license to trade in the Indian territory which expired in 1859, and the withdrawal of the Red river territories from under the control of the Hudson Bay Company, and their creation into a colony depending directly upon the crown. He called attention to the important position which British Columbia occupied, and impressed upon the government the necessity of affording increased facilities for its colonization.

"The Duke of Newcastle had no objection to produce the papers asked for. He thought that both in peace and war it was desirable that there should be easy communication between British Columbia and Canada, and he believed the two colonies would be willing to contribute to the formation of a road, the expense of which would be about £100,000. With regard to the purchase of the Hudson Bay territory, the government would certainly not ask Parliament to pay a million and a half for such a purpose. He thought the original charter of the company was ill-advised; but he would not think of resorting to extreme measures against the company so long as it was possible to come to some arrangement with them. He trusted the company would meet the public half way with reference to the formation of a line of communication with British Columbia.

After some remarks from Lord Taunton the motion was agreed to."

Briefly as the response of the Duke of Newcastle is here reported, yet it is very significant to Minnesotians. Considered in connection with developments in Canada and Selkirk during the present season, the following conclusions seem to be warranted:

1. The Home Government will not interfere with the proprietory claims of the Hudson Bay Company.

2. The colonization of the Red River and Saskatchewan country will be encouraged in every possible way by the new Governor of the Hudson Bay Company, Hon. A. G. Dallas. Assurances to this effect have been given by the London Directory to the English Government. In the words of the Duke of Newcastle, "the Company will meet the public half way."

3. The settlement of Selkirk and Saskatchewan, under the charter of the Company, will take place very much as Pennsylvania and Maryland were settled under the charters to William Penn and Lord Baltimore.

4. First in order will be the construction of a road from Fort William on the north shore of Lake Superior, to the gold districts of British Columbia. For a considerable portion of the route, steamers on the Red River, Lake Winnepeg and the Saskatchewan will be available.

5. The Duke of Newcastle mentions £100,000, as the sum required—a very significant hint that the expenditure will be immediately made.

6. When in St. Paul this spring on his way to Fort Garry, Governor Dallas expressed a purpose to organize land surveys and throw open every desirable locality to settlement at a cost per acre not exceeding the expense of survey.

7. The rest will soon follow—self-government by the settlers, and such a political association as their interests demand.

—Rev. M. D. Conway, of Cincinnati, is in Washington providing for the welfare of his father's slaves, twenty in number, who, by the fortune of war, have escaped from Fredericksburg and are among the contrabands in charge of the Government. He designs removing them to a country town in Ohio, where they may have a chance to improve their condition and take care of themselves. Mr. Conway, senior, is a leading rebel in Fredericksburg. This is one of the multitude of curious incidents which the war constantly brings to light.

—General Brace, the governor of the Prince of Wales, and son of the late Lord Elgin, died about two weeks since, from fever contracted in the East. General Brace attended the Prince in his visit through this country in 1860. He was much esteemed for his excellent qualities, and his loss is said to be deeply felt by his young charge.

—The well known idyl of James Russell Lowell, entitled "Jonathan to John," which first appeared in the "Bigelow Papers," in the Atlantic Monthly, has been set to music, and is offered as a popular song to soothe the nerves of the public in their excited state against Great Britain. The melody is intensely Yankee, and suits well the quaintness of the lines. It has also the advantage of being very simple, and is well adapted to become a soldier's song.

—At the recent commencement of Harvard College, the only degrees conferred were of LL. D. on John Stuart Mills, of England, and the Rev. Robert J. Breckinridge, of Kentucky. Neither of these gentlemen graduated at Harvard.

—The latest information from ex-President Van Buren is to the effect that his death may be expected at every moment.

—The Railroad Journal estimates the value of railway inventions in the last forty years in this country alone to be twelve hundred million dollars. Yet the career of improvement seems as far as ever from having reached a limit.

Another Traitorous Ex-Minister.

Ex-Governor—Ex-Minister to Russia—Seymour, of Connecticut, was asked to act as one of the vice presidents of the great Union meeting held in Hartford. He refused to do so, and afterwards wrote the following traitorous letter to the Hartford Times:

> If it is necessary to be more explicit, I beg leave to state that, knowing what the meeting would be beforehand, I could not have been induced to attend it, or take a part in its doings—and that, having glanced at the speeches and the proceedings generally of that meeting, I particularly desire to clear myself from any participation, directly or indirectly, in what took place there. The meeting, if I have not misunderstood its general bearing, is one whice ignores peaceful remedies of any sort as means of restoring the Union, and calls loudly for men and means to aid in the subjugation and consequent degradation and overthrow of the South. I follow, gentlemen, in no such crusade, neither will I contribute, in any way, to the accomplishment of such bloody purposes. The monstrous fallacy of the present day, that the Union can be re-established by destroying any part of the South, is one which will burst with the shells which are thrown into its defenseless cities, and leave the condition of this country, after its treasures are exhausted, and its brave men on both sides consigned to hospitals and graves, a spectacle for reproach or commiseration by the civilized world.
>
> Respectfully yours,
> THOMAS H. SEYMOUR.

Connecticut furnished an Arnold for the Revolution, and now she has furnished a legitimate representative of that traitor in the person of Thomas H. Seymour. Happily, there are few in number in that noble State—Isaac Toucey and Thomas H. Seymour constitute this class of scoundrels.

The Democracy and the War.

The venerable A. B. Johnson of Utica, (father of Judge A. S. Johnson, late of the Court of Appeals), has been for many years a respected and influential member of the Democratic party, and has written very ably and forcibly in vindication of its principles and policy. The present attitude of its leaders with regard to the war for the Union does not command his approbation, and in a private letter to an old friend he speaks out as follows:

"Gov. Seymour is out for the war, as are the Democratic leaders generally. I maintain that the Democratic party is more responsible for the war than the Abolitionists. The South would have never hazarded rebellion if they had expected an undivided North. The Democratic party for many years told the South to resist Northern aggression, and, even as late as the great Democratic convention at Albany, in February, 1861, the speakers who were most applauded said that, if there was going to be any fighting, it should commence at the North against those who would coerce the South; but, after thus seducing the South into rebellion by false assurances, they all repudiated their promise, and were among the first to volunteer against the South. They are thus acting the part of Satan, who, after seducing men to sin, assists in punishing them therefor. If anything could add to the baseness of their position, it is the general belief that they are attempting thereby to get into power, that when it is obtained they may betray the North as they have the South, by returning once more to their first love as aids of the rebels.

The Last Hours of Congress.

ADMISSION OF WESTERN VIRGINIA REJECTED.

Correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The closing day of Congress was marked by the usual buzz and noisy excitement in the House, and more than the usual quiet and grave decorum in the Senate.

The only event was the reading of the President's intended veto message in the House. This was generally voted a queer proceeding, and the message itself still queerer.

The singular style of the President's communications to Congress during the last three days is much commented upon. Some Congressmen are loud and vehement in denunciation of the President, for stepping out of his sphere and undertaking to instruct Congress.

Congress separates in apparent good humor and harmony, and those who looked for a regular split-up among the Republicans have been disappointed.

The President's plan as he drew it, for Border States emancipation, was satisfactory to no party in Congress. The Republicans all thought it too extravagant and indefinite, and the Border States men could not bring themselves to look with patience upon any policy involving emancipation.

The plan as cut down and amended in the House committee, might have been carried, had it been brought forward earlier in the session, though of course it would have amounted to nothing without State co-operation.

The defeat of Western Virginia's admission in the House, is shown by a scrutiny of the yeas and nays to be owing to a combination of all the Democrats and most of the Border State men with some twenty-eight radical Republicans. Among the latter were Ashley, of Ohio, Julian, of Indiana, and Conway of Kansas. A change of only six votes would have carried the admission. Its defeat is partly chargeable to the fact that the commissioners of the new State went home prematurely. But the friends of Western Virginia interests declare this failure will only inspire them to new exertions, and they will present themselves next December with a Constitution acceptable to Congress, and be admitted without delay.

The Master Race.

We commend the following to those working democrats in Minnesota, who are attempted to follow the lead of such sympathizers with the "master race," as met in the late convention, and put forth the platform whereon their congressional candidates stand:

From the Richmond (Va.) Whig, June 25.

Since the great battle of Shiloh, and including it, we have had almost uninterrupted series of victories. We have encountered the enemy generally with heavy odds against us, and frequently behind intrenchments, but in no single instance, unless it be the unexplained affair at Lewisburg, have Southern troops failed to exhibit superior manhood to the mongrel and many-tongued enemy.

Indeed, the whole experience of the war is an attestation of the truth long since discovered by impartial observers, that the master race of this continent is found in the Southern States. Of a better stock originally, and habituated to manlier pursuits and exercises, they have ruled in affairs of State by force of the stronger will and larger wisdom that pertain to and distinguish superior races of men, while on the field of battle they have in every contest held a priority of place, e needed to them by their present adversaries.

This natural dominancy of the Southern people, has had much to do in bringing on the war. The inferior race, grown strong in numbers and ambitious from prosperity, have revolted against and now seek to overthrow and destroy those whose superiority was a constant source of envy and self-reproach. There is no fiercer malevolence than that of caste, and it is this which has so long stirred the Yankee one. Always in the presence of the Southern gentleman, it has felt a strong and painfully repressed impulse to take off his hat. This conscious inferiority has galled the jealous and malignant creature, until he has broken out in servile insurrection. He has vainly concluded that his numbers can overwhelm and exterminate the subjects of his envy, and that he succeeding to the board acres and liberal habitudes of the Southern gentry, will come to be looked upon as a gentleman, too!

With us the contest is one for hereditary rights, for the sacred things of home, for the old repute of better blood—with the Yankee it is a rebellious and infatuated struggle for a place he is unworthy of, for privileges he would degrade, for property he would barter, and for institutions he could neither comprehend nor enjoy. It is the old and never ending strife between patrician and proletarian, between gentle and vile. It is the offer of battle on a new field of muscle against spirit—numbers against courage. It is not upon Southern soil and among the descendants of Cavaliers and Huguenots that this battle will go in favor of brute force.

MORE BLOODED SHEEP.—J. G. Scott, Esq., of East Prairie has returned from a short visit East. While absent he purchased 200 sheep, of the finest breed, the average weight of their fleeces at the last clipping being about eight and a half pounds per head.

ACCIDENT.—One of those accidents resulting from the careless use of firearms, happened in this place on Sunday afternoon last. It seems that several boys were amusing themselves with snapping percussion caps at one another, near the residence of Mathew Wall, Esq., across the river, when one of the guns in the hands of a son of Owen Sherden, Esq., went off (being loaded unknown to the boys) and discharged its contents in the face of a son of Mr. Wall, a boy about seven years old, inflicting injuries which will probably terminate fatally.

RETURNED.—Cyrus Smith, of the First Minnesota Regiment, returned to town last night. He was taken prisoner at the battle of Bull Run, remaining in Richmond several months, from whence he was taken to Alabama, and finally exchanged. He is under orders to report for duty at St. Louis, and will probably be assigned to his old regiment.—Anoka Republican.

CHANGES TO BE MADE.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

[Special to Times.]—Information is received from several of the States, showing that under the last call upwards of thirty thousand men have been enlisted: only two or three regiments, however, are ready, the majority being the nucleus of companies and regiments forming. It is now believed a sufficient force for present emergencies will soon be in the field.

It is ascertained that Gen. Ewell, with three rebel brigades, now occupies Gordonsville, a position, for not taking which last week, Gen. Hatch is severely censured.

Gen. Pope is still in the city, awaiting, by desire of the President, the arrival of Gen. Halleck.

Since Gen. Pope was placed in his present command military matters in Virginia and in the west have assumed a different aspect, and now important changes are again deemed necessary.

To-day an extraordinary meeting of the Cabinet was held, at which several gentlemen were present. Military affairs and military changes were discussed at length, but no result, it is said, was attained, by the President wishing to consult Gen. Halleck.

All Gen. Pope's arrangements for immediately taking the field in Virginia are made, and his army awaits his arrival with impatience. His recent stirring orders have inspired the soldiers with great enthusiasm.

It Opens the way to Weldon.

NEW YORK, July 22.

A Fort Monroe letter of the 20th says Beauregard is in command of 30,000 men on the south side of the James River, between City Point and Richmond, to cover the rebel forts.

A Newbern, N. C., letter of the 15th, says Hamilton, N. C., was captured on 9th by three of our gunboats—the Commoper, Ceres and Shawsheen—and a company of Hawkin's Zouaves, under Capt. Hammel on our side. It was defended by a regiment of rebel cavalry supported by a strong force of infantry and artillery and a rebel fort, which commanded the river. There were numerous masked batteries along the river, as, also, a rebel steamer filled with sharp shooters.

While the gunboats attacked and dispersed the men in the batteries the Zouaves advanced on the town, accompanied by detachments from the gunboats. The fort was taken by a charge, and also the town. The rebel steamer was captured by our gunboats, whose fire drove her occupants overboard. We only had one man killed but quite a number wounded. This victory is important, inasmuch as it clears up the way to Weldon.

It is impossible to estimate the loss to the enemy, who, it is said, left some forty or fifty dead on the field.

Baltimore City Council.

Release of Wounded Prisoners.

BALTIMORE, July 22.

The Mayor has called the Common Council together again to make provision for the bounty to volunteers, the secessionists of the second branch having hastily adjourned last Friday to defeat the resolution for this purpose passed by the first branch. Another opportunity will be afforded them to test their loyalty. The resolution provides an appropriation of $300,000 to the volunteers.

The following is from the Richmond Examiner of July 19th: Yesterday a train of ambulances conveyed to the transports below Drury's Bluff, on the James river, under a flag of truce, between 700 and 800 wounded Yankee prisoners, including a number of officers and surgeons, confined since their capture in the prison here. Several Federal surgeons volunteered to remain to take care of their wounded, of whom at least a thousand remain in prison.

French Commissioner to Mexico.

NEW YORK, July 22.

Rumor says Count De Saligny having been removed from his functions of Commissioner extraordinary of France to Mexico on account of his sympathies for the Almonte party. Count De Montholon, French Consul General at New York, is said to have been appointed by the French Government to fill his place.

Clearing Shoulder Straps out of the Hotels.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

[Special to Herald.]—Gen. Pope's recent order requiring all officers to rejoin their regiments without delay has had a visible effect in the hotels, saloons and other public resorts in the city to-day.

The Provost Guard has been diligent in hunting the strays without passes, and shoulder straps have become few and far between.

Pennsylvania Moving.

HARRISBURG July, 21.

The Governor has issued a stirring proclamation calling for volunteers for 21 regiments, and to fill up the ranks of the regiments now in the field, the former for nine months, and the latter for twelve months. The Governor does not call the Legislature together, but trusts to the citizens to contribute a fund to provide a bounty equal to the adjoining States.

Rampage of the Rearrangement boat Arkansas.

OFFICIAL DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, July 22.

The Navy Department to-day received the following:

CAIRO VIA CHICAGO, July 21.—The rebel gunboat Arkansas, armed with 12 rifled 68-pounders, came out of the Yazoo river on Thursday. She encountered first the Tyler, Carondelet and ram Lancaster. After a running fire of ten miles, the Carondelet closed with the rebel, and both vessels grounded fighting side by side.

The rebel being outside succeeded in getting off. The Tyler steamed ahead, maintaining a running fire until the fleet was reached. Our transports being in range, prevented an effective fire from our gunboats.

The Arkansas succeeded in getting to Vicksburg, under shelter of the batteries there, to appearances much injured.

The total Union loss is 27 killed and wounded. Among the latter are the engineer and pilot of the Tyler.

Commodore Farragut's whole fleet is below Vicksburg.

Slight damage was done to our vessels.

(Signed) (OFFICIAL) DEWITT,
Captain and Assistant Quartermaster.

Workmen are now engaged in arranging the necessary machinery for printing the recently authorized United States notes. On inquiry, it is ascertained that those below the denomination of five dollars will be issued in three weeks.

The Treasury Department is arranging the details for carrying out the new tariff act. In the operation, a general circular on the subject will be issued by the first of August.

ORDERS OF GEN. POPE.

Excluding Visitors Without Passes From His Lines.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF VIRGINIA,
WASHINGTON, July 21.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. NINE.

Hereafter no person will be allowed to visit Fredericksburg, Warrenton, or other places near the lines of this army without authority direct from these headquarters. Passes for this purpose will only be granted to persons presenting proof of their loyalty to the United States upon giving full and satisfactory explanation of the nature and importance of the business requiring the journey.

By command of Gen. Pope, Gen. Ruggles, Colonel Assistant Adjutant General and Chief of Staff.

The Overland Mail.

WASHINGTON, July 22.

Arrangements are to be made by which the overland mail will be assorted on the cars on the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad, thus preventing delay in the distribution at the St. Joseph Post Office or at any point west of Chicago.

Enthusiastic War Meeting at Detroit.

DETROIT, July 22.

An immense meeting was held this afternoon on Campus Martius, to aid enlistments under the recent call for troops. Stores and factories were generally closed throughout the city. Resolutions were passed requesting the City Council to pay a bounty of fifty dollars to each unmarried and one hundred dollars to each married man enlisting in a regiment to be raised by the city. Liberal private donations in addition were offered. The greatest unanimity prevailed.

Short Skirmish with Guerrillas near Memphis.

HUDSON, Mo., July 21.

Information has reached here that Col. McNeil, with a detachment of federal troops, had a fight with Porter's gang of guerrillas near Memphis, in which the rebels were badly whipped. Our loss was fifteen killed and thirty wounded and missing. Rebel loss is much greater, twenty-three being left dead on the field. Col. Stacy, a notorious marauder of that section, is among the killed. Col. McNeil is still in pursuit of Porter's band.

Skirmishing in Mississippi.

CAIRO, July 22.

Fifty-three men of the 3d Michigan cavalry were captured by the rebels near Boonville, Mississippi, Saturday.

Skirmishes occur almost daily in that vicinity.

SALE OF SCHOOL LANDS.

NOTICE is hereby given that in compliance with Section 46 of an act entitled "an act to establish the State Land Office, and for other purposes," approved March 10, 1862, appraisers have been appointed, and will appraise the school in the following counties, viz:

ANOKA,	McLEOD,
BLUE EARTH,	MOWER,
BROWN,	NICOLLET,
CARVER,	OLMSTED,
DAKOTA,	RAMSEY,

THE NAPOLEONIC PLAN.—Napoleon made France incur but little debt for his wars on a gigantic scale. France furnished the men, the enemy furnished the money, and the conquering armies lived off the countries into which they entered. From the indications in the President's message to Congress, in relation to the Confiscation bill, we judge that Old Abe is of the opinion that the time has come for his Administration to make war on the Napoleonic plan. That is the opinion of all loyal men, so let the blows fall!—Chicago Tribune.

THE CONDUCT OF THE WAR.

DEFENSE OF SECRETARY STANTON.

Speech of Senator Chandler, June 16.

Mr. Chandler, of Michigan, (Rep.,) referred to the fact that the committee on the conduct of the war had been engaged in investigation and had collected a great deal of evidence. Referring to the battle of Bull Run, he said there was a column of 20,000 under Patterson, ordered either to attack the enemy or else keep him engaged, so he could not reinforce at Manassas. Patterson telegraphed that Johnston had a superior force, and had received large reinforcements, when the fact was that Johnston received no reinforcements, and had less force than Patterson.

The reason of the loss of the battle of Bull Run was the delay from Thursday till Sunday, by reason of the quartermaster's supplies not coming; the delay of Sunday morning in consequence of Keyes' brigade not getting in position; the arrival of Johnston's reinforcements; the disaster in placing a battery a thousand yards in advance, and mistaking a rebel regiment for a battery support, and the failure to bring up the reserve at the critical time. But the losses of Bull Run were small, and the people rallied, till on the 10th of December the roll was 195,-235 men, with thirteen regiments not reported, mostly intended for Gen. Burnside, all under command of General McClellan.

He then referred to the battle of Ball's Bluff, reading the orders of Devins and Colonel Baker, showing that Baker supposed there was 40,000 men within twelve miles of him, and there was no evidence of rashness on the part of Colonel Baker, except exposing his own person. He quoted from the evidence of Major John Dix, who said that a very few men in reinforcement would have sufficed to drive off the enemy at Ball's Bluff, and this gallant officer offered to go if they would give him a company of one hundred men. The enemy's batteries were in a wood, and it was difficult to tell what their force was.

Recess till 7 o'clock.

Mr. Chandler resumed his remarks, and read from the testimony of the general officers, concerning the battle of Ball's Bluff, to the effect that reinforcements could have been easily sent by the way of Edward's Ferry, but McClellan and Smith were ordered to fall back at the very time Baker was sent across the river and no men were sent from Edward's Ferry, though the distance was short. General Stone swears there were never any mounted guns between Edward's Ferry and Ball's Bluff. The man who issued the order must answer to God for the slaughter of the brave men in that fight. After this wholesale murder, the whole army of the Potomac retired except from in front of Washington. He then read further testimony, showing that the Navy Department applied to the War Department for 4,000 men to hold Matthias Point and keep open the Potomac, commencing such application as early as June, till in October it was agreed to send men, and missiles were gathered there by the Navy Department, but the troops here were not sent by the appointed time, and the Navy Department could not find out the reason. The evidence further stated that the President assisted the Navy Department as much as he could with this plan, but General McClellan objected, because he feared the arrangements for landing could not be made. Thus, he said, the nation was disgraced for months by the blockade of the Potomac, and the Capital besieged by a force at no time half that of the United States. In December the nation began to clamor first for a movement, and not for a movement, and the Committee on the Conduct of the War urged the necessity of some movement, and the President and Cabinet were in favor of some forward movement, and they were assured by General McClellan that a move would be made very soon; that he never intended to go into winter quarters and he did not. Our brave men spent the winter in canvas tents. At last, in January, the President gave an order to forward, and those glorious events took place at Fort Donelson, Fort Henry, Newbern, &c., and no nothing, strategy seemed to give way to works, and the day of spades, pick-axes and shovels was over. On the 22d of February the army of the Potomac was ordered to move, but it was not ready. At last on the tenth of March it did move under the protest of the commander. On the 14th of March that army numbered 230,-000 men by muster roll. They marched on Manassas and the wooden guns of Centerville, and the enemy, less than 40,-000, quietly moved away. At a council of war eight Generals voted not to move on Manassas, but leave the enemy there and sneak around by Annapolis. Seven out of the eight of these Generals were appointed by the advice of General McClellan. But the Secretary of War overruled this, and made the army move on Manassas. Why the magnificent army of two hundred and thirty thousand did not march on Richmond no one knows, but at last McClellan divided the army, and sailed for Fortress Monroe. The Committee on the Conduct of the War summoned General Wadsworth, who swore that he had only 19,922 men left to defend Washington, and not a single gun mounted on wheels, and part of this force was new and undisciplined, and some nearly disorganized. He then read from the testimony of John Tucker, Assistant Secretary of War, who testified that prior to the 5th of April 120,000 men were sent down to McClellan; then Franklin's Division was sent, 12,000 more, and about that time 11,000 from Baltimore and Fortress Monroe, and last June Shield's Division, about 5,000, were sent, making a total of 158,000 men, sent to Gen. McClellan, prior to the engagements before Richmond. Mr. Tucker further testified that he did not know of any other force which could have been sent to Gen. McClellan. Thus, Mr. Chandler said, it is shown that 158,000 of the best troops that ever stood on God's footstool have been sent to Gen. McClellan, and yet the treasonable press of the country was howling against the Secretary of War, because he had not sent reinforcements to Gen. McClellan. He read further, from the testimony of Gen. Meigs, corroborating Mr. Tucker, and saying that he believed everything that McClellan asked for had been promptly sent to him by the Government. Mr. Chandler continued, saying that McClellan lost more men in the trenches, five to one, than ever fell from the enemy since the army went to Yorktown. At last, when a small fraction of the army whipped the enemy at Williamsburg, McClellan, at a long distance from the field of battle, wrote a dispatch to the Secretary of War that he should try to hold the enemy in check, but they were too fast. The road to Richmond was open, and all he had to do was to march out of the swamps and into Richmond; but he found the worst swamp he could, and sat right down in the middle of it, and went to work digging trenches, and tens of thousands of brave men were lost there by sickness. Then, after waiting, the battle of Fair Oaks was fought, and instead of following the enemy to Richmond, they found another swamp and commenced digging trenches, and waited till the enemy get all the reinforcements they could raise by impressment and for the army from Corinth to come, and then the rebels attacked us., throwing their whole force on our right wing, but instead of reinforcing there they ordered a retreat, and that is strategy. We lost 10,000 men there digging trenches and then left those trenches without firing a gun, and the army was ordered to advance on the gunboats instead of Richmond. He said he knew he should be denounced for making these disclosures, but he thought the country ought to know the facts, and only traitors and fools would denounce him.

The Great War Meeting in New York.

FULL ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND PRESENT.

IMMENSE ENTHUSIASM.

Notwithstanding the day was intensely hot, there was an immense gathering of the Union citizens of New York at Union Square, on Tuesday afternoon last. The different journals estimate the number present all the way from FIFTY TO ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND. Five stands were erected, and what in other times would have been called a monster meeting gathered around each, and the several presiding officers were Mayor Opdyke, Pelatiah Perit, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Hon. Hamilton Fish, Prof. Francis Leiber and Gen. Fremont. Among the Vice Presidents were a large number of the first citizens of New York, of all parties and Professions. Speeches were made by Mayor Opdyke, Pelatiah Perit, Hon. Hamilton Fish, Rev. Drs. Storrs and Vinton, Rufus W. Clark, Charles King, Horace Greeley, Judge Daly, and a host of others. All the speeches were vehemently in favor of upholding the Government in all its war measures, until the last armed rebel had surrendered. The enthusiasm among the masses was very strong, and every allusion to the President or the Generals in the field were vociferously cheered, as were all deprecatory allusions to foreign interference in our troubles.

The address adopted at the meeting is couched in patriotic terms, stating that the war is purely defensive of what we received from our fathers; for the Union and the constitution; that the rebellion is causeless; that the Republican form is our preference; that we are contending for the integrity of the country—its national existence, for Christian civilization, for our commerce, our arts, our schools; that we feel that all we have and can do, should be given to our country in its hour of trial, and if there be men among us not thus feeling that they should leave us; and we are willing to make every sacrifice to sustain the Government, only asking that the Government will use our resources quickly, vigorously and wisely. The nation is in no mood for trifling; it complains only of delays, vacillation and weakness, and wishes its strength to be so used that not a vestige of the revolt shall remain. The address declares that if any foreign government attempts to interfere in our affairs, it must be repelled with the firmness and spirit becoming the American people.

If there is anything about which we are agreed, it is our traditional policy that we will not interfere in the affairs of other nations, or allow other nations to interfere in ours To the maintenance of this policy the nation is unanimous.

It concludes as follows: "As the rebellion and the possibility of foreign intervention make it necessary that the whole loyal people should be banded together for the defense of all we hold most dear, we pledge ourselves to each other, to Congress and to the President, that with all resources we will support the government in the prosecution of the war with the utmost possible vigor, till the rebellion is overcome, and the leaders brought to merited punishment."

The resolutions are eleven in number.

The first reaffirms the resolutions adopted at a similar meeting in April, 1861.

Second—That the war is not waged for the overthrow of the loyal people, our only aim being to maintain the supremacy of the constitution over the whole country.

Third—That we unqualifiedly stand by and uphold the Union of the States and integrity of the country and the government, at every sacrifice of life and treasure.

Fourth—Repudiates the doctrine of allegiance to the States, and not to the United States.

Fifth—Urges the government to a vigorous prosecution of the war.

Sixth—Acknowledges but two parties, loyalists and traitors, fraternizing with the former and detesting the latter, and calls upon all, forgetting party names and distinctions, to rally for one undivided country, one flag, and one destiny.

Seventh—That all foreign interference will meet with unparalleled resistance, unconquerable force, and result more fatally to those intended to be thus aided, and only tending to strengthen the Republic.

Eighth—Compliments the skill and bravery of our army and navy; urges the government to strengthen them by all the means in its power, carefully provide for sick and wounded soldiers and their families, and pledging our rulers, our faith, our fortunes and our lives to crush the rebellion and restore the integrity of the Union, reduce every rebel to submission or drive them from the land.

Ninth—Approves the Administration's measures for the prosecution of the war; sanctions the last call for troops, and exhorts our countrymen to rally to our standard.

Tenth—Recommends a general armament and putting the sea coast in a complete state of defense.

Eleventh—Recommends the city government to offer a bounty of twenty-five dollars to all residents enlisting within thirty days in any regiment now in the field.

GOING TO THE INVENTOR.—The doctrine invented by some casuist in sympathy with Jeff. Davis, that rebels seeking the destruction of the Constitution by force of arms, are entitled to the rights and privileges which that Constitution guarantees to loyal men who are offering their lives to uphold it—this doctrine, absurd, ridiculous and mischievous, is now generally abandoned, save by foregone secessionists. It does not get out of the public mind a moment too soon. Five hundred millions of money and eighty thousand lives are only a part of the expense which its maintenance has inflicted upon the country.

Gen. Fremont's Reception and Speech at the Great War Meeting in New York.

[Report N. Y. Times.]

Major Gen. Fremont, who was attired in undress uniform, wearing upon his left breast a rosette and badge as the insignia of his office, advanced to the front of the platform, but vainly attempted to get a hearing. Cheer upon cheer, shout upon shout, peal upon peal from the cannon's mouth, and such universal acclamations of hearty welcome as we have rarely heard at any public meeting.

Finally the General seeing that there was no possibility of an immediate quiet, spoke as follows:

GEN. FREMONT'S SPEECH.

It is hardly necessary to say that this great assemblage has been called to consider the situation of the country, with the object of adopting such measures as will enable you to respond most immediately and effectively to the President's call for troops. [Applause.] But at the same time it is expected that the occasion will be used for such an expression of your feelings and opinions (applause) as will satisfy the country that the enthusiasm which characterized the meeting held here last year, has now become your settled resolved, (tremendous applause) and that it is not in the ideas or possibilities of the day that you will consent to a dismemberment of your territory. [Never, never—Hear, hear.]

The people realize that a decisive struggle, which will tax their utmost energies is now to come [That's so: hurrah for you.] And that upon the issue of this struggle depends the life of the nation. [Indeed, it does.] The South has resolved itself into a great army, to the support of which all its industrial resources are directed. You, too, will find it necessary to call into immediate activity your immense resources to meet the emergency. [Applause.] For a brief time now war must become the business of the nation. You must show your soldiers that they have not only your admiration for their courage and gratitude for the services they have rendered to you, but that they can rely upon your cordial and prompt support, and in the hour of need, that they, too, have their great reserves in the masses of the people. [Great applause.]

By this expression the Executive will feel assured of an intelligent, harmonious and effective co-operation, and foreign Governments will recognize that we intend to maintain our historic place in the family of nations, at the head of the great Democratic Idea, ["Hear, hear," and applause.] and that for the sake of Liberty we are resolved to maintain this Union. [Great applause and enthusiastic cheering, which lasted for several seconds.]

The men chosen to address you to-day, are among those in whom you are accustomed to place confidence, and whose opinions upon these subjects more or less reflect you own.

I proceed to introduce them. [Enthusiastic cheering.]

Gen. Mitchell's Case.

THE FACTS IN THE WHOLE CASE.

The whole story to which the Journal's distorted charges vaguely refer is this:

Some of Gen. Mitchell's troops were at one time driven out of the town of Athens, Alabama, by a superior force of rebels. A few of the inhabitants were charged with uniting with the rebels in the attack. Subsequently other troops, under Colonel Turchin, one of Gen. Mitchell's brigade commanders, retook the place. On taking possession, our soldiers, in revenge for the sympathy a few of the inhabitants had shown for the rebels, committed the grossest outrages. The town was literally sacked and pillaged. When added to the enormity of the case was the fact that Athens was really one of the staunchest Union towns in Alabama, and had actually held out for the Union, and against the Confederacy, till after Bull Run, and till there was danger of having troops quartered on them. They made a tough resistance. The infamy of giving up such a people to be robbed and plundered by Union troops is unquestioned.

But let it rest on the right head. Gen. Mitchell was not there; the outrage was in direct violation of his orders, and he used every possible energy alike to repair the injury and have its perpetrators brought to condign punishment. Of this the records of the War Office themselves furnish ample evidence. Since General Buell's arrival he has been attempting the same thing; and without being placed in a perilous and exposed condition, and without having, like Gen. Mitchell, a wary foe, of superior force, hovering along his unprecedentedly extended lines, and tasking every exertion to hold him at bay—without any of these other cares with which Gen. Mitchell was compelled to be absorbed, and Gen. Buell has hitherto found it impossible, as did his predecessor, to secure the evidence that might warrant the punishment of these offenders.

The matter, then, sums itself up thus: A great outrage was committed by a detachment of troops under the command of one of Gen. Mitchell's acting Brigadiers. Gen Mitchell did everything he could, as soon as he heard of it, to have the guilty parties punished. Gen. Buell is attempting the same thing, and they have met with about equal success. Gen. Mitchell is not blamed at the War Department for the affair—to blame him would, in fact, be as ridiculous as to blame Gov. Tod because occasional robberies in Cincinnati go unpunished—there are no charges against him, he stands as high in favor as ever, Pennsylvania Republican State Convention.

HARRISBURG, July 18.—The State Convention of the People's party and the Republicans have nominated Thomas E. Cochran for Auditor General and Surveyor General. Resolutions were adopted heartily sustaining the National and State Administrations. Colonel John W. Forney addressed the Convention, announcing that before he left Washington the President had told him that henceforth his policy should be as stringent as the most enthusiastic could desire, and that hereafter there would be no restriction in the employment of men to put down the rebellion.

Gen. Twiggs' Property Confiscated.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF, NEW ORLEANS, La., June 26, 1862.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 47.—All the property in New Orleans belonging to General D. E. Twigg, and of his minor son, the income of which he has received, and under the charge of his agent, H. W. Palfrey, Esq., consisting of real estate, bonds, notes, slaves, household furniture, &c., is hereby sequestered, to be held to await the action of the United States Government. By command of

BUSINESS LOCALS

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The net profits in two years amounts to $220,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. A. BARNES, Superintendent.

"There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $2,200,531. The premium income of three of the smaller companies was $851,576.65 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,000,000.

The state of things should be improved: the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHŒNIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order to carry one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined. Less than eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all those companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our Pioneer local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wainwright, Vice President, and Joan McGee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME, for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of the State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The statement of the HOME, on the first of January last summary, up to $1,521,288.05, against an actual liability of only $53,650.43; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,454.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $910,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,715,530, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $270,650. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $10,745,148, taking $220,993 premium, and paid losses $355,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $100,644 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kin

THE CITY.

GREEN CORN has been in market for several days.

FREDERICK LONG, of Company B, Second Minnesota regiment, died at the general hospital at Corinth, July 6th.

A CHANGE IN NAME.—The Blue Earth City News has changed its name to the better one of Southwest Minnesotian.

THE harvest has already commenced in the southern part of the State. It will commence in this neighborhood about the first of the week.

ANOTHER STONE BLOCK.—Messrs. Culver & Farrington have commenced the erection of a couple of stores, three stories in height, on Third street, near the head of Hill street.

POSTPONEMENT.—The large sale of unclaimed express packages, which was to have taken place yesterday, is postponed till Thursday (to-morrow.) The sale will take place at the auction rooms of R. & J. M. Warner.

THE new issue of city scrip, in denominations of twenty-five and fifty cents, were in circulation yesterday. The smaller denominations will be out in a day or two. Then good bye dimes and picayunes, for there will not be silver enough in circulation hereafter to fill teeth with.

THE RED RIVER COUNTRY.—The amount of travel and emigration to this country is shown by the statement of John F. Hanna, Esq., who, in a trip from Burlington, on the Red River, to St. Cloud, during the early part of the present month, passed on the road two hundred and seventy-four teams.

THE Methodist Sunday School at St. Anthony will join in a Picnic with the Jackson Street School of St. Paul, at the University Grove in St. Anthony, next Thursday, at nine o'clock.

The School will meet at the Church at nine o'clock, and march to the grove.

A NEW PHYSICIAN AT THE FALLS.—We publish the card of Dr. Ward, who has located at Minneapolis. We congratulate those who bear aches and ills at the Falls that while they have lost during the past year such excellent physicians as Drs. Ames, Murphy, Dibo, Boutillier, Butler and Anderson, that they gain a citizen and practician of so much skill and promise.

A GOOD CHANCE TO IMPROVE THE UPPER LEVEE.—The loose dirt and rock caused by the necessary excavation for the construction of the new block being erected at the head of Hill street, might easily, if proper slides or troughs were fixed up, be emptied from the carts so as to drop down on the Upper Levee at the very point where it is wanted, and at very small expense. We are surprised that some one connected with this work does not put in a proposition to the city for the filling aforesaid.

COMPARATIVE PROFIT OF WOOL GROWING AND WHEAT.—The Statesman, Faribault, says: "Patrick Healy, Esq., residing a few miles from Morristown, in this county, brought his clipping of wool to this place a few days ago, and sold it to C. W. Brackett, Esq., realizing for the fleece of 200 sheep the snug little sum of $325. A few days afterwards Mr. Healy called at our office on his return from Hastings, where he had been with some three loads of wheat, and in conversation stated that it had cost him more to raise the wheat, which he had just sold for something like $50, than it did to grow the wool, for which he had received $325."

THE MAGICAL MYSTICAN.—Robert Heller, the extraordinary illusionist and incomparable pianist, gave his parting soiree last night to a large and delighted audience. We understand, however, that there is a general request for another exhibition upon his return from Minneapolis and St. Anthony, which paices he visits, the former this and to-night evenings, and the latter on Friday. Like Oliver, the public is asking for "more"—indeed, there is no community that can appreciate a good thing better than those of St. Paul, and we hope that Heller will comply with the general expressed wish. In the mean time our friends above may look for something more recherche than has yet visited them.

RIVER ITEMS.—The arrivals since our last report are, the Sucker State, Milwaukee, Northern Belle, Clara Hine, Antelope and Ariel.

The departures are, the Sucker State, McLellan, Itasca, Clara Hine and Antelope.

The Sucker State brought up another lot of excursionists from St. Louis and vicinity, and took down a number of those who came up last week.

The Ariel brought down a load of sacks from LeSueur.

The Milwaukee, Captain Gabbett, is the down packet for Dunleith at eight o'clock this morning.

The popular low-water packet Northern Belle, Captain Laughton, Clark Head, is the down boat for La Crosse.

POLICE ITEMS.—Martin Flaherty got into a difficulty with a fellow deck-hand on one of the boats, by the name of Shields. The quarrel came to blows, and Shields got decidedly the worst of it. Officer Patterson came along and arrested Flaherty, and his Honor fined him ten dollars and costs, so Flaherty got the worst of that. He was sent to jail in default of payment.

Wm. Hill enlisted in the 6th Regiment, got his bounty and a parole for ten days to settle his affairs. Now, so much money all at once, was a little too much for William's head—it elevated him. He became quarrelsome, and was put out of a saloon very much to his chagrin. He swore he would have revenge, and went and procured a pistol, came back to the saloon and fired it through the window at the crowd. One of the buckshot took effect in the forehead of a colored man by the name of Moss, glancing off, completely flattening it; another shot went through Moss' hat, and hit another colored man in the neck. Hill was arrested and bound over in the sum of $500 to appear at the next session of the Court. We fear that this enterprise on the part of William will prevent his fulfilling his engagement with Uncle Sam. If, however, the State could be induced to relinquish his prospective services and allow him to keep faith with Uncle Sam, both William and the public would rejoice.

RAILROAD EXCURSION TO ST. ANTHONY AND PIC-NIC OF SABBATH SCHOOL OF THE JACKSON STREET M. E. CHURCH.—The cars will leave the depot, near the river, at a quarter before ten, A. M., on Thursday, July 24th, and return about five P. M. Fare for the round trip fifty cents—children half price. Basket picnic on the University grounds at St. Anthony, a beautiful grove in sight of the Falls. Accommodations will be provided in the cars for all citizens and strangers who may wish to avail themselvet of a pleasant ride through most beautiful grain farms highly improved. Accommodations will be prepared for 300 or 400 passengers. There will be a stand where refreshments can be had on the grounds. As the price of tickets has been fixed so low, and the profits, if any, to be applied to the benefit of the school, it is hoped that all that can, will go. It is expected that the St. Anthony and Minneapolis schools will be on the ground, where strangers can see the effects of the climate of Minnesota.

Tickets can be had at the Pioneer office, and at Parker Paine's bank, Third street.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.—A meeting of the City Council was called by the Mayor yesterday morning in consequence of a request from Dana White, Esq., that the McClellan Guards—an organization with which he is connected—be included among the designated companies to receive the benefits of the liberal bounty offered by the city at its last meeting. The Mayor also called the attention of the Council to the proper construction to be placed on the word "resident," as contained in the resolution adopted by the Council.

After some discussion, the resolution offering bounties to residents of the county of Ramsey, was reconsidered.

The resolution was then amended so as to meet the views suggested by the Mayor and members of the Council, and passed. As amended it reads as follows:

Resolved, That the Mayor of the city is hereby authorized to offer, in addition to the bounties offered by Government, a sum of $20 to any person who shall have resided within the city of St. Paul, or the county of Ramsey, for the period of ten days to the number of seventy-five, who shall, after the passage of this resolution, and before the 15th day of August next, volunteer in either of the four companies now being raised in the city of St. Paul, and called "Minnesota Grenadiers," "Sigel Guards," "Union Guards," and "McClellan Guards," or in any other company or companies to be raised within the city of St. Paul or county of Ramsey, by a citizen or citizens of said county for the Sixth Regiment of Minnesota Volunteers.

GRAND PRIZE EXHIBITION THIS EVENING AT INGERSOLL'S HALL.—Prizes to be awarded by Messrs. Prince, Mattocks and Roberts for the best readings and recitations—a choice variety of pieces from the best poets will be presented. The "Evening Dream," by the late English author, Dobell, will be read by Mr. Hazeltine, "Stephen's Dream or the Encounter with the Devil," recited by Mr. Holcombe. Prof. Belding will present some of his best pieces. A large number of boys and girls will contend for prizes. Give them a full house. Commence at half past eight o'clock. Admission 25 cents—children 10 cents. Bring change for less than 50 cents.

RECRUITING FOR THE FIFTH REGIMENT. A recruiting party, consisting of Lieutenant Morehouse, of Company H, Lieutenant Van Slyke, of Company G, Sergeant Bardwell, of Company A, Sergeant Barnfelt, of Company E, Sergeant Bishop, of Company F, and Private French, of Company I, from the Fifth regiment, arrived in St. Paul yesterday morning, for the purpose of recruiting for the regiment. They left the regiment near Corinth four or five days ago in good condition.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, (ST. PAUL, MINN., July 21, 1862.)

GENERAL ORDERS NO. EIGHTEEN.

Having been informed, that some of the town and city assessors have this year neglected to make out the annual militia list, their attention is called to Sec. 8, Chap. 120, of the Compiled Statutes making it the duty of the township assessors of the several townships, and the assessors of the several wards of the several cities to prepare at the time of assessing taxable property a list of all persons liable to do militia duty, and to place it in the auditors office of the proper county.

Those assessors who may not have complied with said section, will do so at once, as in the progress of the present war, and before the militia lists of 1863 are made out, the state may possibly be called upon by the President to furnish by draft a force of militia, and as the State must in such a contingency possess the requisite data upon which a draft could alone be based.

☞Papers throughout the State insert once and charge to State.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

OSCAR MALMROS,
Adjutant General.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY.

One door East of Pascalis's Bookstore, on Third Street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Take the LOCK STITCH, KNOT STITCH or CHAIN STITCH, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to run the work carry either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, which, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

Prices No. 1, $45.00, No. 2, $47.50, No. 3, $50.00, No. 4, $72.00, No. 5, $75.00, No. 6, $85.00, No. 7, Cabinet opener, $90.00, No. 7 Cabinet cased, $95.00, Mahogany $97.00. Hemmers and all necessary tools included in the above prices.

On hand different kinds of lower priced Machines. Call and see the "Florence Machines."

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE OHIO, IN CAMP, NEAR FLORENCE, ALA., June 24, 1862.

There are 14,000 officers and soldiers absent from their duty with the various Divisions of this army. Some of them have gone off without any authority; others with the permission of officers not authorized to grant it. In general, no reason is given as the cause of absence, but in very many cases the cause has notoriously ceased to exist, and men remain away, drawing the same pay as those gallant soldiers who are faithfully performing their duty. To correct this abuse it is ordered—

1. All officers and soldiers who are absent without direct authority from these Headquarters, and for which has not transpired, will, on or before the 10th of July, proximo, join their companies or regiments wherever they may be. If ignorant of their locality, they will report to the commanding officer at Louisville or Nashville, by whom they will be directed to their regiments, or put on such light duty as they may be able to perform, if they are not entirely fit for active service; and these will be promptly reported to their regimental commanders by the officer so assigning them.

The names of those who fail to join as above required, will be disposed of as follows:

2. If any absent officer or soldier, in consequence of sickness or wounds, is absolutely unable to report for duty as above required, he will forward by mail to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville, Tennessee" a Certificate of Disability, according to the following form:

CERTIFICATE OF DISABILITY.

I declare on oath that I have carefully examined.....of Captain.....Company, Colonel.....Regiment of .....Volunteers, now at this place and under treatment by me, and find him incapable of performing the duties of a soldier for the following reasons; (Here state all the facts known concerning the disease or wound, or cause of disability; the time, place, manner, and all the circumstances under which the injury occurred or disease originated; the duty or situation of the officer or soldier at the time the injury was received or disease contracted; and whatever facts may affect a judgment as to the cause, immediate or remote, of the disability, and the circumstances attending it.)

Place: (Signed).

Date: Surgeon [or Physician.]

Sworn and subscribed to before

This certificate must be subscribed and sworn to by a Surgeon or private Physician in good standing, and known as such by the magistrate or other officer by whom the oath is administered; and on it a discharge will be ordered from these Headquarters, or the case otherwise disposed of according to the circumstances.

3. The death of any officer or soldier which has occurred since the 1st of January last, while he was absent from his regiment or company, and which has been reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital in which the death occurred, or by the friends of the deceased if not in Hospital, will be immediately reported by the Surgeon of the Hospital, or by the address of friends, to "The Assistant Adjutant General, District of the Ohio, Nashville," setting forth the date of decease and other material circumstances.

4. All absent officers and soldiers who do not join their companies and regiments, or are not satisfactorily accounted for as above by the 10th of July next, will be reported on their muster-roll as deserters, dating from the time they may have been absent without authority.

By Act of Congress every deserter forfeits all claim on the Government for pay and allowances, besides being liable to arrest and trial by Court Martial. Any person who apprehends and returns a deserter to the commanding officer of a military post is entitled to five dollars.

A SMALL EMIGRATION DOCUMENT.

A circular by the Commissioner of Statistics, entitled "Free Homes in Minnesota," and which condenses a great many leading facts about Minnesota in the compass of a page of letter paper, is in type at this office, and will be printed without charge for any one who will supply the paper. NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—DEFAULT has been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty three dollars, which amount is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon that certain mortgage executed, acknowledged and delivered by John Wesley Bond and Johanna A. B. Bond, his wife, of Ramsey county, Territo ry of Minnesota, to Lowman Hawes, of Bloomington, (late of Madison), State of Indiana, and which bears date August twentieth, (20th) A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, (1857), and was given to secure the payment of six hundred and twenty-four dollars and twenty-five cents ($624.25), in one year from the date thereof, and interest thereon, and was duly recorded at three and a half (3½) of the clock, in the afternoon on the twenty-seventh (27th) day of August, in said year (1857), as a mortgage, in Book "I" of mortgages, pages three hundred and three (303) and three hundred and four (304), in the Registry of Deeds of said Ramsey county.

And the said Lowman Hawes, mortgagee, has duly paid the taxes upon the land therein described as lying in the said county of Ramsey, for for the years 1858, 1859, 1860 and 1861, and all interest and charges thereon, and has the receipt of the treasurer of the said county of Ramsey therefor, and the amount so paid and the interest thereon, at the date of this notice, is twenty-eight and fifty-two one-hundredth dollars, $28.52) and claims an additional lien on the said land in the county of Ramsey, for the same; and no proceedings at law or in equity have been had to collect the said mortgage debt or any part of the same.

And whereas, said mortgagee, Lowman Hawes, deceased and died intestate on the eleventh (11th) day of February, A. D. 1861, and upon due application, Mary Hawes, of Madison, in the county of Jefferson, State of Indiana, was on the eleventh (11th) day of April, A. D. 1861, duly appointed administratrix of the estate, &c., of said deceased, by the Court of Common Pleas, being also a Court of Probate, of said county of Jefferson, and letters of administration have been duly issued to her out of said Court, as administratrix of said estate; and an authenticated copy of the said letters of administration and appointment are now on file in the Probate Court in and for the county of Ramsey, in the State of Minnesota.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that under and pursuant to a power of sale, in said mortgage contained, authorizing and empowering the said mortgagee, Lowman Hawes, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, to make sale of the premises therein described upon default being made in the conditions of the said mortgage, and under and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage, as follows, to wit: the south half (½) of the southeast quarter (¼) of section thirty-one (31) in township thirty (30) north of range twenty-three (23) west, lying and being in the county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota; also the southeast quarter (¼) of section two (2), in township thirty-two (32) north, of range twenty-one (21) west, lying and being in the county of Washington and State of Minnesota, with the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances belonging, or in anywise appertaining to the said lands, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder or bidders, for cash, by the Sheriff of said county of Ramsey, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of St. Paul, in said county, at ten (10) of the clock in the forenoon, on Saturday, the sixteenth (16th) day of August, A. D. 1862, to pay said debt, taxes and interest and costs allowed by law.

Dated Saint Paul, Minn., July 5th, 1862.
